ELK BOTHER FARMERS.

Uncle Sam Asked to Take Back His Montana White Elephants.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, May 27.—State Game Warden L. H. Darwin has asked the United States government to take back the herd of Montana elk liberated near Startup, Snohomish county, the animals having become a nuisance because of their depredations on farms. The Federal authorities will ship the Startup herd to Oregon if they can be corraled. The city of Seattle is offering elk from the city parks free to members of the Order of Elks who will agree to place them in eastern zoological gardens.

GEORGIA JAY SCORES BILLY SUNDAY'S VOCALIST.

The Young Woman Asks a Chicago Jury to Award Her Fifty Thousand Dollars and She Enumerates With Great Detail Why Homer Rodeheaver Should Pay.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 27.—Homer Rodeheaver squirmed. He blew fiercely upon his knuckles. He closed his eyes. He bit his lips and then he heaved an immense sigh and made a face. On the witness stand twenty feet away from him sat the "Girl of His Dreams," his "soul mate," his adorable "wonder woman," telling an interested jury and a breathless room full of spectators all about it. Ouch!

The girl was Miss Georgia Jay.

Not a single sigh or a single vow of undying affection did his "Wonder Woman" leave untold. Beginning with love's young hallucination at the time of its first kiss and first vow, she carried her story to love's heartbroken awakening. It was terrible for Homer Rodeheaver, who is not an ordinary young man, but a vocal evangelist associated with "Billy" Sunday.

Miss Jay wept. Homer fidgeted. And the jury pondered visibly, for Miss Jay is not telling the story for her health, but for $50,000, which she wants as heart balm.

BIG DEFICIT IN SIGHT.

Sherman Puts It at Forty Millions.

More Wilson Ridiculosities Exposed by the Lincolnian Senator of Illinois.

But the Voters Will Return to Prosperity as Soon as the Law Allows.

SENATOR SHERMAN'S POLITICAL SPIKES.

President Wilson has gorged Congress and the country with legislation; Congress should adjourn and go home.

The Democrats show more aptitude to spend money than they do ability to provide means of revenue.

Democrats are in more danger of desertions to the Socialists than are Republicans to the Progressive party.

The salvation of the Republican party is in the hands of the party; I believe the rank and file is coming back.

The Progressive party leaders will not be able to guide the big mass of voters who want to return to prosperity.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 27.—Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman brought to Chicago some political epigrams that sound like the sage of McDonough county, who asserts he has become informed as to the ways of Washington life. The Senator took a rather pessimistic view of things when he endeavored to review some of the deeds of the Democracy under this administration.

He was at the Union League Club and tonight left for Springfield and thence to Clay county to do some politics on Friday.

"There is ruthless extravagance down at Washington," said the man who looks like Lincoln. "Why, they are appropriating money to wipe out the prairie dogs. Who ever heard of such a thing?

"I tell you by July 1, the deficit between money expended and revenue provided will be over $40,000,000. That is some extravagance.

"Then some day they will wake up in the Postoffice Department. It is running at a loss and the rural free delivery is going to suffer. The parcel post is the drain and when the balance is struck it will be seen the railroads are bearing the burden."

There was a chuckle from the sage of McDonough county when he was asked about the future of political parties.

"Why, there is more danger of the Democrats losing to the Socialist party than of Republicans going to the Progressives," said the Senator. "The industrial depression and the demand that labor be exempt from the Sherman anti-trust law are elements entering into this. We are working on the old business orders taken before the depression set in and the worst is coming, I tell you. We shall feel it later on.

"The Republican leaders may make some breaks and hurt the party somewhat, but I do not believe the Progressive party leaders are going to have much influence on the mass of voters. It is the big mass of voters who are now ready to cry. 'Let's have the Republican party and prosperity.' That feeling is about. We have been legislated to death and the business world is crying 'enough.'"

Senator Sherman surprised political talent when he said it would be impossible for him to be at the "love feast" in Bloomington on Friday, celebrating the fifty-eighth anniversary of Lincoln's lost speech.

"That was a speech by Lincoln that was never reported and the only record is from memory," said the Senator. "In it Lincoln said: 'We will not secede and you shan't secede.'"

GREAT CONVENTION OF MISSOURI G.O.P.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 27.—The State convention of the Republican party today held out open arms to the Progressives of Missouri to return to the fold of Republicanism; it ratified the National Committee's proposal of a reduction of the representation of the Southern States at the national convention, and denounced the present national administration as one with a "vacillating, un-American and dissatrous" policy.

James E. Watson of Indiana, Republican "whip" of the National House of Representatives under the Roosevelt administration, made the principal address of the day and at its height was overcome by heat. For half an hour three physicians were INTENSE HEAT AND HUMIDITY.

TEMPERATURES COME CLOSE TO BREAKING THE RECORD.

An Added Enervating Humidity Makes Things Doubly Unpleasant in the Atlantic States, the Ohio and the Middle Mississippi Valleys. Richmond Hits Ninety-six.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A wave of intense, midsummer heat, accompanied by enervating humidity settling over the Atlantic States, and the Ohio and Middle Mississippi Valleys brought temperatures today near record-breaking points. Richmond, Va., with a temperature of 96 deg., was the only place where the mercury established a new record.

In Washington the inclosed thermometers at the elevated Weather Bureau registered 95 deg., while those on the street marked 100, the official figure within one degree of the record for the warmest May day since 1870.

In many cities throughout the East the temperatures reached a point only one degree lower than that in Washington. New York, Boston and Philadelphia all sweltered with the official thermometers showing 94 deg. In the West, St. Louis, Evansville and Terre Haute had temperatures of 92 deg.

Slightly cooler weather was promised the East during the remainder of the week by the bureau experts tonight, but the indications are that no real relief will come until Friday, when a disturbance sweeping down from the Northwest may bring general thunder showers.

EARTHQUAKE AT COLON SHAKES UP ISTHMUS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

COLON, May 27.—A severe earthquake shock lasting more than thirty seconds occurred tonight. It was much stronger than any of the seismic disturbances felt in the canal zone last October.

No damage was done locally, so far as reported. The officials at Gatun describe the shock as very strong, but had no knowledge up to a late hour of any damage to the canal.

CANAL NOT DAMAGED.

PANAMA, May 27.—A severe earthquake shock was felt here about 10:25 o'clock tonight. The disturbance lasted nearly half a minute. Reports from Gatun, Miraflores and Pedro Miguel indicated that no damage had been done to the locks there.

The seismograph record indicated that the point of origin was within 100 miles to the southwest, the motion going from southwest to northeast and very intense. It was more vertical than lateral.

The earthquake caused much excitement along the canal, as the shock was of longer duration than that in October.

YOUNG WOMAN'S DARING, THE TALK OF VERA CRUZ.

Partly to See Her Fiance and Partly to Carry Messages for Gen. Funston, Miss Woods Has Just Returned from a Trip to Mexico City, Where She Says She Was Treated With Courtesy.

BY GEORGE ADDISON HUGHES.

[BY MEXICAN CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VERA CRUZ, May 27.—When the history of the American expedition to Vera Cruz has been written, one little American girl's name will stand boldly by the side of that of Fletcher and other heroes crowned here. The name will be that of Miss Elizabeth Woods, a United States government employee who returned here today after successfully performing a perilous secret mission to Mexico City. She is employed in the postoffice here. Interwoven in the story of the girl's daring is a touch of romance that is remarkably different from anything outside of fiction, for Miss Woods is the fiancee of Gen. Adolfo Jiminez Castro, general of Huerta's army.

The Vera Cruz public knows of her mission. She carried important government papers to Federal authorities at the capital and made arrangements to re-establish mail service between Mexico City and Vera Cruz. Miss Woods attended the Academy of Our Lady, Chicago, and was graduated from the High School of Mexico City. She has two sisters at Ramona Convent, Pasadena. Miss Woods is a tactful little diplomat and ostensibly went to Mexico City Saturday to see her fiance, but she carried United States government and verbal messages of more importance than John Lind delivered. Miss Woods volunteered for the service and signed papers for Gen. Funston, relieving the United States government of full responsibility.

She will not speak of the experiences on the four-day trip. She had this to say to me when I met her today at Tembladoras in the Federal lines, under the refugee train's flag of truce:

"I was twenty-seven hours in the

RUMOR DAY IN MEXICO.

Reports Say Huerta Is Yielding.

State Department Hears That a Commission May Solve the Problem.

Clearance Papers Refused at Vera Cruz, Captain Liable to a Fine.

[BY MEXICAN CABLE AND A. P.]

VERA CRUZ, May 27.—Reports reaching here today through private sources say President Huerta has committed himself to turn over the government to a commission composed of members of the various factions in the republic. He is also said to have agreed to relinquish power to any successor, which such a commission might select. The report further says that Huerta's determination has already been communicated to the Mexican delegates and probably directly to the Washington government.

VERA CRUZ, May 27.—The German steamer Bavaria has been held here upon her arrival without manifest at Brig.-Gen. Funston's order. The Bavaria recently landed a large quantity of ammunition on Mexican soil.

It is estimated that the Bavaria put ashore 1,500,000 rounds of ammunition. The cargo was destined for Vera Cruz, but was diverted to Puerto Mexico. The steamer reached here Sunday. The captain could not produce a manifest, declaring to the captain of the port that it had been taken away from him by the American authorities. Later he admitted landing the cargo, which included also 3000 rolls of barbed wire.

Gen. Funston understands that the ammunition and wire reached Cordoba yesterday by way of Tierra Blanca.

The Hamburg American steamer Bavaria on May 8 was reported to be on her way to Mexico with a shipment of arms. Later it was understood that the war supplies were to be returned to Germany. The Bavaria arrived at Havana on May 17 and sailed two days later for Progreso.

The captain of the Bavaria is liable to a fine under the Mexican laws, which are being administered by the Collector of the Port, Capt. Herman O. Stickney. The shipment of arms, consigned for Vera Cruz, but landed at Puerto Mexico, constitutes a violation of the laws and the absence of a manifest a second violation.

Brig.-Gen. Funston said the question of fines was entirely in Capt. Stickney's hands, but the collector said today that he had not actually levied as yet.

CLEARANCE REFUSED.

The Bavaria is held here only because clearance will be refused until the matter of fines is adjusted. The customs officials assert that so far as they know, the arms shipment on the Ypiranga, of the same line, which precipitated the seizure of Vera Cruz by the American forces, was still aboard when that vessel left here for Puerto Mexico two days ago. They assume there is no possibility that the 250 machine guns, 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition and other war material aboard the Ypiranga, would be landed, as the liner is under charter of the German government at the present time and was ordered to Puerto Mexico by the German Minister to pick up German refugees.

Rumors have been current that some of the war materials for which Huerta had contracted in Germany had been filtering through by way of Puerto Mexico. Virtually every German liner touching at the gulf ports has carried arms or ammunition shipped under that contract. The Bavaria incident is the first one where positive information of the landing of these supplies has been received, although there have been intimations here that the army or navy has knowledge of other landings or attempted landings.

SUPPLIES ARE NEEDED.

Outside of army circles the Americans here are inclined to believe the Huerta officials desire the Bavaria war supplies for strengthening their northern lines against the Constitutionalists. Gen. Funston admitted that he had no information as to what became of the shipment after it reached Cordoba, and it is generally assumed that it is already on the way to Mexico City, from which point it probably will be taken to Federal strongholds, where ammunition is badly needed.

The barbed wire will be of immense value to the small garrisons along the railway from the capital, which are protecting the Federal lines of communication.

There is no evidence to indicate that the Federals around Vera Cruz are making any elaborate preparations. Rumors have been current of the building of concrete breastworks and field gun stations in the mountains along the Mexican Railway, but AMMUNITION FOR HUERTA.

But What He's Going to Do He Fails to State.

The A.B.C. Diplomacy Class Is Still Hard at It.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Ammunition consigned to the Huerta government in Mexico, which had been kept in the hold of the German steamer Ypiranga since the American occupation of Vera Cruz, was reported to have been landed today at Puerto Mexico.

Consul Canada at Vera Cruz cabled this information to the State Department and it also was reported from other sources to the War Department that arms consigned to Huerta had been landed at Puerto Mexico from the German steamer Bavaria. Both steamers belong to the Hamburg American line.

No effort to prevent the delivery of the ammunition consignments was made by officials of the United States, Puerto Mexico being an open port and the United States having agreed to a suspension of hostilities during the mediation of the Mexican imbroglio at Niagara Falls.

It was made plain at the State Department that the only possible way for the United States to have prevented the shipment of arms through Puerto Mexico would have been to seize the customhouse, as was done at Vera Cruz when the Ypiranga was about to land her cargo at that port. This would have been an open violation of the suspension of hostilities and would have disrupted mediation.

The reported delivery of these cargoes aroused considerable speculation in view of the fact that arms on board the Hamburg-American ship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, consigned to Huerta through Puerto Mexico several weeks ago, were turned back on orders of officials of the steamship company at Havana. At that time the Bavaria was reported to be en route with her cargo, and the announcement was made from the same source that the ammunition would not be landed upon orders of the steamship company.

Why a different disposition of the cargoes at this time was made, government officials here did not appear to understand, but the suggestion was made that the arms on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie originated from an American source and that delivery was prevented by order of the American shippers through steamship company officials.

Robert Lansing, counsellor of the State Department, made public the reports concerning the delivery of the ammunition to Huerta, Secretary Bryan being absent at the time the information reached Washington. When Mr. Bryan returned to the department he was at once informed of the messages.

"What," he said, evidencing some surprise. "Already landed the arms?"

He declined to make further comment on the dispatches.

MEDIATION DEVELOPMENTS.

Mediation developments at Niagara Falls were reported to President Wilson early in the day and assurances were reiterated that no serious obstacles had yet been encountered.

During the day John Lind and C. A. Douglas, an attorney representing the Mexican Constitutionalists, called upon Secretary Bryan to discuss negotiations which might lead to representation by agents of Gen. Carranza at the peace conference.

Other representatives of the Constitutionalists here stated that no word had come from Carranza indicating any change in his determination to participate in any negotiations involving the internal affairs of Mexico.

Rumors and reports from diplomatic agencies from Mexico City that Huerta was making preparations to leave Mexico City continued to reach Washington. One report said that Huerta was trying to make arrangements to leave provided he could do so with dignity.

Late today Rear-Admiral Howard, in charge of the American fleet in Mexican Pacific waters, reported that Constitutionalist forces in the Southwestern Mexican States were "threatening Acapulco." Admiral Howard's report also stated that the German cruiser Nuernberg had departed from Mazatlan for Acapulco. The object of the Nuernberg's move was believed here to be the protection of the German interests at Acapulco and the vicinity in case they are molested by the contending forces.

VANQUISHED PLAY FOR THE VICTORS.

FEDERAL BAND AT THE HEAD OF REBEL TROOPS.

Fortunes of War Will Probably Prevail on the Huerta Soldiers to Join the Constitutionalist Cause if for No Other Reason Than to Get Something to Eat and Wear.

TORREON (Mex.) May 27.—The military band of the vanquished played for the victors of the battle of Paredon, when a part of the Zaragoza brigade returned to camp here last night from the campaign against Saltillo. At the heels of the Constitutionalist soldiers scuffed several hundred Federal soldiers, and the Federal band captured in the attack on the Federal troop trains at Zeruche. They will be given the choice of joining the Constitutionalist army or of being set free. As they have no means of finding their comrades, far to the south, and no way of getting food and clothes, they probably will join the revolutionary army. Their appearance, ragged and seemingly ill-fed, was in marked contrast with that of Villa's troops.

Troops continue to pour into Torreon from the country north of Saltillo. As soon as possible after they arrive they are sent south again to sweep up the remnants of the Huerta forces. They are being sent over the old Mexican Central Railroad line which, it was said, is in good condition, and which offered the best and quickest means of transporting troops to the country through which the Constitutionalists must pass on their way to the Mexican capital.

The troops are being sent toward Zacatecas, where a force of Federals is opposing the men commanded by Gen. Panfilo Natera. Rumors have arrived here that the Federals evacuated Zacatecas but troops continued to be sent where they would be available to move against the Zacatecas State capital. A foreign resident who recently returned here from Zacatecas city declared there were 9000 Federal troops in that town.

Saltillo probably will retain only a force sufficient to garrison it. At San Luis Potosi it is believed that the force now besieging the town under Gen. Carrera Torres is sufficient to handle the situation and take the city.

YPIRANGA CARGO HAS BEEN LANDED.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Rear-Admiral Badger cabled the Navy Department from Vera Cruz tonight that the steamship Ypiranga discharged her cargo at Puerto Mexico yesterday afternoon. The dispatch added: "No specific information regarding character of cargo discharged, but every indication Ypiranga landed her entire cargo of war material."

SHOW UNEXPECTED STRENGTH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Considerable surprise was manifested here when it became known the Constitutionalists had interrupted railroad and telegraphic communication between Mexico City and Guadalajara for several hours Tuesday. It was not believed that the Constitutionalists in that region of the country had sufficient strength to molest conditions in that territory. It was pointed out that the mineral and other resources in the vicinity of Guadalajara were extremely rich and alluring inducements to the revolutionists.

Advices to the Navy Department stated that the American Smith, who shot several Mexican brigands in self-defense as they were attacking his place near Tolana on the southwest coast of Mexico, still is under arrest there by local authorities, and must undergo a trial. He was reported to be well treated, however. His family, it was said, would soon leave Mexico for Guatemala.

These facts were developed by the visit to Arista of the United States cruiser Albany, which yesterday returned to Salina Cruz and reported to the Navy Department through Rear-Admiral Badger. The Albany had great difficulty getting in touch with Arista, because of the heavy surf, and one of her boats was capsized. The boat's crew and officers, after their wetting in the surf, proceeded inland to Tolina and communicated directly with Smith, and then made their way by train to Salina Cruz, where they joined their ship.

REBELS SEIZE FIVE COAL MINES.

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) May 27.—Acting on what they said were orders from Gen. Carranza, Constitutionalist officials confiscated five coal mines near Sabinas, Mex., today. The mines are owned by French and American capitalists, and are very extensive. At Constitutionalist headquarters at Piedras Negras it was stated that the mines would be operated as public properties.

SHIP GRAZES ICEBERG.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 27.—Groping her way through the fog and icebergs on the night of May 23, in nearly the same spot where the Titanic went down, the Canadian Pacific steamer Royal Edward, with 800 persons aboard, was saved from injury by the prompt action of her captain, who signaled from the bridge and stopped the ship's engines. A huge berg lay directly ahead of the steamer, and as it slowly passed, grazed the bow. The steamer quickly backed away and out of danger. The only inconvenience suffered was the losing of a little time, the captain reporting by wireless that he would arrive at Bristol one day late.

in attendance on Mr. Watson and then he resumed his address amid cheers.

He was referred to by subsequent speakers as a "man who would some day, soon, be candidate for an office upon which the whole country votes."

Both Mr. Watson and Congressman L. C. Dyer of St. Louis in addresses asserted that the recently-enacted tariff law was proving disastrous to the United States and quoted statistics from reports of the present administration which they declared proved this contention.

"The Democratic party has failed signally to carry out the pledges of its party," Mr. Watson said. "Wilson during his campaign declared himself against secret legislation. Yet never before was a tariff bill railroaded through Congress as was the Underwood-Simmons bill. President Wilson dragged the House up like a third reader class and the Senate like a fifth reader class and said to them: 'Recite or you get no pie.' They recited.

"As to the Progressives, I want to close the door on that matter. If a man will stand at my side against our common enemy—the Democratic party—I will not ask him how he voted two years ago. We have a common enemy. Let us march side by side. Let our slogan be 'Preserve American markets for American producers.' For restoration of the prosperity we enjoyed until two years ago we must first have restoration of a protective tariff system for America."

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Reports from London that chief Prof. Percival Lowell, director of the Flagstaff observatory in Arizona, now in London, has received word from Prof. Slipher that spectograms made at Flagstaff show Virgo's nebula rotating, were received with interest in scientific circles today as possibly throwing new light on the problem of stellar evolution and the origin of the universe.

Prof. Fowle, acting director of the Smithsonian Astronomical Observatory, said of the reported discovery:

"Nebulae are great masses of gas appearing like gigantic pinwheels and have been looked upon as worlds in the process of formation. They suggested La Place's famous nebular hypothesis of the origin of the earth and the solar system. Their appearance suggests rotation, but they are so far distant that even though rotating with velocities of many miles a second, in centuries such motion toward adjacent stars would be inappreciable to the eye.

"Spectograms, like the speedometers of automobiles, indicate at once the speed of bodies, but the nebulae are so very faint, most of them being invisible to the unaided eye, that only with the most powerful telescopes may spectograms be obtained of them.

"This discovery of Slipher is interesting as throwing new light on the problem of stellar evolution and our origin. Although the rotation was suspected, no guess could have been made as to its magnitude, which Slipher's spectogram will probably tell.

"An earlier observation of Slipher indicated that the nebula of Andromeda is approaching us with a velocity of 200 miles per second."

RYAN WISHES IT APPLIED ONLY TO INTERNAL TRADE.

President of the Amalgamated Copper Company Declares the United States Is Driven Out of Its Proper Place in World's Markets by Present Administration's Policy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 27.—"The Serman law and its effect on export trade," was discussed by John D. Ryan, president of the Amalgamated Copper Company, in an address presented today at the National Foreign Trade convention here. He pleaded for the restriction of operations of the Sherman law so as to apply only to internal trade.

He asserted the United States had failed to win its place in the world's markets and that it would be driven still further out by "the present policy of breaking large concerns into units and forbidding combinations in export trade."

"Are American products of the soil and of the mines and forests always to be sold abroad in enforced competition?" he asked. "We have to meet not only the enforced competition of our own people, but also the combined buyers of other countries, where the combinations are legal. We meet the combined buyers of Europe and we meet them each of us fighting, not only for himself, but against his own countrymen, and the combined buying strength makes its terms against the divided sellers' necessity. When we load our products on the pier for export we meet the shipping combine—German, English, French. We pay the rates they fix in their pools and combinations. We sell our products to the combined buyers of foreign nations and they fix the price at which they will trade."

He pointed out that in the last decade nearly half the copper produced in the United States was sold to foreign producers at approximately a cent a pound cheaper, delivered at foreign ports, than it cost at home. He declared that it virtually constituted a $500,000,000 handicap in that period against the American manufacturers, "in spite of the fact that producers of raw copper had no tariff protection nor any governmental help to keep domestic prices higher.

"The handicap," he concluded, "is simply the result of the advantage of combined foreign buying over competitive selling."

Taking up the Sherman act he declared that while it was obviously intended to protect the American consumer, the debates which preceded its passage failed to suggest or hint that the consumers of other countries were to be protected by the statute.

"It is only necessary," he said, "either that Congress shall by an appropriate amendment disclaim any purpose of legislating with reference to sales in foreign markets or that the executive branch of the government, upon which the duty primarily rests of construing this statute, should reassure the business interests of the country that the operations of the Sherman law are limited to sales made in this country and to American consumers, or such as would necessarily effect an injury to the American people.

PROMISES HELP WITHOUT FORCE.

Bryan Says Administration Seeks Trade Expansion.

But Will Give Only Moral Support to Americans.

Hill Warns Country of Danger in Labor Situation.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Five hundred manufacturers and representatives of commercial organizations launched the first national foreign trade convention here today with prominent speakers analyzing perils and opportunities for commerce abroad. Secretary Bryan outlined the administration's attitude toward the campaign for industrial relations with other countries at a banquet tonight.

"So far as it is possible to do so," the Secretary said, "it is our desire to obtain for Americans equality of opportunity in the development of the resources of foreign countries and in the markets of the world. While the government wishes to expand its foreign trade and to encourage those who seek in foreign lands a field for American capital and labor, it can not in any way assume responsibility for or guarantee the financial standing of Americans who engage in commercial or industrial enterprises beyond the boundaries of the United States."

Bryan said that if wrong were done an American citizen in his legitimate business relations with a foreign government, diplomatic officials would be instructed to employ their good offices to secure justice, but that "the support promised by this government does not imply any obligation to interfere by force or by the menace of force in the financial or political affairs of other countries."

That American business men should not be subject in foreign trade to restrictions imposed on them in domestic trade and which are not imposed on their competitors, was the keynote of discussion of papers read by numerous industrial leaders. Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce told the manufacturers that he knew of no one who had tried to restrict or hamper export trade, and declared American industries did not use available scientific knowledge. He promised to employ his aid to remove any barriers that may stand in the way of our foreign trade, whether they be at home or abroad.

CHINESE LOAN.

Discussing foreign trade and loans, Willard Straight, president of the American Asiatic Association, outlined his opinion of the motives that prompted the Wilson administration to withdraw governmental support from the six power Chinese administration loan of 1913. Explaining that this was not an industrial, but a political loan, involving "the whole international political game," Straight said he thought President Wilson and Secretary Bryan felt that the combination of six powers was "holding a financial club over the head of the weak young republic and endeavoring to extract from China certain benefits and privileges to which they were not entitled."

The symposium on foreign trade opportunity covered a broad field. James E. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, said: "One out of every ten men in the country is engaged in work on goods destined for foreign consumption at some stage of their production or manufacture."

P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the Mercantile Marine, defended combinations of shipping lines as a necessary alternative of "cut-throat competition."

P. H. W. Ross, president of the National Marine League, asserted foreign trade was needed to liquidate the indebtedness of the United States to European investors, and contended export trade could not attain large proportions without an adequate foreign-going merchant marine.

HILL'S NOTE OF WARNING.

James J. Hill, discussing "The Future of Our Foreign Trade," intimated the United States might be in danger of running into such a widespread industrial distress as England now found itself, "from attempting to hold market against competitors who maintaining a wage scale that does not permit her to meet their prices and does not offer to capital an inducement to new fields of development."

He compared the per capita value of foreign trade of the United States, which is $41, to Germany's $67 and after the United Kingdom's $126, said Germany is constantly consolidating English markets because of the inability of the English manufacturer to change his working conditions in conformity to present conditions. The United States was following England's example.

"The power of the English trade unions became practically nothing in fixing wages, hours and general working conditions. Germany found that with a more advantageous wage scale, she could go into the world's markets at prices which England could not meet.

"Hence the enormous growth of German exports. Hence a condition which the United States can not cannot meet in many lines, and which it could not meet at all did not natural resources, and, in certain lines of manufacture the use of highly-skilled labor and highly-complicated machines give us a temporary advantage.

"But advantage, like every other exceptional local condition is in world trade, tends to be equalized and disappears."

He pictured the industrial depression in England, and said it would seem that rational conduct might save the day, "but the burden placed by unwise restricted legislation and unnecessary taxation on business in the United States are producing their natural effects here also.

"Just such mistakes as those Britain has made and is making now confront the American workingman with a lost job and empty cupboard, but there is no younger and more promising land to which he may emigrate. In making gradually the advantages that our position and resources have given us up to a recent date, nothing but deeper wisdom and a keener sense of justice toward all factors that must unite to create national prosperity can keep us at the forefront or even insure us against disorder and economic distress at home."

OTHER SPEAKERS.

Capt. Robert Dollar, San Francisco, read a paper on "How to Obtain Foreign Trade."

Clarence J. Owens, managing director of the Southern Commercial Congress, said he spoke with the authority of President Wilson when he said the President hoped that all non-partisan questions would be settled at the present session of Congress, so that the remainder of his term might be used to deal with constructive questions such as the merchant marine and other subjects regarded as party.

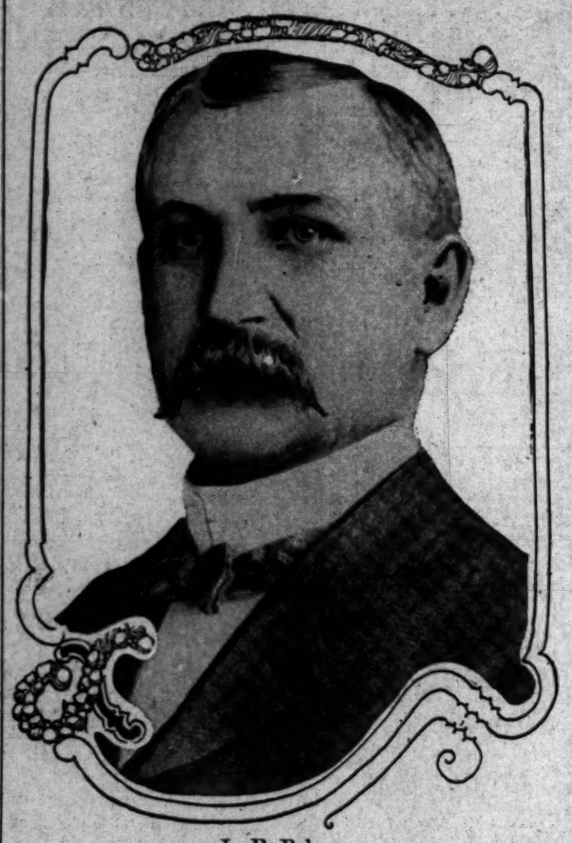
Sees Bad in a Good Time.



L. P. Behrens,

President of the California Bankers' Association, who, in his address yesterday in Oakland, said that the American people are spending a billion dollars a year for senseless pleasure and that the waste threatens the prosperity of the nation.

One Billion for Sport.

by the president of the association and many others, and nominations for various offices, occupied much of the time of the opening day.

An amendment to the constitution of the organization concerning the right of branch banks to benefit by the association's protective work, was read, and will be voted on tomorrow.

INVOCATION.

The ballroom was filled at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, when the convention opened with an invocation by the Rev. Albert W. Palmer of Plymouth Congregational Church and an address of welcome by Mayor Frank K. Mott of Oakland. William T. Jeter of Santa Cruz responded, and then L. P. Behrens, president of the California Bankers' Association, made his annual address.

The new Federal banking law was approved, but not the income tax enactments. Following his talk a warm dispute ensued on the protective phases of the organization, J. W. Jingles of Oroville heading a faction that asserted that the protective committee of the banks had been laggard. Daylight hold-ups of banks and other episodes were mentioned. Secretary Frederick H. Colburn ended the discussion by citing the work of that branch of the organization, and asserting that the cost of too prolonged investigations into the robberies was at time almost prohibitive.

APPOINTMENTS.

President Behrens then made appointments of committees:

Elections—J. Smith of San Francisco, A. Peter of Coalinga, J. E. Baker of Alameda, F. H. Denman of Petaluma, and O. M. Soden of Los Angeles.

R. M. Welch, present vice-president, was nominated as president for the coming year, to succeed L. P. Behrens, incumbent. Charles A. Smith of Oakland, was named vice-president, and W. A. High of the Anglo and London-Paris National Bank of San Francisco, was nominated as treasurer. The election is to be held on Friday, but there is little opposition to the nominated officials, although William T. Jeter of Santa Cruz, W. D. Longyear of Los Angeles, and several others, have been mentioned.

For members of the executive council, to serve three years, the committee nominated C. W. Bush of the Bank of Yolo; A. D. Jones of the First National Bank, Los Angeles; J. Y. Eccleston of the Oakland Bank of Savings, and L. Gundelfinger of the Bank of Central California, Fresno.

A. B. A. MEETING.

In the meantime, California members of the American Bankers' Association held a meeting during the afternoon recess, Joseph D. Radford of Los Angeles acting as chairman. To serve three years as members of the American Bankers' Association Executive Council, E. A. Edwards of Pasadena and L. P. Behrens of Redwood City were nominated. H. S. Fletcher of Watsonville was nominated as vice-president of the A.B.A. for California for one year, and F. J. Belcher of San Diego was named member of the Nominating Committee which will meet at the October meeting of the American Bankers' Association at Richmond, Va.

An amendment to the constitution, to the effect that a branch bank maintained by a member shall not be entitled to the privileges of membership unless it applies for separate membership, was read, and will be voted on tomorrow. There is little opposition however, to the proposed amendment.

The greater part of the day was devoted to talks on subjects pertaining to banks. F. L. Lipman of the Wells, Fargo Nevada National Bank spoke on "The Federal Reserve Act," generally favoring the innovation. Other speakers on the same subject were James K. Lynch of the First National Bank, San Francisco; Stoddard Jess, of the First National Bank, Los Angeles, and George W. Peltier of the California National Bank, Sacramento. The reserve act was commended unanimously, and it was advised that, whatever defects exist in the bill, it were best to work with the reserve idea and help the defects to gradually eliminate themselves.

"The Federal Income Tax; Its Relation to Banks and Bankers, was the topic of Joseph J. Scott, Collector of Internal Revenue at San Francisco. Scott spoke in favor of the law.

"The Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety as Affecting Banks," was discussed by Harris Weinstock, member of the Industrial Accident Committee. Weinstock said the new law affected banks in an indirect way generally, in that the person who is protected in his work becomes a more reliable depositor than him who must draw out his money to cover expenses of the sick bed.

Dr. Charles L. Tisdale of the Bank of Fruitvale spoke on "Burglary Insurance," and E. D. Roberts, State Treasurer discussed "Transactions of State Treasurer with the Banks." "National One-cent Postage" was the topic of M. P. Lilienthal of the Anglo-California Trust Company, San Francisco, and "Standard Forms" were spoken of by S. J. McKnight, cashier of the Vallejo Commercial Bank.

In the late afternoon many visiting bankers toured Oakland in autos, while many of the bankers' wives took a special street-car sight-seeing trip. In the evening most of the delegates attended a big theater party at the Orpheum.

Tomorrow one of the principal speakers will be Col. F. E. Farnsworth, general secretary of the American Bankers' Association, New York, who will talk on the relations of the national and State organizations. Among the other speakers will be James K. Lynch of the First National Bank, San Francisco; R. M. Welch of the Savings Union Bank and Trust Company, San Francisco; V. S. McClatchy of the State Reclamation Board; Prof. W. T. Clarke of the University of California.

The annual ball of the organization will be held tomorrow night in the Hotel Oakland.

Talk of Vera Cruz.

capital. Americans could have treated me no better than did the Mexicans. I slept at Soledad in a passenger coach on a siding. Saturday night a Mexican officer escorted me from Cordoba to Orizaba and I passed the night in Mexico with a Mexican family. I did not know until I met them on the train. I had but a few minutes' talk with Gen. Castro as he was called away to Huerta and I had business of my own to transact. On my return to Vera Cruz I was met at Orizaba by a Federal officer who had a special train waiting to carry me to Cordoba. At Soledad I slept in the Federal camp. Last night I was a very frightened little girl, but on the trip I could not have been treated more chivalrously by my own people. What I learned of the Mexicans' position and strength I cannot make public."

On the same train with Miss Woods was Mr. Goldberg and wife of No. 314 First street, Portland, Or. He lost $10,000 in four months in the capital by failure of Federals to pay their bills. He was in the liquor business. He started in business last March. Other refugees include J. K. Forsech, No. 208 Schermerhorn avenue, Brooklyn; Miss Jennie Coxhill, Washington street, Beardstown, Ill.; P. Parsons, same address, James Roy and Paul Pearce, Boston; Joseph Pappard, Tucson.

WAR DELAYS GIRL'S ROMANCE.

SISTERS OF MISS WOODS ADMIT HER BETROTHAL TO CASTRO.

BY BONNIE GLESSNER.

Two sisters of the plucky little American girl are attending the Ramona convent near Pasadena, Miss A. Sofia and Miss Mary Woods. They have been in Souhern California for the past three years but letters from home have carried to them the news of their sister's romance, and Miss Sofia gives a very interesting story of the courtship of the dashing Mexican general.

According to Miss Sofia, her sister met Gen. Castro when she returned from the High School of Mexico City, a year ago, and after an acquaintance of but a few months the friendship ripened to love, the tall, dark general becoming madly infatuated with the slender, fair-haired American girl. Last Christmas they plighted their troth and an early marriage was planned, but the war trouble made this step impossible.

Gen. Castro was at this time the acting Governor of Santa Cuernevaca, where Miss Woods's parents resided. When the Americans were driven out of that province last April, Miss Woods and her parents and two sisters were forced to flee to Vera Cruz, from which city her mother and two sisters embarked for the United States. Miss Elizabeth, however, refused to leave the land where at least she could hear from her lover. She sought employment in the postoffice at Vera Cruz three weeks ago, and because she was especially adapted for such work on account of her knowledge of both the Spanish and the English tongue, she was given a position in the distributing window of the Vera Cruz postoffice.

Miss Woods, who is attending the convent here, stated yesterday that, from her sister's letters, she was sure that Elizabeth would gladly welcome any danger if it afforded her an opportunity to visit her lover. She said that her sister was as deeply infatuated with Castro as the brilliant Mexican was with her sister.

Gen. Adolfo Jiminez Castro is one of the most romantic figures in the late Mexican history. His record as a soldier is one of absolute bravery, and during the outbreak at Vera Cruz by Diaz, Gen. Castro won additional laurels. Castro is said to bear the marks of seventeen wounds received in battle during the Madero trouble.

The American heroine's father is Cortland B. Woods, a prominent contractor of Vera Cruz. He remained with his daughter when she refused to leave Mexico and her daring lover.

ARBITRATION IS UP AGAIN.

Cummins Favors Tribunal to Settle Tolls Dispute.

Committee Agrees to Consider Sutherland Resolution.

But Few Senators Think It Could Be Passed.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Fresh impetus was given to the proposal to arbitrate the Panama Canal tolls exemption dispute by developments today in the Senate, despite the fact that few Senators believe it will be possible to obtain sufficient votes to adopt this method of settlement. The Foreign Relations Committee agreed to take up at its next meeting Senator Sutherland's resolution calling upon the President to propose arbitration to Great Britain.

Senator Cummins, who is opposed to the tolls exemption repeal bill, introduced an amendment to provide for arbitration by an international tribunal of nationals of the two countries and one other person to be named by them. He made the novel proposal that the judgment of this tribunal must be concurred in by one national of the country against whom it is rendered.

Senator Sterling delivered the only set speech on tolls repeal today. He favored the repeal bill.

Senator Walsh, an opponent of repeal, made a brief answer to the recent declaration of Senator Root that American vessels which will use the Panama Canal cannot be regarded as engaged in coastwise trade.

Senator Cummins's amendment proposed that ships engaged in domestic commerce pay tolls about one-half those charged foreign ships.

SENTIMENTAL NONSENSE.

Former Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Says Society is Too Ready to Uphold Criminals.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 27.—Society is too ready to intervene in behalf of the ...nals, according to John B. Winslow, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, in an address to the Illinois Bar Association today.

"The unwritten law, or sentimental nonsense, is invoked to prevent adequate punishment," he said. "Our present system operates to defeat justice and mercy to the criminal is cruelty to the State."

The report of a special committee on a non-partisan judicial bill was adopted by the association, and the bill will be submitted to the next State Legislature. The bill provides for the nomination of candidates for judgeships by petition only.

MANY CANNIBALS MET.

American Explorer Returns from Five-Thousand-Mile Trip Through Country of Livingstone.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 27.—James Barnes of the American Museum of Natural History, who went to Africa a year ago to traverse the continent and take motion pictures, came home on the steamship Olympic today. He said that his party, with 120 men as porters, traveled 5000 miles and passed through the country of Livingstone and Stanley, even meeting two guides who remembered Stanley.

The party passed through the land of the pygmies and the Congo cannibals and Barnes today said that cannibalism was just as bad as it ever had been. In his opinion it was ineradicable.

MEDIATORS BAR LOCAL ISSUES.

Envoys Insist on Upholding Dignity of Huerta.

All Parties Confident of Reaching Agreement.

NIAGARA FALLS, May 27.—Disposition of the Mexican problem by mediation had so far progressed at the end of today's conference that it was predicted that a protocol would be signed within a week.

The main issues are understood to have been satisfactorily worked out in principal, and it now only remains to be determined whether certain issues of comparatively minor importance shall be included in the scope of the negotiations. Issues of this nature were understood to have been the subject of a conference held today in Toronto between the mediators and the American delegates before attending the garden party given to the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the mediation colony. En route tonight from Toronto back to Niagara Falls the mediators communicated the views of the Americans to the Mexican delegates in informal discussions aboard the special car.

The points yet to be taken up, it is understood, relate chiefly to internal problems, and it is known to be the disposition of the mediators, if it is decided to seek an agreement upon them at all, to treat them only in the form of recommendations for the guidance of the new provisional government, which it is hoped to establish in Mexico.

The attitude of the Mexican representatives is that these internal problems, while by no means unimportant to Mexico itself, should not be entered into by this tribunal, inasmuch as the discussion of one would lead to another. Thus almost interminable delay would result before a common understanding could be reached.

In this connection the Mexican delegates brought up, as an illustration, the Governorships of Mexican States and the problem of the relation of the State governments to the provisional Federal government when it shall have been established. They pointed out that to attempt to formulate a plan dealing with provisional control of State governments, or in any way defining their relations with the Federal organization, would involve the mediators to the point of tedium in the solution of local problems peculiar to each State.

The Mexican envoys held that their problems can be best worked out by their own people after the temporary central government has been established.

As to precisely what disposal has been made of the question of the elimination of Gen. Huerta, other than the intimation that his dignity will be upheld, the mediators today remained reticent. Emphasis was laid upon the fact that, although the Carranza element had not been represented at the conference, the plans formulated by the mediators comprehended the expectation of bringing Carranza in accord and to the support of the scheme for a provisional government. Particularly by one of the mediators the confident hope was expressed that as soon as Carranza and his followers became acquainted with the proposals they would agree to cease their military operations.

THE MEDIATORS ARE OPTIMISTIC.

TORONTO (Ont.) May 27.—Although the South American mediators and the American and Mexican delegates came here today from Niagara Falls, the seat of their mediation conference, to be the guests at a garden party in honor of the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, developments in the last twenty-four hours called for a short conference between the mediators and the American delegates.

The conference lasted for an hour and had to be broken before they had finished on account of the social affair they came to attend.

As a result of the meeting it was made known that some questions had been cleared up on which there had been no actual disagreement looking to a solution of the Mexican imbroglio, but which had not been understood in the same light by both the American and Mexican delegates.

Continuance of the optimistic spirit which prevailed yesterday was manifested again today, and it was said that, through the friendly offices and advice of the South American mediators, the two opposing parties were coming closer to an understanding. An agreement is to be looked for soon, indications pointing to an early settlement of the difficulties between the United States and Mexico.

SAYS CARRANZA MUST BE CHOSEN.

CABRERA CALLS REBEL CHIEF ONLY LOGICAD CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, May 27.—"As long as we did not know what the conference was going to discuss it was well to stay out of it." Louis Cabrera, a prominent Mexican Constitutionalist, said tonight in referring to the mediation congress at Niagara Falls.

"But when they take up the real issues," continued Cabrera, "we feel that we ought to be represented. I cannot see how the mediation proceedings can come to a practical result without the Constitutionalists without a practical escape for them."

Cabrera arrived in New York ... after nearly two months spent ... his family in Spain. He has been suggested as a compromise candidate ... provisional President of Mexico.

"It must be Carranza," said Cabrera. "Any other man than Carranza will fail, even if he is a Constitutionalist. Carranza is well known and has done the work. The people might hesitate about another man.

"We all recognize him as leader," he declared. He added that he had reported to Gen. Carranza and Dr. Emilio Zubaran, Constitutionalist minister of the Interior, now in Washington, and was awaiting instructions from them.

"The situation looks hopeful," continued Cabrera. "If Huerta ... leaves the country nine-tenths of the difficulty will be eliminated."

The time was ripe for Constitutionalist participation in the mediation conference, in Cabrera's view, he said, however, that he did not know whether Gen. Carranza now feels that he must participate.

"They will think that they have decided the Mexican situation without us, but in reality they will have put it in a worse condition than the present in case Huerta is eliminated ... vital issues are left unsolved. Without the Constitutionalists the conference cannot come to a definite solution."

CALLS TREATIES STEP BACKWARD.

MOHONK LAKE (N. Y.) May 27. —"That the present administration, although presumably of State rights antecedents, is apparently nationalistic in point of view with reference to treaty making," was hailed as a fortunate circumstance by Dr. Edward S. Corwin, professor of politics in Princeton University, in addressing the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration today on "some possibilities in treaty making."

He pointed to the success with which seven European nations in 1906 entered into a treaty by which they agreed to prohibit in their respective dominions night work for women and into another by which they agreed to prohibit the use of white phosphorus in the manufacture of matches. These and similar arrangements, such as the insurance of workmen against industrial accidents, which has been agreed to, and the fixing of a maximum work day for women and young persons, which is a pending proposal, showed that treaty-making was extending to matters earlier deemed to lie quiet without its sphere.

"In this general development," he said, "the United States must and does participate and for the resultant legal responsibilities, the powers of the central government are, if we are to adhere to the historically settled canons of constitutional law, entirely adequate."

John Bassett Moore declared that existing arbitration treaties were backward steps. As far back as 1794 he found the United States and Great Britain admitting to arbitration in a sweeping manner certain points which would be subject to exception or restriction under the treaty with Great Britain today.

"As we are somewhat prone to boast of leading the van in the cause of peace, it may be worth our while to consider," he said, "whether we should not occupy a position more advanced than that which we now hold if we were to go back to the practice we adopted 120 years ago."

CITES SPIRITS INTO COURT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 27.—Mysterious messages from the unexplored realm of the spirits, written in bold script upon slates by unseen hands, are to be brought into the Police Court to determine the truth or falsity of a charge of fraud, lodged today against Fred F. Evans, a medium.

Evans calls himself a psychographist. A charge of obtaining money under false pretenses is lodged against him at the city prison, his accuser being Fred H. Barton, a restaurant keeper of Bakersfield.

He paid Evans $400 for tuition. Then they went into a seance, Barton says.

Evans implored the spirits to ask Barton's deceased chum, a Mr. Knight, for advice. In a few minutes the handkerchief was removed from Barton's eyes and upon the slate was written, according to Barton: "Give Mr. Evans $400. I am well. Knight."

Barton paid the money. Then followed seance after seance, during which his friend Knight, from the spiritual world, continually instructed him in writing upon the slate to give Evans money. Barton says that he paid Evans $1650 in all. Then, suspecting fraud, he notified the police.

FOR MEXICO MAIL.

Naval Ships May Be Used to Carry the Pouches to the West Coast Ports.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VALLEJO (Cal.) May 27.—Mare Island officials telegraphed the Navy Department today for information regarding the use of naval ships for the carrying of commercial mail between San Francisco and west coast Mexican ports. The order of Huerta prohibiting merchant ships to clear from ports leaves the Mexican towns without mail communication with western ports of the United States.

Orders were received today to rush work on the navy collier Saturn so she can leave the yard Friday. It is desired to dispatch her as soon as possible to join the Pacific fleet off Mexico.

THREE BULLETS IN HEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURG (Kan.) May 27.—J. W. Scott, an inspector of an American line in Mexico, who left that country two months ago because he feared he would lose his life, was found dead in his room at a hotel here today with three bullet wounds in his head. The police are unable to determine whether Scott shot himself or was murdered. A revolver lay at his side.

TAMPICO HOSTILE TO AMERICANS.

GENERAL FEELING PREVAILS AGAINST FOREIGNERS IN OIL DISTRICT.

TAMPICO, May 25 (Delayed in transmission)—Torrential rains have prevented the Constitutionalists from restoring satisfactory communication either by railroad or telegraph lines except over a limited area. Trains are running in the direction of Monterey, as far as Montemorelos, but just beyond this town, a bridge has been washed out.

Troops sent into the interior on three trains under command of Gen. Pablo Gonzales are marching from Montemorelos toward Monterey, but Gen. Gonzales and his staff are waiting for the bridge to be repaired, when they will go forward with the trains.

If the Constitutionalists mean to bring in war supplies through this port no evidence of this intention has been forthcoming.

The work of relieving the customhouse, which is congested with freight is proceeding rapidly. No further forced loan has been imposed.

There are only twenty Americans at the oil properties along the Panuco River, above Tampico, of whom almost all are employees of the Texas Oil Company. There is considerable apprehension among the oil men owing to the anti-American sentiment fomented by Huerta sympathizers, who are endeavoring to inflame the Constitutionalists by absurd stories of alleged American atrocities. This sentiment is a factor in the general reluctance of the managers of the oil company to resume operations up the river. Several foreign companies are reported to have decided not to employ any more Americans and gradually to dispense with the services of those still in their employment on account of the danger of Mexican hostilities.

Reports from Panuco today indicate that the anti-American sentiment is increasing, and open threats have been made by prominent Mexicans to drive out the Americans and destroy their properties. The few Americans in that region realize that they are in a dangerous position, but are determined to defend themselves if necessary. Panuco is now occupied by a small detachment of Constitutionalists from Tampico, who have taken no part in the anti-American demonstration and, it is believed, can be relied upon to check any violent demonstration.

Why Not Recall the Roads?

SANTA CRUZ, May 27.—Charges that the roads in his district are in bad condition were made the basis of a recommendation by the grand jury today that Supervisor Joseph Ball be recalled.

ANGELOTTI INDORSED.

Eight Hundred San Francisco Attorneys Favor Associate's Candidacy for Supreme Court Chief Justice.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The signatures of 800 attorneys of San Francisco were attached today to an indorsement by the bar of this city of the candidacy of Frank M. Angelotti, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, for the position of Chief Justice, which will be vacated through the retirement of Justice Beatty this year.

Judge Angelotti's own term expires this year and he is the only member of the Supreme Court who aspires to the Chief Justiceship. He already has received the indorsement of the Los Angeles Bar Association.

NOW, while this newspaper is in your hand, you can cut out the order form printed below, and, by mailing it today, secure a copy of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica before the present low prices are advanced.

On the right is a table showing you side by side the prices at which the work, in various styles of binding, will be supplied to those who send their orders today and the increased prices—$29 to $50 more—which will have to be paid by those who send their orders tomorrow or at any later date.

Can you afford to waste money by allowing today's opportunity to pass?

You know that you will buy the Encyclopaedia Britannica sooner or later.

You have our guarantee that the increase in price will be maintained.

The Last Advertisement

This is the last of a series of advertisements which have dealt with the most extraordinary offer in the history of bookselling; the offer on behalf of the Cambridge University Press of England of the new Encyclopædia Britannica at prices far less than new editions of this celebrated work have heretofore been sold.

The purpose of this campaign of publicity has now been achieved. The new Britannica is widely known as the best book of universal reference in existence. Hereafter it will be supplied in exactly the same bindings, at the higher prices to go into effect after tomorrow, through booksellers and agents.

Nearly every reader of this advertisement has already given some thought to the question whether he will subscribe. Many of them have doubtless said: "That is a mighty fine book. I shall get it some day." But after today it will be too late to get it unless they wish to pay more; it will be too late for anyone to get it at the present low prices, unless he dispatches an order by post, or by telegraph, before 12 o'clock tonight.

TONIGHT ENDS THE OPPORTUNITY

The Britannica in its various beautiful bindings may be seen and orders placed at the BOOK DEPARTMENT of A. HAMBURGER & SONS. If you cannot call, mail order blank or use telegraphic form.

Experiment Station.

Stating that a suitable site for the proposed citrus experiment station cannot be secured for the money appropriated by the last Legislature, the Anaheim Board of Trade asked the Chamber of Commerce yesterday to join it in resolutions requesting the State to defer action until the Legislature meets again. At that time it is planned to ask for an increase in the appropriation.

Hydrographic Survey.

Resolutions were adopted yesterday by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce requesting the State's Congressmen to support Congressman Kettner's bill to appropriate $15,000 for a hydrographic survey of the watersheds of the Mojave River. According to officials of the chamber there is much land in San Bernardino county which is subject to entry, but which homeseekers are reluctant to take up until the water question is definitely settled.

MOOSE MUTINY WIDESPREAD.

OTHER CITIES FOLLOW LEAD OF LOS ANGELES LODGE.

Thousand Members Resolve to Stand Pat for Old Lodge and Demand an Accounting from Supreme Body—Speech of Rev. Mr. Lee Creates Wild Enthusiasm.

Stating that lodges of the Order of Moose in various cities of the United States are following the lead of the Los Angeles lodge, old No. 386, and are withdrawing from the supreme order, Secretary J. F. Crocker of the local lodge at the business meeting last night read a communication from the St. Louis lodge commending the stand taken by the Los Angeles lodge and stating that the St. Louis lodge had unanimously voted May 23 to withdraw from the supreme body.

According to the information Crocker received, the situation in St. Louis is similar to that here. The dictator of the lodge was removed before the charges against him were preferred, the 5000 members then taking sides with the deposed dictator and Supreme Dictator Walter E. Dorn of San Francisco revoking the charter in consequence.

The fight between the subordinate lodges and the supreme body has reached a grave stage in a number of States and these organizations are only waiting the outcome of the Los Angeles fight before taking similar action, according to Secretary Crocker.

Fully a thousand members attended last night's meeting, which was presided over by N. Banks Cregier, the deposed dictator, and the greatest enthusiasm marked the proceedings, under the banner of "stand pat," the body voting as one man to stand together for the old lodge. Folding chairs had been put in to take the place of those removed a few days ago.

A resolution was adopted demanding in the name of the order throughout the United States a strict financial accounting from the officers of the supreme lodge, and a committee on reorganization was appointed.

Rev. Baker P. Lee was the principal speaker at an open meeting which followed adjournment, and his speech was greeted with laughter and cheers. When he left the hall to fill another engagement the entire body arose and gave three cheers that must have been heard by Dorn in San Francisco. Rev. Mr. Lee, looking at the room filled with temporary chairs, declared that he was proud to greet such a vast audience composed of plain furniture and mahogany men, and he eloquently admonished them to stand together like real men. He predicted that the independent movement will speedily swell to a million members who stand for a square deal.

How to Get Rid Of Skin Trouble

A Handsome Skin Book Free That Will Guide You.

So many people fuss in despair over stubborn skin affections that some rules laid down in connection with the use of S. S. S. for the blood will be of great value. These are outlined in a hand book, finely illustrated, of the many variations in skin troubles. It tells how to overcome them.

If you have been fighting some blood trouble, some skin disease, call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, or what you will, ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the East. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy today, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 535 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not permit anyone to talk you into a substitute for S. S. S.

Nervous Periodical Headaches

Succumb to Anti-Kamnia Tablets

This trouble commonly called "sick headache," is said to be due to the retention of urea in the system. Often it is stated that a poor condition of the blood is a cause of these headaches, or that it is a nervous condition; and in certain cases, no doubt this is true.

Where treatment is demanded, it is more for the pain than anything else, and Dr. A. F. Schellenmann, of Louisville, Ky., has found Anti-kamnia Tablets to give prompt and satisfactory relief. "Rest should be insisted upon" he says, "and the patient should go to bed, darken the room, and all the attendants and family should be as quiet as possible. An emetic will sometimes shorten the attack. The bowels should be kept open with 'Aoids'; a hot bath and a thorough rub-down with a coarse towel, often give grateful relief. Two Anti-kamnia Tablets when the first signs appear, will usually prevent the attack. During an attack, one tablet every hour or two will shorten the attack and relieve the usual nausea and vomiting." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for nervous headaches, neuralgia and all pains. We also make A-K Salve for skin diseases, eczema, etc.

DESERTION MUST BE REAL.

Supreme Court Hands Down Important Decision Bearing Upon Divorce Actions.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion received yesterday, laid down the doctrine that, under certain circumstances, it is necessary for man and wife to separate, and in such instances, a judgment for divorce will not lie, where the cause of the action is desertion.

Mary C. Lewis had been denied a divorce from Henry C. Lewis, on the ground of desertion, by the Superior Court of Los Angeles county. The judgment was affirmed.

The couple was married in Long Beach, March 1, 1910. Soon after he lost his home, and told his wife that as he could not support her, he would go away, which he did, and has not yet returned. At the time of the marriage, Mrs. Lewis was 41, and her husband 81 years of age.

The Supreme Court says that separation under some circumstances is necessary and intimated that Mrs. Lewis should have taken care of her aged husband.

A Blessing in Disguise.

[Pittsburgh Gazette-Times:] The Charleston (W. Va.) young woman who complains that the man she had expected to wed after borrowing $50 from her used the money to have his teeth filled and married a girl at Richmond, Va., ought to consider the sad fate of the latter, yoked to such a man, and congratulate herself that she escaped so easily and cheaply. Like many others, she seems not to recognize a blessing because of the disguise in which it reached her.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, May 27.—[Reported by W. D. Fuller, Observer, temporarily in charge.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.00; at 5 p.m., 29.96. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 56 deg. and 66 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 88 per cent.; 5 p.m., 68 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 6 miles; 5 p.m., south, velocity 7 miles. Highest temperature, 70 deg.; lowest, 55 deg. Rainfall for season, 23.56 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The trough of pressure noted Tuesday morning along the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains has divided, a portion moving easterly across the lake country, giving thunderstorms and light precipitation to scattered localities in that section. The southern portion of this low area increased in intensity, giving heavy rain in Texas and Southwestern New Mexico. This disturbance has been strengthened by another low-pressure area over British Columbia, continuing the light rains in the Pacific Northwest. Temperatures are generally low in the Mississippi Valley, succeeding unusual heat Tuesday, and higher in the northwestern portion of the country. It is slightly warmer on the Western Slope, the weather ranging from clear to cloudy in California, and it is probable that the weather will be more or less cloudy during the ensuing thirty-six hours, owing to the trough of pressure to the eastward, with little temperature change.

Big Methodist Sunday-School Will Show Handiwork of Children and Give Two Free Entertainments.

Two entertaining programmes will be given in the First Methodist Church this evening and tomorrow evening in connection with the notable educational exhibit of handiwork of members of the various grades of the big school, under the direction of Mrs. Maud Erickson, superintendent of hand work, and a committee of ladies associated with her.

This annual exhibit, introduced three years ago by Dr. H. W. Brodbeck, superintendent of the big school, is a complete innovation in Sunday-school work and has proven immensely popular, attracting thousands of visitors. The school had on May 1 a total enrollment of 3715, and taken in connection with the large membership of the church, it is the regular thing to pack the auditorium to hear the programmes and witness the offerings of the children. Everything is free and the public is invited to come and see what the school is doing.

This afternoon the exhibit will be open and there will be a conference at 2 o'clock, of the officers and teachers of the elementary grades, presided over by Mrs. H. W. Brodbeck. This evening at 7:30 the juniors will give a realistic demonstration of the "Fall of Jericho;" a demonstration of relief-map making, with water, flour and salt, under the direction of Mrs. Myers, and there will be a flag drill. Annie Schell Row will sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and other songs.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock a conference of the secondary grades will be held, at which Mrs. A. U. Glass will preside. In the evening Dr. H. C. Dowling will deliver an address on "The Importance of Graded Studies," and Miss Row will sing. The newly-organized castle of "Knights of King Arthur" will give a demonstration in full regalia, and there will be other interesting things, beside the exhibit itself. There will be music by the orchestra each evening.

SEEKS TO REGAIN PROPERTY.

Trustee in Bankruptcy Brings Suit to Set Aside Transfers for Benefit of Estate.

F. R. Yundt, trustee in bankruptcy for the estate of A. M. Dreisbach, filed an action in the United States District Court, yesterday, against A. M. Dreisbach, Minnie B. Henson, William H. Dreisbach and W. E. Ferguson, to declare void transfers of real estate made by A. M. Dreisbach, when, it is alleged, he was insolvent.

The complaint recites that on February 13, 1914, A. M. Dreisbach filed a petition in bankruptcy, and that during 1911-12 and until December 20, 1912, Dreisbach was the owner of five pieces of land in the county of Tulare, and two lots in the town of Exeter.

It is alleged that while the owner of this property, or in April, 1911, A. M. Dreisbach and his son-in-law, T. W. Harvey, borrowed $2000 from the State Bank at Pomona, for which they gave their joint note. It is alleged that after making the note Harvey left California, after closing up his business. It is asserted that at the time he was insolvent.

It is further charged that A. M. Dreisbach, to delay and defraud his creditors, on December 20, 1912, deeded certain parcels of land to J. L. Henson, his son-in-law, William H. Dreisbach, his son, and W. E. Ferguson; that Ferguson gave notes amounting to $16,000 to Minnie B. Henson, the daughter of A. M. Dreisbach, secured by a mortgage on the premises involved.

The trustee in bankruptcy asks that the transfer be set aside, and the propery restored to the estate of the alleged bankrupt.

DR. CROCKER moved to 221 Fifth, near Broadway. Diseases of women.

JAUNT JINX OF TRAGEDY TRAILS GAY MOTORISTS.

One Slain, Another Dying, Arrests, Suits, Scandal, Insanity.

Relentless Hoodoo Dogs Everyone Connected With Early Morning Smash-up—Prominent Whittier Families Under the Shadow—Fatal Shooting at Sawtelle. Editor May Face Manslaughter Charge.

TO START the jinx on a tragic journey, take a joyful group of persons in a racing auto and ram into a wagonload of potatoes at 2 o'clock in the morning. The jinx starts as the spuds sputter in contact with the suddenly-stopped engine, and it leaps on rolling.

Here is the net result of a collision in April 7, brought up to date yesterday with the filing of a suit for damages—and the end is not yet in sight:

Automobile speeding in from Venice at 2 o'clock a.m., containing Harry Holdsworth, manager and part owner of the Whittier News; Grant McCarthey, a real estate man and prominent Elk, and Fay and Florence Stone, daughters of a wealthy Whittier druggist, collides with wagonload of potatoes at Washington street and Broadway boulevard.

Robert Mundell, a Civil War veteran, walking at the side of his load of potatoes, is perhaps fatally injured. David Young, another old soldier, and partner of Mundell, is also badly hurt.

The auto party flees the scene and fails to report the accident; later Holdsworth is accused of reckless driving, but escapes the charge when his family of Mundell offers to settle all damages for $6000.

Holdsworth returns to Whittier the following day and the matter is hushed up.

Earl Mundell, his son, is forced to remain in Sawtelle to be near his father, after having arranged to move to Los Angeles. He is slain in Sawtelle by Louis J. Evans, who is now in the County Jail.

The jinx still works overtime by bringing about a disagreement between Holdsworth, owner of the ill-fated car, and the Mundell family. Mundell's daughter is appointed his guardian ad litem, and sues Holdsworth and McCarthey for $60,000 damages for injuries to Mundell.

Holdsworth's wife writes from Denver that she has decided to cut short her visit and return home. She is ignorant of the joy ride in which her husband participated.

David Young brings suit for $10,125 damages for injuries sustained, naming Holdsworth and McCarthey.

Mundell is unconscious and is expected to die at any moment. If he does, his daughter, Mrs. Edith Knauff, who is his guardian, will probably ask the District Attorney to issue a manslaughter charge against Holdsworth.

That brings the record up to midnight last night, and the chances are that the jinx is not more than half through with his work of blighting every person connected with the collision. Even the potatoes were mashed.

The remarkable string of circumstances attending the ill-fated joy ride that night in April has wound its way through the police department, attorneys' offices, the Juvenile Court, the District Attorney's office, and has cast

Miss Florence Mylin,

Heroine of an astronomical romance which will be crowned in this city in June when she becomes the bride of a young observer in the Weather Bureau.

'Straordinary 'Stronomy.

STAR FALLS; FASTENS SELF ON HER FINGER.

THE STARS, looking down upon Washington, D. C., a year ago, saw the eager, upturned countenances of Andrew L. Hamrick, an expert of the Weather Bureau, and Miss Florence E. Mylin of Manchester, Mass., well known in social circles at the capital.

Hamrick's work required that he be a student of astronomy. Miss Mylin said that she, too, was interested in the heavenly bodies, and expressed a desire to know more about them. Hamrick volunteered to be her instructor.

From an observatory and also afield, teacher and pupil gazed at the silent worlds. Together they went in search of Hesperus, the evening star, and once it is said they were chaperoned at the rising of Phosphorus, the morning star.

Under the instruction of Hamrick the young woman learned how to locate the constellations of Ursa Major, Ursa Minor and Cassiopeia, the w-shaped group which is neighbor to the North star.

But the mystic starlight—it shone through the eyes of teacher and pupil into their hearts, and the records in Los Angeles tell the rest. They are to be married June 11 in this city.

Hamrick was sent to the local weather bureau six months ago to assist Forecaster Ford A. Carpenter in establishing a frost-warning system for the citrus people.

The wedding will take place at the home of Mrs. F. E. Williams, No. 677 Carondelet street. For a few days previous to the wedding Miss Mylin will be a guest at the home of Mrs. F. A. Shea, No. 823 West Twenty-third street.

Hamrick was in the government service in Washington six years. Miss Mylin and her mother, Mrs. Emma S. Mylin, have spent their winters in Washington for several years.

Miss Mylin is an accomplished musician and a tennis enthusiast. Hamrick was a member of the Washington Country Club and a successful golf player. They expect to enjoy the outdoor life of Southern California to the fullest.

MAY AVOID BOND ISSUE DECLARES MULHOLLAND.

Chief Engineer Tells City Council How San Fernando Valley System Can Be Built Without Imposing Further Burden on Taxpayers of Los Angeles—Annexation Plan Meets With Strong Approval.

AT A special meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon its members informally indorsed and commended the plan to serve 85,000 acres of land in San Fernando Valley with water. Chief Engineer Mulholland, the Board of Public Service Commission, the Annexation Commission and a large delegation of the San Fernando Valley Irrigation Committee were present. It was decided to reduce the entire plan to writing at the earliest possible moment, the agreement to be then ratified by the City Council and other bodies so far as is in their power.

Reiterating his assertions of ten years ago that the people of Los Angeles after building the aqueduct would probably never need to vote further bonds, but that extensions could be made from revenues, Chief Engineer Mulholland stated that he believes the city can take care of its share of the trunk lines and of the construction of Chatsworth reservoir without resorting to a bond issue.

The total cost of the city's part of the work is estimated at about $1,500,000. Of this amount the Chatsworth reservoir will cost more than $600,000. This, Mulholland said, need not be built at once, and when built will not require the full amount of money, as there is reason to believe the site can be bought on time. One item of the $2,750,000 that San Fernando, through its committee, has agreed to pay, is $214,000, the valley's proportionate part of the cost of the Los Angeles city trunk line. This line has already been built, and the amount can be used in construction of other lines. Additional amounts can be secured from water revenues, including those from the new territory.

MUTUALLY BENEFITED.

Mulholland and President Whiffen of the City Council assured the San Fernando delegation that Los Angeles will build the trunk lines and all the lines needed to serve the district as planned and agreed upon. H. C. Hubbard, chairman of the San Fernando committee, said that all the people of San Fernando Valley desired was such assurance, and that the manner of financing such construction is of little consequence to them provided the lines are built and the district supplied with water.

Mulholland's announcement was a gratifying surprise to the Councilmen, who expressed the hope that the valley system can be built without resorting to further bond issues by this city. The San Fernando delegates were equally gratified, inasmuch as the announcement was coupled with definite assurances that their system will be built at once and will be adequate to serve all the lands. Mulholland told them that a survey of the proposed Chatsworth line, which will serve half the district, will be begun before noon today. Avoiding a bond issue is equally beneficial to the present city of Los Angeles and the residents of the territory to be annexed, as all share in proportion the burden of any aqueduct bonds.

President Whiffen urged the importance of proceeding without delay under the plan proposed. "It means more to Los Angeles," he said, "than the revenue to be derived, important though that may be, for to secure electrical energy and the great revenues accruing from it, it is first necessary to put the aqueduct water to use for irrigation and domestic purposes. I am in favor of carrying out this plan as quickly as possible."

EQUITABLE TO ALL.

Mulholland explained to the Council and others that the proposed district is assuming the cost of its distributing system, just as the consumers in this city have paid and are paying for water main extensions.

Engineer J. B. Lippincott, in explaining the details of the irrigation-district plan, said that the territory

WET FOR TEN DAYS AT LEAST, GROWLS WATTS.

WATTS, theoretically and in accordance with the outcome of the late election, "wet" by a majority of fourteen votes, is going to be "wet" for ten days, anyhow, whatever may happen after that.

The sizzling suburb off to the south'ard has discovered that there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip, especially if the cup happens to be the one that cheers.

A week ago the newly-elected City Council passed an ordinance regulating the sale and distribution of alcoholic liquors in accordance with the verdict at the polls. Monday the followers of the "dry" league presented the City Clerk with a very neatly-signed referendum petition, demanding that the liquor ordinance be rescinded.

As the referendum measure would place the liquor question in statu quo during the time it would take to decide the matter, the "drys" felt that they had gained a decided victory and fully expected their petition would be presented before the Council last night. Instead, the City Clerk availed himself of the ten days he is allowed in which to certify to the petition. In the meantime the Council, without a dissenting vote, granted two retail and one wholesale liquor license to T. C. and T. H. Heinaver, Doler Fields and Charles F. Doran, respectively.

The passing of ordinance No. 187, licensing the sale of liquor in the city of Watts last week, was the signal for the reawakening of activities among the "drys." Because at the last State election there were only 500 voters in the city of Watts, it required only fifty signers to the referendum petition.

It is said by those close to the powers that be that, when the ten days have elapsed and the City Clerk is forced to certify the petition, the Council will then rescind ordinance No. 187 and pass a new liquor ordinance. Then, if the "drys" still persist, this new ordinance will be a wide-open one and will take "the lid" off the town. In fact, to quote one of the "wet" faith, Vernon will have to take a back seat unless the "drys" let well enough alone.

The "drys" stoutly maintain that they will file new referendum petitions against every liquor ordinance the board passes and that they will at least keep the liquor interests hopping.

Now Watts is threatened with another lawsuit. When the bills were presented to the Council for payment, the claim of Miss Sarah A. Smith, City Treasurer, for $50 monthly salary, was rejected. Miss Smith is the only one of the "dry league" candidates elected April 13, and the retiring board, just before leaving office, voted to raise her salary from $25 to $50. Members of the new board declare this illegal. She refuses to accept $25.

BURGLARS AFTER SUPPLIES.

Burglars early yesterday morning entered the store of J. H. Wolters, No. 3531 South Vermont avenue, and stole about 400 pounds of sugar and fifty pounds of butter. They used a wagon to make away with the loot.

GLORIFICATION OF THE BABIES.

Biggest Children's Fiesta in History Here.

Whole Country to Take Part in Kids' Month.

Million Club Back of the Giant Project.

Preliminary plans for a great juvenile fiesta to be held in Los Angeles in 1915 were made yesterday at a meeting of the Million Club. Mrs. Kathleen Garrison was chosen chairman of the General Arrangement Committee.

Every phase of child life in America from the days of the aborigines to the present will be portrayed in pageants and exhibits, with the California child featured. A mammoth baby contest between representatives of the various States and nations is also planned.

"Let the men have their San Francisco and San Diego expositions," said Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, president of the club. "We women will have a baby show and a juvenile exhibit and focus the attention of all mothers on Los Angeles.

"It will also give us an opportunity to prove," she continued, "that we women have the business and executive ability which makes us good timber for the Lieutenant-Governorship."

Representatives of various school associations were present and commended the fiesta idea. It is the intention of the club to immediately seek the aid of all such organizations in furthering the work.

BIGGEST ON EARTH.

The plans of the club contemplate an exhibit of its kind without a parallel in the history of the world and of subtle attractions to mothers, and in fact to parents generally.

As outlined, the fiesta will open, probably during the summer of 1915, with a street pageant in which children of all nations will participate and their handicraft will be shown in the decoration of floats. Following will come a pageant, probably in the new Greek Theater in Griffith Park, showing the history of the child in SELECTING TEAMS FOR RELIEF WORK.

WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN WILL BE STARTED AT LATER DATE THAN ANNOUNCED.

Owing to a need of more time in perfecting the working organization the Executive Campaign Committee of the United Charities yesterday decided to postpone its campaign to raise $100,000 for relief work in Los Angeles during the year to come until after the middle of June. June 3 to June 10 were the dates which had been set for a whirlwind campaign lasting one week, but the committee felt that more time was needed for selecting team captains, drilling and volunteer workers, and making other preliminary preparations.

Leo V. Youngworth, general chairman of the Campaign Committee, assisted by O. R. W. Robinson, general chairman on team organization, and his two aides, Mrs. Benjamin Goldman, colonel of the women's division, and P. P. Doherty, colonel of the men's division, have the work of selecting captains well under way.

The movement is meeting with enthusiastic support, and each day large numbers of volunteer workers are presenting themselves at the United Charities temporary headquarters in the Marsh-Strong building for enrollment in the big volunteer army that will be turned loose on the opening day of the campaign.

Col. William M. Garland, chairman of the Finance Committee, is picking his ten associate members on that body, and will give out the complete list this week.

CLEANS OUT COURTROOM.

Curious Spectators Are Sent Away to Seek Amusement in Other Superior Courts.

One man had the grace to stand up when Judge Jackson asked the men and women in the divorce court yesterday if they were curious spectators.

The inquiry was brought about by the reluctance of Mrs. Mary Fraser to testify before the crowded courtroom, of private incidents in her married career.

Satisfied that the man had company, Judge Jackson began an individual investigation with the result that he was joined by thirty-seven others, most of whom were men.

"This is a courtroom," said the Judge, "and there is real tragedy here. The tragedy of wrecked married lives is not amusing. You will find many other courts here, and if you go to them, perhaps you may be amused."

OPENING WEEK OF OPTIMISM.

Prosperity Celebrated With Happy Banquet.

Buoyant Spirit Marks Plans for a Campaign.

Smile!
Have hope!
Be confident!
Smile some more!
Then keep on smiling!

For the glooms were officially drummed out of town last night and a broad grin settled down upon Los Angeles. The grin will broaden until it covers the face of a continent, given impetus by prosperity week that opens next Monday with visiting dollar day.

Nimble Dollar, sworn enemy of the sock and safety-deposit box, made his first formal appearance last night at a banquet at the Alexandria, given under the auspices of the Los Angeles division of the National Sales Managers' Association. He will be on the jump from now on, routing pessimism from its last stand in a back-to-the-wall defense and spreading optimism in an infectious wave over the country.

What's it all about?

The 200 or so banqueters last night gave it out officially that prosperity is here; that it is founded upon confidence and that confidence is founded upon the smile, the joyous front, the talisman of happiness. To further demonstrate this fact, next week is to be known as prosperity week, when every man, woman and child in Los Angeles will be impressed with the buoyant, bubbling fact that there is neither occasion nor necessity for pessimism.

SMILE A TAG.

Every article sold in Los Angeles next week will be tagged with a smile. Every citizen will be confronted with a happy reminder at every turn. All week the city will be brilliant with smiles. To start it off auspiciously there will be a parade of prosperity on Saturday, and on Sunday the pulpits will send forth messages of hope and faith and good cheer.

The idea came from R. B. Armstrong, sales manager of the Guy M. Rush Company, and was enlarged upon by the sales managers. Last night he said the salesmen of the city who are on the firing line, are creating optimism by their smiles and their confidence.

"Monday will be visiting dollar day," he said. "I want every man in Los Angeles to spend an extra $5 or $3 or $1 on that day for something he has hesitated to buy. Put the dollar in circulation. The Los Angeles spirit will cover the continent."

President Cole of the Chamber of Commerce smiled a sermon, for his voice had been lost in Arizona. He said the idea would be contagious.

WAS IT, MAYBE, WILD WILLIAM OF ORANGE?

When an auto broke off a fire plug,

At Temple street and Grand avenue yesterday. The dark thing in the middle of the wet is the hero who went in and put his thumb over the belching orifice.

HURLING a flood of water nearly to the second stories of buildings, drenching passers-by and almost inundating a near-by barber shop, a miniature geyser caused by the breaking of a water plug drew a big crowd to Temple street and Grand avenue yesterday morning. The plug was broken when an automobile crashed over the curb. According to a patrolman who arrived at the scene just as the car departed, the driver was apparently in great haste to get away. The car number is 73,044. The automobile register gives W. J. Cheney, Santa Ana, as the owner.

Cheney is known to his friends at Santa Ana as "Wild Bill" and, according to these friends, is the last person in the world to run over a water hydrant. In fact, so skillful does he drive his car that the story told of a wild drive made by Cheney from Santa Ana to the Irvine ranch last spring, is given general credence.

According to these friends, Cheney drove to Santa Ana during the plowing season in search of additional help for his big ranch. He secured nine men and loaded them in his Columbia touring car. Then he started at full speed for the ranch. The run was made in record time, but upon arriving at the ranch, Cheney found his load of nine workmen had decreased to a lone passenger. The rest had been spilled along the road. Those who know Cheney's ability to drive an auto under any circumstances are loth to believe him guilty of hitting the water hydrant.

BLOODY TRAIL EXTENDS MILES.

BURGLAR WOUNDED IN DUEL IN EARLY MORNING.

Makes Unsuccessful Attempt to Rob House, Is Detected, Leaps Through Window and Is Fired Upon—Teamsters See Man Fleeing Toward Burbank.

Though a trail of blood extending almost to Burbank was left in his wake, officers have been unable to find a trace of the burglar who fought a duel and was shot by P. L. Clarke at an early hour yesterday morning. Believed to have been severely injured by a bullet from Clarke's revolver, which he fired from the verandа of his home, No. 2032 Huron street, the robber retreated after an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Clarke residence.

The revolver duel was begun by the burglar, who was found in the home by Clarke. Hearing a prowler in the house, Clarke started to investigate. He saw a man leap through the window. Clarke ran to the porch just as the intruder opened fire. Clarke returned the fire.

The burglar, struck by the bullet, screamed and retreated into the street. The police investigated, but were unsuccessful in finding a clew except some blood splotches on the walk near the Clarke home. Teamsters declare they saw a man driving a white horse in the direction of Burbank. A number of blood spots were found not far from that place.

STRONG-ARM TACTICS.

Attorneys Held to Answer for Using Questionable Methods of Making Collections.

As the result of alleged strong-arm methods practiced by attorneys and collection agents, Attorneys W. E. Shaw and W. J. Hittson were placed on the grill in a brisk preliminary examination before Justice Cassidy yesterday on a charge of grand larceny. They were held to answer to the Superior Court under $2500 bonds.

The charge was sworn to by J. W. Mock and his mother, Louise J. Mock, alleging that the defendants had forcibly seized two horses worth $400 to satisfy a $7 debt, which the complainants were willing to pay.

Deputy District Attorney Graham explained that the defendants had arbitrarily seized the horses contrary to all rights of Mrs. Mock and her son, who were overawed by the attorneys and alleged constables. The seizure of the horses was made under an alleged bill of sale.

"We intend to put a stop to strong-arm tactics practiced by certain attorneys to collects debts," said Deputy Graham. "We receive many complaints weekly against certain collection agencies and lawyers."

THE WINNER.

Fifteen Thousand, Six Hundred and Seventeen Separate "Liner" Advertisements Were Printed in The Times for the Seven Days From Monday, May 18th, to Sunday, May 24th, Inclusive.

The prize of $5.00 in gold has been awarded to Mrs. A. E. Deyoe, No. 313 West Third street, city, whose estimate of 15,618 "Liners" was the first nearest correct answer received in last week's contest. This answer was received at The Times office at 1:30 o'clock p.m. Sunday. The estimates of James Peppel and Mrs. A. I. Keller were as nearly correct as that of Mrs. Deyoe, but Mr. Peppel's estimate was not received until 5:20 p.m. Sunday, and Mrs. Keller's not until 5:50 p.m. Monday. As Mrs. Deyoe has won two prizes, she is not eligible to again compete in this contest.

During the week mentioned, The Times printed 4467 more separate "Liners" than its nearest contemporary.

On Monday, June 1st, and on each Monday thereafter, The Times will award $5.00 in gold to the person making the nearest correct estimate of the total number of classified, or "liner," advertisements printed in The Times during the preceding seven days.

Answers should not be submitted until after the publication of The Times for Sunday of the week for which the contest is held, and they must be delivered at The Times office, Broadway at First street, before 10 a.m. the following Tuesday.

Estimates will be numbered in the order of their receipt at The Times office, and the prize will be awarded each week to the person sending in the first correct, or nearest correct, answer. Any persons winning the weekly prize twice will be ineligible to compete in succeeding contests.

The name of the prize winner for the preceding week will be published every Wednesday.

This contest is not open to employees of The Times-Mirror Company, and this company's advertisements should not be counted.

Address letters to "Contest Editor," New Times Building, Los Angeles, Cal.

Month after month, year in and year out, The Times regularly prints more advertising than any other newspaper in America, and more "liners" than the two other Los Angeles morning papers combined.

Mundell, aged 74 years, married, and Young, aged 70, also married, have a potato ranch at Sawtelle. They were coming in to market on the morning of April 7, when Mundell alighted from the load to stretch his legs. He was walking beside the wagon when he heard the whirr of an engine and sensed the approach of danger. An automobile owned by Holdsworth and containing himself, McCarthey and the two girls, tried to avoid the wagon in its race with another inbound machine. Holdsworth turned in time to see Mundell walking at the side of the wagon and then crashed into it.

Another machine brought the autoists to the city while an ambulance was picking up Mundell. Holdsworth was sent in from Whittier the following morning. At Central Station he met Mrs. Knauff, Mundell's daughter, and other relatives. They were advised by the police that they could have Holdsworth arrested on two charges—reckless driving and failing to report the accident to the police. They asked, however, for a settlement, and demanded $6000.

Holdsworth couldn't pay it and finally Mrs. Knauff went to Attorney F. A. McDonald in the California building and brought suit through him, after having been appointed guardian.

GOES INSANE.

The complaint alleges that Mundell's skull was fractured, that a leg was broken and he was bruised and lacerated. It also sets out that the shock made him insane, and that he was damaged to the extent of $60,800, or six times the amount the family would have accepted.

SON SHOT, KILLED.

Earl Mundell, a son of the injured man, was engineer at the Soldiers' Home. He had planned to resign and come to Los Angeles. To be near his father, however, he decided to remain at the home. Twenty days after his father was injured he was shot and killed by Louis J. Evans in a quarrel over tools. Had it not been for the jinx Earl Mundell would not have been in a position to quarrel with Evans and therefore would still be alive.

M'CARTHEY ARRESTED.

McCarthey had been living at the Elks Club in Whittier and handling real estate. However, he came to Los Angeles shortly after the accident and here he met Bessie Woodruff, a freshman at the Manual Arts High School. The two were caught by the police in Elysian Park and McCarthey was charged with contributing to her delinquency.

Back in Whittier the Adams girls, well known to almost every one in the town, will be called as witnesses in the two actions and will star on the stand in the event that a manslaughter complaint is issued.

James Hawkins, a driver of the machine which brought the motorists to the city after the accident, alleges that all four were intoxicated. He is borne out in this by William Buss, a vendor of "wienies" at Washington and Main, who was near the scene of the accident, and by Florence Francis, No. 1043 Bryan street, who was riding with Buss.

WILLING TO FORGIVE.

Husband Relents, but Wife, Fearing His Anger, Disappears After Leaving Police Station.

D. L. Williams, automobile dealer, No. 1024 Diamond street, has relented. He is willing to forgive his 19-year-old wife for selling a taxicab which he had given her, but of this fact she is, apparently, unaware, and has disappeared.

Mrs. Williams, fearing to return home Tuesday night and face her husband, took refuge in the City Jail. Yesterday morning when she was released she disappeared.

Williams is making a search for her, declaring that he loves her and is willing to forgive.

GETS STIFF SENTENCE.

Police Judge White yesterday morning fined Yew Sing, a Chinese who operates a restaurant on Central avenue, $100 or 100 days in jail for having several lottery tickets in his possession.

Baking Day.

"THE TIMES" SCHOOL OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

EVERYONE, old or young, likes taffy. The older children like the verbal brand, while the youngsters can't get too much of the sugar-filled sort, but everybody "falls" for taffy, which is why today's lesson at The Times School of Domestic Science will prove a winner.

Today's lesson will be a baking lesson, and the class will learn how to make a taffy cake with a real taffy filling. Besides the candy cakes, Mrs. Haffner-Ginger has promised a chocolate cream cake.

This in itself is a big lesson, for the filling for this cake is not the ordinary chocolate icing, but a real, fluffy, creamy filling, that will be a positive treat when served on the delicious cake that Mrs. Haffner-Ginger says just goes with the chocolate—cream filling.

The lessons are so interesting that in spite of the encroaching summer months, the class in domestic science continues to grow and thrive. Of course, the attractive, tasty dishes that are demonstrated help a lot along this line, even if each member of the class gets only a bite or so as a sample.

Then, too, the class has its own way most of the time about what the subject for the next lesson is to be, and that adds an attraction to the work. Of course Mrs. Haffner-Ginger very tactfully leads the ideas of the class along the line she wishes them to go, suggesting several different lessons from which to choose the next day's instruction. Just the same it gives the housewives an opportunity of planning ahead what they would like to learn to cook.

The class has asked for a demonstration of the big gray electric stove and in all probability Mrs. Haffner-Ginger will bake at least one of the cakes in the electric cooker.

The manufacturers have found out the value of securing Mrs. Haffner-Ginger's assistance in placing their goods before the housewives, and thus each lesson she has some new cooking feature with which to attract the members of the class.

The lessons begin at 2 o'clock p.m. and are usually concluded by 4:30, so a visit to the cooking school makes a very pleasant and profitable afternoon.

The lessons are being conducted in the auditorium on the second floor of The Times Building and are open to all who wish to attend.

CALMLY ADMITS STRIKING WIF

Judge Castigates Clergym Who Hits Woman.

"You Ought to Take Off Th Garb," His Advice.

Sunday He Will Be Ordain in the Ministry.

Rev. Duncan S. Merwin of S Pasqual and Allen streets, Pasaden who also spells his name Mervyn and who, according to report, is to be ordained Sunday in order to tak charge of an Episcopal church in P toro, yesterday admitted in the Su perior Court that he had struck h wife.

Indignation boiled, then bubble over in the breast of Judge Jackson the scene was dramatic. Mrs. Mer win had been haled before the Lunac y Commission on a charge of insan ity sworn to by her husband. She testified that he had struck her.

"Did you strike your wife?" asked Judge Jackson.

"Yes," was the reply.

After deliberating, Rev. Mr. Mer win explained: "She was going to compel me to get a divorce."

"When?" sharply asked the court.

"Six months ago—after she hit me."

"Did you strike her more than once?"

"Yes—a year before that."

"Did you knock her down either time?"

"I pushed her down."

"You did that after you thought she was insane?" Anger was now struggling with judicial calmness.

"Yes."

Anger overflowed.

"Do you know what you ought to do?" vehemently exclaimed the court. Without waiting for a reply, he went on:

"You ought to take that garb off. The idea of a minister of the gospel who thought his wife was insane, to strike her."

Judge Jackson stopped short for fear of the bitterness which strove to leap out on the head of the abashed pastor.

He ordered Mrs. Merwin to Redlands for thirty days to regain her health.

Efforts last night to confirm the report that Merwin was to be ordained Sunday resulted in a refusal on the part of the clergy at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral to either deny or confirm the statement. Dean MacCormack is in San Francisco.

LOSES PROPERTY RIGHTS.

Imperial Valley Land Goes to Attorney Who Contested Entry Made by Settlers.

Carbonate Ore Johnson, who, in 1909, was convicted here on the charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with the operations of the Johnson Gem Company of San Diego, and sentenced to four months in the County Jail at Riverside, lost 320 acres of land in Imperial Valley yesterday, when a judgment rendered by Register Buren and Receiver Robinson was affirmed by the General Land Office.

Gordon Ingle, a San Diego attorney, won the land.

Johnson, and George E. Jenks of San Diego, arranged that Johnson should go into the Imperial Valley and locate the land under a desert entry for the joint benefit of both. Jenks was to pay the expenses. This was done, but after Johnson had entered the land in his own name, the evidence shows that he refused to divide with Jenks, according to the original agreement.

Ingle, learning of the arrangement between Johnson and Jenks, and learning that a deal of that sort would be illegal, instituted a contest.

Jenks furnished the evidence to show that there was a partnership existing between Johnson and himself, and the local officers of the Land Office found that Johnson was in illegal possession and confirmed the right of Ingle to the entry. This view of the case has been affirmed by the General Land Office.

Johnson is a former Colorado man, and was given his peculiar name by parents in honor of the discovery of rich deposits of carbonate ore in the Centennial State about the time of his birth.

ARRESTS MECHANIC.

He Asserts That It Is Spite Work Because He Wouldn't Marry the Complainant.

J. W. Zimmerman, a mechanic living at No. 548 Ruth avenue, was arrested by Detectives McCann and Hare last night on complaint of Mrs. Alice Allen of No. 429 Towne avenue, who asserts that he stole a diamond ring and $150 in money while calling upon her on April 14.

Mrs. Allen said that the money and ring was in the room when Zimmerman entered but was missed a few minutes after he departed.

When questioned at the Police Station, the prisoner asserted that his arrest was the result of spite work as he had refused to marry the complainant when she made a proposal. He intimates that sensational evidence will be forthcoming at the trial.

VALUATION INCREASES.

Substantial Gain Is Made by Los Angeles County—Poll Tax Collections Equals Record.

Active work of taking assessments for Los Angeles county for the fiscal year of 1914-15 will close Saturday night, according to County Assessor Hopkins.

No effort has been made in taking assessments to raise the assessed valuations of the county, according to Hopkins. Equalization rather than material gain has been the aim. A substantial gain in valuations, however, is predicted, and the total valuation of the county is expected to go far above the $800,000,000 mark.

Poll tax collections already made exceed $250,000. This equals the record made up to August 1 of last year.

The Bank with the Efficient Service

This great army of men, women and children in all stations of life is being served by the German American Trust and Savings Bank.

Popularity is proof of Merit.

THE growth of this Institution, remarkable as it is, has not been surprising to those familiar with the German American's policies and ideals. Founded and administered by men of marked ability and judgment, the success of this Bank has been uninterrupted from the start.

So short a time as five years ago, the number of depositors was about half the present total. Our showing for the year 1913, in the face of general adverse conditions, was little short of phenomenal.

You business will be welcomed.

Children's Fiesta.

this country. It is expected that at least 2000 children will participate in this pageant.

At the close of the month to be given up to the fiesta will come the monster baby show. This may extend over two weeks or more, so as to feature the children of various nations on particular days. It was suggested yesterday that the Japanese child should be featured on one day, the Spanish child on another, the English, German, French and Italian on others, and so on through the list of the races which are or have been important in the making of California.

"A Japanese garden scene, with little Nipponese babies featured, would certainly be most attractive," suggested Mrs. Isidore Myers.

Of perhaps more interest to mothers will be a vast exhibition of child life and the medical and sanitary safeguarding of the vital spark in the bodies of "our rosebuds," as one woman phrased it. Here will be shown the work of the children in the schools, as well as mortality charts, and the always interesting baby incubator. The nations of the world will perhaps be asked to send exhibits of what their children are doing in the school.

WHOLE COUNTRY IN IT.

That this exhibit may have a nation-wide significance at least it is planned to ask mothers' organizations the country over to interest themselves in this exhibition. Schools will also be asked to participate. In fact, as soon as the preliminary plans are completed, it is the intention to issue a general invitation to mothers and schools to interest themselves in what Los Angeles intends to do for the child.

"We can vote, but we are mothers first," said Mrs. Myers. "We are proud of our children, but so are the mothers of all the world. If we can feature the baby here for one month we will do something that will touch the heartstrings of millions and will advertise the city throughout the world."

The pageant plans are yet in the formative stage. One idea is to stage a historically correct presentation of the child's modern rise to first importance in the hearts of all by showing first the Indian child about the tepees, then the child amid the hardships of pioneer life, the colonial child, the child of the Civil War period, and so down to the present.

Another idea is for a kaleidoscopic presentation of the lights and shadows of child life, the child of the slums set over against the child of the flower-enshrined homes of Southern California, for instance. Others would borrow from the play of "America," which was presented at the World Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893, and have children enact chapters from American history.

Members of the Million Club say frankly that they do not know how much it will cost to do all this. "We don't care," was one woman's words. "We only know that we are going to do it."

At present, the club has 300 members. It is planned, however, to immediately start an active campaign to increase the membership. One suggestion yesterday was that a juvenile million club be started as an appendage of the organization so that the children may be started to work early to create for the big 1915 show.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

J. N. McGillis, grocer, of Glendale, doing business at No. 338 Brand boulevard, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court, yesterday. The debts are scheduled at $64,129.58, of which $6397.38 are unsecured. The assets amount to $11,080, of which $3000 is real estate; $4000 in stock in trade, and $3540 claimed to be exempt.

William Gould, a book-keeper, owes $678, and has $50 with which to pay, according to a petition filed yesterday.

"BELLHOPS" FOR VILLA.

In a few days the Villa army will look like a conference of "bellhops" raising the union scale for tips. Unable to secure military uniforms, the rebel chieftain has ordered a consignment of "bellhop" uniforms for his ragged veterans of numerous rebellions. A worthy insignia, indeed. The "bellhop" is always wanting something. Villa—Oh, yes, we forgot. Mr. Bryan says Villa is a pure patriot.

BECKER AGAIN GUILTY.

It was a great day for law and order when a jury found Police Lieutenant Charles Becker of New York guilty for the second time on the same charge. Behind him stood the powerful police system fighting at every turn and angle to save from conviction the man who directed the execution of private vengeance by payment of blood-money. Four men have paid for their part in the crime with their lives. Becker was the instigator of the crime.

DIPLOMATIC ACCOMPLISHMENT.

All seems to be going on very well at the mediation conference. With all factions, including that of Mr. Wilson, represented, and no faction willing to bend in the least, it means that nothing is being done. Then if nothing is being done, there are no hard feelings, no bitter words, no threats and no portents—for if there were such things then something would be being done. And so, as everything is going on very well, the outlook is hopeful.

PROGRESSIVES NEED SACKCLOTH.

The Mellen revelations will undoubtedly cause a raid on the supply of sackcloth and ashes. Here, just as the owner of the party was getting ready to go on a campaign and drum up business—er, we mean votes—along comes evidence to show that this same owner—his name has slipped our memory—was one of those to whom Mellen went for advice on how to waste the stockholder's money. Query: Are any of the little stockholders of the New Haven road Progressives now?

REDEEMING CHINESE LANDS.

The American Red Cross Association proposes to raise $20,000,000 to reclaim 17,000 square miles or about 1,100,000 acres of land in China by the construction of a system of flood control along the Yellow and Huai rivers. The Red Cross has contributed about $100,000 per annum for the last eight years for the relief of Chinamen made destitute by the floods in China. The $20,000,000 which it is proposed to raise would not only relieve the Red Cross from further contributions but would pay it a million dollars a year income from revenue derived from reclaimed lands.

SENATORIAL GARBAGE HEAP.

The strong suit of Senator Brandegee of Connecticut is respecting people and things. He respects his fellow-Senators, Ham Lewis with his pink whiskers and embroidered vest not excluded. The Senator respects himself—of course. He even goes so far as to respect the Congressional Record. He seeks to curb the "extension of remarks" and "leave to print" practice that causes the Record to bulge like little Johnny's breeches after he has had his dinner. He objects to "making the Record an omnium gatherum of all sorts of miscellaneous information." He says it ought to be an official report of what is said and done on the floor, and not "a garbage heap, a receptacle for the surplus material that can be scissored out of the mess of printed publications that are doing so much damage in this country."

Of what does that damage consist? and by what publications is it inflicted? Is it a metropolitan daily or a bucolic hebdomadal that has been treading upon the corns of the Nutmeg State Senator?

SPEED MAD.

For no reason in the world except that a speed-mad crowd cheered him on, an automobile racer hurled his car over the course at the rate of 120 miles per hour yesterday afternoon. He gambled with death for a cheer and won; the crowd paid for the chance to get a thrill and maybe the sight of a man killed and a car wrecked. Some day he may lose, as many bold men, reckless in speed folly as he, have done. And then some crowd will get its thrill.

But a few years ago—it seems but a very few—when trains first began to rumble along at sixty miles an hour, people held up their hands in amazement. "A mile a minute!" Now the train that jogs along at a mile a minute is almost insignificant, especially on the Atlantic Coast where the speed competition in railroad circles makes minutes mean many dollars. The automobile that first went sixty miles an hour had its fame spread around the world. But now the ordinary family car can smash that "moderate" time on an evening's spin over the city boulevard—and frequently does.

Aeroplanes and their kindred mechanisms go at a terrific velocity, but then if one is flying it is just as well to go fast as slow, for it seems to be no safer to fall a few thousand feet at one initial precipitation than another.

But the speed craze, as all other forms of delirious excitement, grows. Probably fifteen years from now the automobiles will be going 200 miles an hour on the race courses, as it seems on our streets they sometimes approximate that speed at present.

MELLEN, ROOSEVELT AND MORGAN.

The systematic spoliation of the treasury of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad through a period of many years has been brought, with much detailed information, to the notice of the public by the present investigation of the government. Mr. Mellen, the president of the road during a large part of the time that "feeders" (which, as has been aptly said, developed into "suckers,") has told of his part in the thievery. He has represented himself to be a very honorable man who only did what the late J. P. Morgan told him to do. If anyone is to blame, explains Mr. Mellen, it is Morgan.

But Morgan is dead. He cannot answer. He cannot defend himself. His son, J. P. Morgan, Jr., has protested with indignation against the charges brought against his father, and has offered to government investigators all of the business and private records of his house, so that the name of his father may be cleared. Other directors of the road, whom Mr. Mellen has also implicated, took the stand yesterday to tell their stories. One of them was offered immunity for his testimony and waived it, saying that he had done nothing to cause him to need immunity, and that he would tell everything he knew, for he had been honest.

It seems fairly evident that not all of the directors of the New Haven can truthfully say as much. There is no question that some of them took the money belonging to the stockholders of the railroad to purchase for the company (practically of themselves) nearly worthless subsidiary lines at fabulous prices, and pocketed the loot. Mr. Mellen says it was Morgan. He lays the blame on a dead man. Mr. Mellen was president of the road at that time, and in admitting—even if it were true—that he allowed any man to rob the stockholders that he represented, he is a craven and a criminal.

He freely admits that he broke faith with his fellow-men—the wage earners and widows who had placed their sums in New Haven stock, having full confidence in the integrity of its officials. But such an admission is not sufficient for Mr. Mellen. In an effort to save a few patches and shreds of respectability for himself and to escape the consequences of a criminal indictment he tries to lay the full blame on the grave of a friend. We do not know whether Morgan directed those deals, as Mellen says, or if he had retired from financial work and took no part in them, as J. P. Morgan, Jr., avows. But we do know that Mellen has been shameless in his efforts to escape culpability by pulling back the shroud of the dead—who, during his lifetime, was a friend and supporter of Mr. Mellen—and saying: "There is the guilty man." Whatever Morgan may have been, Mellen is an ingrate, a traitor and a dog.

How could these things confessed by Mellen be? How could such rotten deals be carried through? How could Mellen put them over? How could Morgan unload such inflated and impossible valuations of pety and profitless concerns on the buying public? The answer probably is one word—"prestige"—Morgan's prestige did it. The Philadelphia Record thus sees it:

"Morgan's bete noir was competition. If he could get rid of that he didn't care what it cost him. He bought Connecticut trolley lines at about twice what they were worth. Even the always docile and generally-awed Mellen suffered the ejaculation of 'Jerusalem!' to escape his lips when he learned what Mr. Morgan paid for the Worcester Railroad. For Carnegie's steel properties he paid twice, or more than twice, what Carnegie had the year before offered them to Frick for, and Frick lost the million he paid for the option because he couldn't raise so much money. When Morgan combined a lot of steamship lines he paid phenomenal prices for the lines that were doing a good business.

"Apparently he never haggled over the price. If he wanted a thing he bought it without making any effort to beat down the seller, or to find out what the property was really worth. He had a theory, and in the main it had been justified. His prestige in the financial world was such that he could sell anything. He could always get all the money his purchase was going to cost. He was never without a few millions at his immediate command, and his friend Baker had a few millions that he would put into anything with Morgan, and the two of them knew a lot of capitalists who would take any securities they underwrote. And Morgan had unbounded confidence in his ability to get the money back out of the public if he could only shut off that accursed competition."

Mr. Mellen was known for many years as the "uncrowned king of New England." He was a sure-enough Napoleon of finance. Waterloo has been fought and St. Helena is in sight. All Napoleons meet their Waterloo. Mr. Mellen dominated railroads, electric lines, steamship lines and other industries. His organization controlled politics, or made an expensive effort at securing the control. Morgan was his friend. Morgan backed him. Morgan made him president of the New Haven. But Mr. Mellen was caught in the jam of an investigation, and at once he not only implicated his friends, but placed the responsibility on the man who could not answer.

It was no surprise to those familiar with Theodore Roosevelt's record and hypocrisy to see that Mr. Mellen's confessions also implicated the braggart President whom this country was unfortunate enough to have for almost two terms. T. Roosevelt is not dead. He can answer and, as usual, probably will make the answer an autobiographical sketch of what he thinks of himself.

Mr. Mellen said he frequently conferred with Mr. Roosevelt (while President of this nation) on business matters. Mr. Mellen said, under oath, that he "admired Theodore Roosevelt very much, and I did not want to do anything contrary to his wishes."

Evidently Mr. Mellen did not tell Roosevelt that Morgan was "doing the buying." Mellen seems to have posed before the President as the big man who wanted to pet Roosevelt, for at that time Roosevelt wielded the "big stick" and could make it uncomfortable for some of the trusts that did not meet with his approval. Just what requirements were needed to gain this approval cannot be arrived at except by inference. Mr. Mellen admits that he contributed enormous sums—$50,000 and so at a time—to Roosevelt's campaign fund. Roosevelt approved of Mellen.

Mr. Mellen went to Roosevelt when thinking of buying the Boston and Maine system. Mr. Mellen says that as nearly as he can remember this is what took place: "The reason I gave him why it seemed to me desirable to buy the Boston and Maine shares he (Roosevelt) said appealed to him, and if there were no legal questions involved, and if he were in my place, he would be disposed to do what he plainly saw I was disposed to do—that is, to acquire the shares."

Thus it was that T. Roosevelt—the Progressive leader, the prophet of reform, the poseur of exalted civic righteousness—gave advice to the president of the New Haven road in deals pertaining to the spoliation of the stockholders, and gave it while he was President of the United States.

In this connection it is to be remembered that Mr. Roosevelt also gave, if not advice, at least permission to the steel trust (in which Perkins—heavy contributor to Roosevelt campaigns—was a conspicuous figure) to absorb the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, and Roosevelt promised that trust immunity from prosecution by the government.

Can any citizen who knows of Roosevelt's surreptitious connections in finance fail to wonder how many more instances of a similiar nature there are of which the public knows nothing? Some day, by a series of accidents, another ex-railroad president may be forced to reveal the methods by which his system despoiled his treasury under the Roosevelt regime, and perhaps will tell of the encouraging advice given by Roosevelt, but we do not believe that there are many other ex-railroad presidents who will be so craven as to lay the blame on a dead friend.

RAILROADS ACTUALLY IMPERILED.

If the trust bills now before Congress are enacted and enforced, as it is not unlikely they will be, Judge Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific, in all earnestness has said that many railroad systems would find themselves in the embarrassing situation of not being able to engage in interstate commerce.

Those familiar with railroad conditions—none of whom, unfortunately, seem to be serving in Congress—show conclusively that the passage of the proposed trust measures will, to a greater or less degree, cause the disintegration of every big railroad system in the country. These measures provide that "no corporation shall engage in interstate commerce if upon its managing board or among its officers there is any person who is serving in a like capacity with a competing corporation."

It has only been through the close and harmonious association of the railroad officials that traffic agreements have been obtained which enable shippers and passengers to be saved from the annoyance and heavier expense of having to deal with each road separately. The railroads have co-operated, and so have brought about that which, for traveling and shipping purposes, amounts to one system. The proposed trust measure will cut the network of railroads into individual systems and set the country back to the days prior to co-operation. Congress seems to be working on the theory that cut-throat competition is the life of trade. There is not a business man in the United States but knows that unrestrained competition is the most perilous form of conducting business, and that success to the men interested, and satisfaction to the public, can only be gained by co-operation.

In these trust bills it is forbidden that a banker shall serve on any railroad board. Congress has lately adopted the attitude that bankers are criminals who should only be allowed to operate within such limitations as may be prescribed by law. Of that subject Judge Lovett says: "We often need the advice of a banker. Another consideration is that we get capital from abroad. Foreign investors do business through bankers. Such investors want assurance, frequently, that the banker is connected with the corporation and is in a position to watch the investments of those whom he represents."

The argument, which we believe is fair, has been advanced that the railroad system should not be punished if it has one of these to be newly made illegal directors on its board, especially as that punishment provides that the railroad cannot run its trains. The offending director should be held responsible—not the stockholders.

In all this legislating against the railroads, the fact seems to be ignored that they are not the property of the men who hold the official positions of the roads. The railroads belong to the people of the country—the stockholders. Many savings banks hold railroad securities. These belong to the depositors; it is their money that bought them, and the dividends help pay interest on their deposits. Widows and wage-earners, anxious to have an income, are heavily invested in the railroads, and the discriminating legislation against the railroads injures, and injures needlessly, thousands upon thousands of the nation's citizens—to say nothing of the inconveniences that will arise in shipping and traveling if the railroad systems are forced into deterioration.

Judge Lovett says that these proposed measures "would seriously endanger the safety of every large railroad system in the United States. I cannot put it too strong. The new law should not be applied to present conditions. They should be left to such an adjustment as the government may see fit to make under the Sherman Act. If the bill should be passed in its present form it would mean that these great systems, the growth and development of years, would have to disintegrate."

DISSATISFIED GOMPERS.

Sam Gompers and his cabinet are very much dissatisfied with the rulings of the United States Supreme Court in their cases. The original sentence of Sam was set aside by the Supreme Court on the ground that he was adjudged guilty of contempt on the application of a party in a civil suit, and he should have been punished by fine and not by imprisonment. The second sentence was set aside on the ground that proceedings were begun for Sam's punishment more than three years after his acts and were, therefore, barred by the statute of limitations.

What Sam wanted was a ruling of the Supreme Court that the boycott was legitimate and the injunction against it was wrong, and that the labor leaders were, therefore, guilty of no offense in violating it. Sam claims that members of a labor union have a constitutional right to surround the place of business of one who employs non-union workmen, and insult both employer and employed. This he claims is but exercising the right of free speech that is guaranteed by the Federal Constitution.

The Supreme Court having failed to give Sam the moral vindication that he sought, he will press his bill now before Congress to prohibit the issuance of injunction by Federal courts in cases of "labor disputes." In this he will be assisted by Secretary Wilson and maybe by the secretary's namesake.

Going or Coming?

FOLLY AS IT FLIES.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

When lovely woman stoops to folly,
She hands us out a little jolly—
In her demurest way.
It makes the heart seem young and tender;
The sun takes on an added splendor—
Yet man will have to pay.
The silver linings to our clouds are not stitched in by the dressmakers.
Not by the glittering gates of Gaza!
The male mind has two conceptions of a dressmaker. One picture presents a hatchet-faced, bony person of doubtful but discreet age, who has never been kissed and seldom tempted. She lunches on pickles and sage tea and reads Laura Jean Libbey for dissipation. The other is a giddy young thing of Parisian bent who wears spool-heeled shoes in her bath and does all her sums in yellow-backed currency. Really one is a seamstress and the other a modiste, but both are faced with great embarrassment by the all-eyed head of the house. A great hulk of a man with the footprints of a white hope will curl up and shiver like a hairless Mexican pup in the presence of his wife's dressmaker.

Sometimes she is of the kind that comes and visits with the family for a week or so, bringing her trunk and curling irons with her and disposing of all the household toggery problems at one fell swoop. One of this sort is supposed to make it more economical for you and only costs you about $39 a day while she is around.

Usually the dressmaker likes to do all the shopping incidental to her profession. There is presumed to be a commission or a profit of some kind in the transaction, but sometimes she will want a foot and a half more of the lace insertion for the breastworks of your wife's pinochle gown and will ask you to step into a store and match it for her while you are down town. You will take orders from your wife's dressmaker that you wouldn't take from the President and therefore you are presently embarked on your delicate mission. Possibly at the first store you visit you haven't nerve enough to tell your errand, but after the ice is broken the going is less difficult and at the third or fourth store you find that you can talk with the languorous lady of the laces without reddening clear to the ears. Maybe you get what you want and maybe you don't. It all depends on the way the dressmaker feels about it when you return.

It may be frankly stated in large type that the average man will enter the torture chamber of the family dentist with more sangfroid, aplomb and savoir faire than he will face his wife's dressmaker—albeit she is the village cut-up.

The swell group of mantua-makers at Paris, Kentucky, hasten to assure us that the new gowns for next season will contain more material. They had to else the ladies would soon be wearing porous plasters for full evening dress. The new skirts will be a trifle shorter but considerable fuller—like a Monrovia sport who comes to town the day after an election.

The death rate among dames who could not dodge the gasoline gondolas or climb on trolley cars because of their skin-tight skirts, has become so great that something had to be done. If the fashion kept up we might even have run out of women, for the sex is flooded with flossy souls who would rather die than be unfashionable. Some of these skirts were so tight that they had to be put on with a shoehorn, and when a woman was in a hurry she had to pedestrianize after the jerky and incoherent manner of the hop-toad.

The promised change in style may also bring about a change in the corset. We understand that this burglar-proof garment has been running from the waist to below the knees and has been so tight that some girls look as if they were done up in splints. Sometimes we have imagined that greater comfort, yet a still tighter fit, would result if the corset were merely painted on the body by some capable artist in oils. When a girl desired a change she could take it off with a turpentine bath or have herself scraped with a putty-knife.

The fashions have been running wild for several seasons, but in the passing judgment of the average man they have never been quite so frivolous and indefensible as at the present moment. It is pretty hard to imagine a grown man making love to one of these birds of paradise, but possibly they keep on doing it. And the girls themselves seem to enjoy it if they can array themselves so abandonedly that legislators will seriously consider the framing of laws to defend the sex from their own fashions.

If the women would wear regulation pants less would be thought of it. They could at least run around the block and climb a tree in that case. But for them to try and shove two shapely limbs into one trouser leg gets the masculine goat. They cannot even fall down gracefully and we shudder to think what would happen were a herd of Texas steers to break loose in Broadway. The moving picture rights ought to be worth 75 cents at any rate.

No specific costume for the woman in politics has yet been devised and I hesitate about going prospecting. Should a lady be elevated to the honorable office of Lieutenant-Governor it would depend largely on the incumbent herself whether she came into the Senate chamber looking like Portia or Anna Held. From Eve and Dr. Mary Walker to Otero and Lillian Russell there is a deal of picturesque wandering.

We had a little debutante in our neighborhood and she had a coming-out gown that was made from a late Paris model. When I saw her last that evening she was coming out all right—in fact she was about all out except the hips and I turned away lest they should also break out with the rest of her heaving anatomy.

Birds of a Feather.

[Washington Star:] "They say that birds suffer when their feathers are removed by collectors."

"Not so much as women seem to suffer when feathers are removed by customs collectors."

Was Not to Blame.

[London Opinion:] "Didn't I tell you the last time you were here," said the magistrate sternly to the prisoner who had been celebrating not wisely but too well, "that I never wanted you to come before me again?"

"Yes, sir," replied the prisoner, "but I couldn't make the policeman believe it."

Reason for Laughter.

[London Tatler:] Boy: Please, doctor, will you come and see father at once?

Doctor: What's the matter with him?

Boy: He can't stop laughing, sir.

Doctor: What on earth is he laughing at?

Boy: Mother's caught her tongue in the mangle.

The amendments to the omnibus appropriation bill in the House provide that labor organizations shall not be construed to be illegal combinations in restraint of trade under the anti-trust laws; yet there are no more vicious combinations in restraint of the freedom of action in the world than labor unions. The Sam Gompers anarchists appear to have Woodrow Wilson on the run.

State-wide conferences of Republicans are taking place all over the country, having in view the amalgamation of the various forces in the coming campaign. The disaffected leaders of the Bull Moose herd still gnaw a file and protest, but the votes are getting together. TO MME. NORDICA.

Queen of song birds, art thou singing
In some realm beyond our ken?
Is death to thy vision bringing Vistas new and fairer when

Earth has yielded thee her treasure
And her glory and her fame,
Given thee in generous measure,
Heralded afar thy name?

—Not for naught, for thou hast earned it,
The applause we gladly gave;
Patient work, thou never spurned it,
Genius made thee half a slave!

Is thy vibrant voice still trilling
Far from earth's unfeeling mass,
Other ears, maybe, a-thrilling,
Softening, maybe, other hearts?

In our memory floats the magic
Of thy bell-like tones so true,
And we weep at fate so tragic
That strange worlds thou dared to woo!

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

The Ruskin Art Club closed its year Tuesday in a blaze of golden glory. This is not a mere figure of speech or a poetic fancy, but it is the literal truth. If you could have taken a peep into the Blanchard art gallery that adjoins the clubrooms you would have said so yourself. Against the soft gray walls bloomed the gorgeous golden blossoms of our sunny land—poppies and pansies, marigolds, coreopsis and golden glow; heavy magnolias and other of the quaint, old-fashioned flowers that revel in the hues and tones of yellow. Feathery ferns formed a setting for the golden blossoms and on the tables little human-faced pansies nodded their saucy heads. The luncheon followed the final programme of the year, which was given before an audience that tested the seating capacity of the clubroom, and was participated in by Mmes. W. S. Urion, Florence Halstead and Miss Marie Crowe, with Mrs. N. P. Conrey in charge. Several guests were present—among them Bruce Nelson, the young San Francisco artist whose canvases on exhibition at Merick Reynold's studios have aroused so much interest in artistic circles. He spoke after the luncheon at the request of the president, Mrs. George Sinsabaugh, telling us something of the plans for the art department of the Panama Exposition and also of the art colony in San Francisco. Incidentally, he mentioned the exhibit of thirty canvases from the brush of local artists which will be displayed next month in the Exposition Park gallery of the Museum.

Mrs. W. E. Keepers, who is a valued member of the club with which she identified herself during the year, read a couple of original poems in the most delightful fashion. The first explained was written for an artists'-day celebration at the Chicago Woman's Club, of which she was a member before coming to Los Angeles to live, and the other was written especially for the occasion of yesterday, "The Sculptor's Clay," a charming bit of poetry, the theme of which also suited the art club. Mrs. Keepers' poems have found their way into some of our best magazines and the musical ear of the poet shone forth from the graceful lines which she gave us Tuesday.

To Mrs. A. H. Randall, chairman of the Housekeeping Committee of the club and to her assistants is due the artistic arrangement of the dining-room, which made such an appropriate setting for the function which was the close of the club year.

Brilliant Recital at Ebell.

Another equally interesting affair Monday was the last session of the music department of Ebell, which attracted as large an audience as does a regular Monday afternoon programmes. Under the direction of Mrs. Harmon Ryus this department has made a wonderful record this year, which reached a climax yesterday in its final meeting. So great was the demand for tickets for the luncheon which followed the morning recital that every bit of space in the reception-rooms, the library and the club was utilized for laying the tables and even then the sale of tickets had to be stopped before the demand was exhausted. The special luncheon music was two distinguished musicians—Ellen Beach Yaw, the famous singer, and Charles Wakefield Cadman, the well-known composer, both of whom spoke at the conclusion of the luncheon, which was served from tables aglow with roses running the length from the tiny, baby Cecile Rhoades and the pert Dorothy Perkins varieties to the glorious and famous American Beauties.

Besides the two above mentioned words of honor speeches were made by the outgoing president of Ebell, Mrs. William L. Jones; by the incoming president, Mrs. W. S. Bartlett; by the outgoing general curator, Mrs. Thomas E. Stowell, and by the assistant curator of the music section, Mrs. Hampon L. Story.

The recital which preceded the luncheon was a rare treat—artistic and flawless from beginning to end. Mrs. Ryus, in her white and gold gown and her crown of golden hair, was a picture good for the eyes to see, and her graceful manner of presiding over the recital put the audience at once in rapport with the spirit of the programme, which, she explained, would be devoted to American composers. First was a very recent composition of Cecil Fanning's "The Pipes of Pan," which was rendered with the musical setting composed by Mrs. James Downing of Chicago, who, in a letter read by Mrs. Ryus, sent greetings to the club. Mrs. Bessie Bennett-Frankel read the words to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. Ryus.

More often than otherwise this attempt to suit recitative parts to music is an artistic failure, for it is no easy task to satisfactorily fit and harmonize the reading voice to the notes of the piano, but these two artists succeeded in giving us a genuine treat. It was wonderfully vivid and graphic in its presentation given to the words by Mrs. Frankel and the sympathetic and refined musical accompaniment of Mrs. Ryus resulted in a remarkably fine performance.

This was repeated and enhanced in the rendering of "Lasca," when Axel Simon played a violoncello accompaniment to the piano and recitative part of this gripping poem of the plains that has in it the lilt of free life and fresh air; the "git up horses' hoofs, the stampede of cattle, the crack of the whip, all that goes to make the setting of the tale of life and love down on the Rio Grande. The 'cello sang the melody and its minor chords intensified the tragic end of the brown-eyed lass of the plains and her lover's lament.

The applause which emphasized the close of the audience was so insistent that repeated curtain calls were responded from the artists before the programme was reluctantly silenced. A sonata by Mendelssohn for piano and violoncello was another feature of the programme, Mrs. Ryus explaining that no American composer has yet written anything in this line, and expressing the hope that Cadman might take notice of this lack, a hint which was warmly applauded by the music lovers present.

Such an artistic and thoroughly satisfactory recital that of yesterday was a fitting close, and it will certainly be looked back to as a red-letter day in the annals of Ebell.

PROMOTER ARRAIGNED.

C. H. Knight, promoter, was arraigned before Justice Young yesterday on a charge of fraud, and held under bonds, which had not been made up to a late hour last night. It is alleged to have cleaned up a small fortune selling stock of the Ocean Recreation Company, of which he is one of the leading lights.

A petition of motion for a temporary injunction, in the case of the Southern California Gas Company against the City of Los Angeles, the City Council and the Mayor, involving the natural gas rate, was filed in the United States District Court, yesterday. SAY BILL'S WORTH IT.

The Public Service Committee made the following report with regard to Chief Engineer Mulholland's salary and the report was unanimously accepted by the Council:

"First: There was referred to this committee a petition from the Independent Civic League, No. 246, with reference to the amount of salary paid to William Mulholland as superintendent of the Public Service Commission, and recommending that his salary be reduced one-half. Your committee is of the opinion that Mr. Mulholland as chief engineer of the construction of the Los Angeles aqueduct, if he had been paid ten times the amount of salary paid him, the city still would be indebted to him, and it is the hope and wish of your committee that he may live many years to enjoy his present salary.

SNEAK THIEVES WORK.

While the family of Mrs. M. E. Cotton, No. 6107 Edmund street, Hollywood, were attending a picnic yesterday afternoon, sneak thieves entered the house and stole a gold watch and diamond ring valued at more than $100, and a purse containing $12.30. Detectives are investigating.

WYOMING OIL

The Douglas Wyoming Oil Field is going to repeat what has been done in the Salt Creek oil field, in Wyoming, which is close by the Douglas field.

Many have made fortunes in the Salt Creek oil fields in the space of a few years. Many will make fortunes in the Douglas field in a short space of time.

Geological conditions are similar. The Douglas oil is of a better grade. We have reached the first sand and many wells are producing. We are now drilling for the second sand and when that is reached, we expect a greater volume, which was and is the condition at the Salt Creek field.

We have oil leases that can be had on reasonable drilling conditions, and oil lands for sale. All lands that we handle are held under U. S. Patent.

600 acres of patented land in the oil zone at $30 per acre.

An organized company will sell control. They have land in the heart of the oil zone. A few thousand dollars expended will reach the first oil sand. Will give full information.

Laid Off Six Months: Lineman Takes Akoz Few Weeks: Now Well

A. G. King of San Bernardino Gets Quick Relief From Rheumatism.

"Climbing poles and rheumatism do not go well together, so when I got a bad attack of rheumatism I had to lay off, and I believe I would still be idle if it had not been for Akoz," said Alfred G. King, lineman for the Pacific Light and Power Company, residing at 1295 Arrowhead avenue, San Bernardino. For six months Mr. King was unable to work, so severe was his rheumatism. But Akoz, the wonderful California medicinal fineral, put him back on the job again. He writes:

"For six or seven years I have had more or less rheumatism. Six months ago an attack hit me so severely in the legs and feet that I had to quit work and go to bed. When I was able to stir out of bed I had to use crutches. Everything that was recommended I tried, but got no relief. I made up my mind to try Akoz, the new mineral remedy being advertised in San Bernardino. I got some of the compound and powder for making mineral water. In 72 hours after I applied the compound to my sore muscles the pain disappeared. In three days I threw away my crutches and the next day returned to work. I continued drinking the water and in two weeks I was climbing poles with the best of them. Today I am free from every symptom of rheumatism and have not missed a day of work."

ALFRED G. KING.

Akoz has proven effective in thousands of cases of stomach trouble, rheumatism, kidney, liver and bladder complaint, eczema, catarrh, ulcers, piles, poison oak and other ailments. For sale at all leading drug stores, where further information may be obtained regarding this advertisement.

Life's Gentler Side—Society, Music, Song and the Dance—The Theaters.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

INFORMAL teas and bridge parties are the rage this week and several popular hostesses preside both afternoon and evening at these small though interesting gatherings.

Mrs. Edward D. Silent was hostess yesterday at a card matinee when she entertained a group of congenial friends with five tables of bridge. Later a number dropped in for tea. The home on Severance street was massed with roses and fleur de lis, arranged against a background of ferns and tropical plants. Yesterday's party was one of a series planned by Mrs. Silent, who will close her home June 1 and go to the Bryson to live.

Mrs. Flowerree Entertains.

Another informal party yesterday was the luncheon and bridge which had for its hostess Mrs. W. K. Flowerree of No. 825 South Burlington avenue.

Mrs. Foster's Party.

Entertaining with three or four tables of bridge yesterday, Mrs. Jack Foster of West Twenty-eighth street complimented her house guest, Mrs. Robert Haase, who is enjoying a delightful sojourn in this city. The party was most informal and following the game a few friends called and shared a bit of pleasant gossip over the tea cups. Madam Katherine Fisk was present as special guest. Spring blossoms adorned the rooms in which cards were played while a wealth of rich red roses brightened the dining-room.

Prominent Visitor.

Mrs. John Sinnot, a prominent visitor from Philadelphia, is the guest of Mrs. A. C. Denham of Hobart boulevard.

To Receive.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Asher and daughter, Miss Marian, will be at home to friends Sunday from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Stephens Complimented.

Spring blossoms embellished the home of Mrs. R. W. Clemson recently when she entertained with a bridge tea, complimenting Mrs. William D. Stephens, wife of Congressman Stephens, who has recently returned to her home in this city from Washington, D. C. Assisting ladies were Mrs. Robert Wankowski, Mrs. O. F. Brant and Mrs. W. D. Hallett. A dainty tea followed the games of auction and among those included were Mrs. L. R. Bancroft, Mrs. D. C. Barber, Mrs. J. D. Walker, Mrs. Mark Brown, Mrs. Lyman Craig, Mrs. Bert Williams, Mrs. Cecil W. Howell, Mrs. W. Scott and Mmes. Stansbury, Chase, Coombs, Moore, Hendricks, Tappan and Miss Darling.

Angelenos Wed.

The wedding of Miss Constance Collins, daughter of Holdridge Ozro Collins, to Noel Condiff Edwards took place May 15, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles McClay Booth, in Vallejo. The Episcopal ring service was used by Rev. S. F. Barrett, who read the lines in the living-room, which was festooned with greenery, white carnations and roses.

The bride looked girlish and dainty in her mother's wedding gown and veil, the dress of ivory-white satin, with trimmings of rose point lace. She carried an old lace handkerchief, also belonging to her mother. Her father gave her into the keeping of the groom, and there were no attendants. A wedding breakfast followed, and the young couple left on a honeymoon and will be at home in this city after August 1, at No. 1353 Maltman avenue.

Miss Siegel Brings Cousin.

Miss Marion H. Siegel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Siegel, is home from Miss Harker's School, in Palo Alto. Previous to her departure from the North she passed a pleasant week in San Francisco with relatives. She was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Mary Ann Magnin of San Francisco, who will spend the summer here with relatives.

Annual Election.

The National Society of the United States Daughters of 1812 will hold its election of officers with a luncheon and annual meeting tomorrow, at Bullock's tea room at 1 o'clock. Members are earnestly urged to be present. Make reservations through Mrs. G. E. Dennis.

Luncheon and Theater.

Miss Helen Somers of Hollywood and her house guest, Miss Elinor F. Franklin of Stockton, were the guests of honor at a luncheon and theater party given recently by Mrs. Ralph Edwards of No. 1725 Roosevelt avenue.

Cecile Brunner roses formed the table centerpiece and after the luncheon the Orpheum was enjoyed.

In the East.

Mrs. J. E. Tilton of Los Angeles is in New York at the Hotel Astor prior to leaving this month for Europe, where she will pass the summer months in travel.

Returns North.

Mrs. J. W. Wright and her daughter, Miss Helen Wright, and Miss Augusta Foote, who have been at Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara for the past ten days, left Thursday for their home in San Francisco. The Wrights are well known in San Francisco and Los Angeles social circles and expect to join the summer colony in Santa Barbara early in July.

Summer Plans.

Mrs. N. F. Wilshire of Los Angeles has taken a cottage at Miramar for the summer months. She will take possession June 15.

Good News.

Maj. and Mrs. McKittrick of Bakersfield have leased the Strafford home in Montecito for the summer months. Mr. and Mrs. Strafford have taken apartments at Edgerly Court for the summer. Mr. Strafford is an enthusiastic golfer and was one of the founders of the Annandale Country Club, near Pasadena.

Dinner Party.

Members of the Iota Sigma sorority of the University of Southern California recently entertained with a dinner at Hotel Virginia. Dr. and Mrs. Allison P. Gaw chaperoned the young people, who included Miss Lucile Cyers, Miss Lois Burton, Miss Merle Carter, Miss Mary Clarke, Miss Helen Clarke, Miss Eleanor Davis, Miss Beatrice Day, Miss Rita Good, Miss Minnie Hawes, Miss Ruth Kennard, Miss Ethyl Proctor, Miss Laura Rowe, Miss Gertrude Sulliger, Miss Elsie Thorne, Miss Gladys Wadsworth, Miss Frances Zerell, Frank Sullivan, Stanley Foote, Thomas Davis, Howard Hensey, Harry George, Burnett Wiley, Fred Kelly, Frank Hancock, Ray Carter, Mr. Odell, Rae Laidlaw, Harry Moore, Walter Hall, Ralph Goodwin, Albert Laurrer and Carl Peine. The decorations were carried out in the sorority colors and dainty place cards marked covers.

House Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wileman of No. 2916 Hobart soulevard are entertaining as guests, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hurlbutt and small son, Lewis, of Memphis, Tenn. The visitors have been royally entertained since their arrival. Among affairs in their honor was a dinner party presided over by Capt. and Mrs. O. J. Stowe of No. 1823 West Adams street. The table was decorated with pink roses and sweet peas with pink shaded candelabra at each end. The twelve guests later enjoyed the performance at the Mason.

On the Way to Goal.

MISS NICHOLS'S FIRST RECITAL.

LARGE ATTENDANCE APPLAUDS YOUNG ARTIST.

Genuine Talent as a Pianist Displayed by Maiden Who Was First Heard in Concert Last Autumn at Concert of the Women's Orchestra as Soloist.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

At the first concert of the Women's Orchestra last season, Marjorie Nichols made her professional debut as a soloist.

She appeared yesterday evening at Blanchard Hall in her first piano recital.

Last autumn she was only 17; she passed her eighteenth birthday a few days ago.

If she has grown in technique and surety during the last twelve months, she still remains a mere slip of a girl. But if she retains the simple and wholesome charm of maidenhood, she has evidently devoted her best efforts and much time to perfecting herself in her chosen art.

The most complimentary criticism is the one offered most accidentally by one deeply versed in musical lore. "Marjorie," said he, "has an unusual fine finger technique and as far as I could note she struck only one bad note."

This unsolicited statement coming from one fully qualified to express his opinion means a great deal when it is taken into consideration that Miss Nichols played, without notes, Beethoven Sonata Op. 26, Moskowski's "En Automne," Kargonoff's "Nocturne," Rubinstein's "Barcarolle," a group of four selections by Liszt, Henselt, Schoenefeld, Wagner-Brassin, and five unusual numbers from Chopin: "Variation B Flat Major," "Etude Op. 25," "Impromptu," "Valse" and "Fantaisie."

Miss Nichols's simple, earnest and sympathetic stage presence, attractive because it is absolutely genuine without nonsense, is a great trump in her favor.

It contrasts most unexpectedly with the exquisite coloring of her Chopin interpretation, her intelligent rendition of Beethoven's "Sonata" and her display of strength, without masculinity, shading into tender yet joyous notes, technically as perfect as most of the concert players of accepted standing.

While Miss Nichols at 18 is not a perfected artist on the piano, it is notable that her teacher, Jode A. Anderson, has brought out her talent to a natural yet high degree of efficiency.

If the near future the gifted young artist, born in Hawaii and reared here, may become a concert pianist of repute. For the present, and that is her greater charm, she remains an attractive young woman, unaffected and earnest, possessed of much talent and a brilliant future as a pianist.

EMPTIES SCHOOL IN RECORD TIME.

FIVE HUNDRED PUPILS MARCH FROM BUILDING WHEN ALARM SOUNDS.

Without the slightest indication of fear and almost in perfect formation more than 500 pupils of St. Vincent's Parochial School, Grand avenue and Washington street, marched from the building when a chemical explosion ignited the woodwork of a basement laboratory.

The accident is believed to have been caused by acids eating through a tube used in conducting chemical experiments.

A gardener working near the windows of the laboratory discovered smoke issuing from the basement. He sounded the school alarm and notified the fire department.

The pupils took their places in line without a sign of nervousness, and within two minutes the building was emptied.

The firemen experienced some difficulty in reaching the flames owing to the presence of noxious gasses generated by the escaping acids. The damage of the building amounted to less than $20.

FORESTRY BOARD TO PLANT TREES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, May 26.—Members of the County Board of Forestry have agreed to do its first tree-planting along the State Highway between Santa Ana and the Los Angeles county line in La Habra Valley, and along the County Highway between Orange and the Riverside county line. Oaks are to be used in the Santa Ana Canyon. The board is in correspondence with the State Highway Commission relative to having the edges of the State Highway prepared for the planting of trees.

SIERRA CLIMBERS.

About twenty-five members of the Sierra Club are to climb Santiago Peak on Memorial Day. They will pass the night on the mountain. Los Angeles members will be met here Saturday morning, and will be taken to the foot of the peak by automobile truck. A. J. Perkins of Santa Ana, a member of the club, has charge of the trip.

Midweek.

OLD FRIENDS COMING BACK.

"Peg o' My Heart" With O'Neil at Majestic.

Blanche Bates at Orpheum; Other Bills.

With a cast that would do justice to a big Broadway production, "A Knight for a Day" will be presented at the Morosco Theater Saturday night and should take its place as the best production yet given by the Gaiety forces.

"A Knight for a Day" has been one of the most successful and highly entertaining musical comedies of the past five years, and has had a tremendous appeal.

Its production by the Gaiety forces at the Morosco will be the first production of that organization to be made in Los Angeles. Heretofore all Gaiety productions were made in San Francisco and Los Angeles received them after their San Francisco runs.

Into this brilliant comedy with music have been interpolated a number of specialties that for originality and unique and brilliant effects have not been equaled for many a day.

Heading the cast are Daphne Pollard, the diminutive and wonderful little comedienne and Alf Goulding, who in addition to his big part in the play is the directing producer of "A Knight for a Day."

Miss Pollard, who has delighted Coast audiences for several years, and who is now at her best will appear in this production in a straight comedy role.

Melvin Stokes and La Valera have been secured from the big-time vaudeville for this production. Stokes is the youngest dramatic tenor on the American stage and his voice is of grand opera proportions. La Valera, whose dancing of the Spanish type has won her fame through the country, is Stokes's stage partner.

Frances White, Charles Mason, Fred Santley, Bessie Franklyn, Frank Hayes and Willie Bevan complete the cast and the chorus will be large and unusually attractive.

Majestic.

"Peg o' My Heart" will play an engagement here opening at the Majestic Theater Sunday night.

The title role will be played by Peggy O'Neil, who has scored most emphatically as "Peg," the little Irish-American girl who was sent to her aristocratic London relatives to be educated. Martin Sabine will play Jerry, a role which gives him every opportunity for the display of his undoubtedly ability. The role of Mrs. Chichester, the aunt, who undertakes the training of "Peg," is played by Maxzie Holloway Fisher, a representative actress of many years' standing, while the part of Ethel Chichester is in the capable hands of Jane Meredith. Roland Hogue, the English actor, will have the part of Alaric, and Frazer Coulter will be seen as Montgomery Hawks. Other important principals are Joseph Yanner, Olin Field, and A. T. Hendon.

The magnificent scene production carried by this organization, is the exact replica of the one used in New York, where Laurette Taylor has been playing "Peg" for nearly two years.

Orpheum.

Blanche Bates, long-expected star of the Orpheum circuit this season, is slated to be next week's stellar attraction at the local house, coming Monday afternoon, for a stay of one week only. Miss Bates will be seen in Sir James M. Barrie's newest one-act play in three scenes, "Half an Hour." This little affair deals with the eternal triangle, in a new way, and is quite apart from the usual Barrie whimsicalities; it is serious, almost tragic.

Another premier number next week is offered by Roshanara, the greatest exponent today of Hindoo dances. She has studied these dances in her native India, though she is English by birth, and is the only white woman allowed to do the real native dances in Hindoostan.

The other newcomers include Kimberly and Mohr, in a song and patter act, "In Clubland;" McDevitt, Kelly and Lucey, in a comedy scream, "The Piano Movers;" Mabelle Adams, well recalled as a premiere violiniste, now appearing—but still playing—in "Wanda," a story of German student life, and Lee Barth, a German dialect comedian—a genius supposedly extinct, but justifiably revived by him. The only holdovers are Master Gabriel and his company in "Little Kick," and the Moneta Five. The usual fine orchestral concert and the motion views will be on hand.

Empress.

Beginning next Monday afternoon with the regular matinee, the Empress will have for its headline attraction what is said to be one of the most elaborately staged acts in vaudeville. The act is Beatrice Morelle's Six Parisian Harmony Girls, presenting "A Study in Blue." Many of Miss Morelle's girls were selected especially because of the musical talent and their wonderful figures.

The second big feature will be Al Herman, "The Black Laugh," presenting a new brand of timely tales and songs. The popular playlet, "Spiegel's Daughter's Beau," will also be a feature. Other new acts will be the dancing peers, Mack Williams and Ida Segal; Ryan Brothers, sensational wonders of the air, while the always new and first-run Keystone comedies will complete the new bill.

Pantages.

Charlie Lloyd and his bo's will rival Lottie Mayer and her diving girls for popularity next week at Pantages. Lasky's Hobos are always a popular event at Pantages, as also are Lottie Mayer's bathing nymphs, so it looks as though, in combining these two acts in one show, Mr. Pantages were trying to break the business record of his theater here.

Lottie Mayer has been all over the United States with her diving girls since she was last seen here. And the hobos have traveled some, too. Miss Mayer has held her beauty bunch together without a change, and Charlie Lloyd has been almost as successful. The diving girls have added a dance to their act, which they call the "Dance of the Sea Nymphs," and Lloyd is giving a burlesque tango instead of the hilarious Texas Tommy.

Four other acts, including Cornalla and Wilbur, and Rackett-Hoover Markey, are listed. All four acts are strongly tinted with comedy, making this a distinctively comedy show.

Hippodrome.

While the complete bill has not yet been announced, enough of next week's attractions for the Hippodrome are known to warrant the prediction that it will be a corking show.

The unprecedented success of "The New Chief of Police" may lead to its being held over. If not, the other side of the problem will be presented in a sketch called "The Great Question."

Aside from this offering the headliner will be "In Laughland," a Bothwell Browne production, replete with catchy music, sparkling comedy and superb costumes, worn by as pretty a bevy of dancing girls as ever graced the Hippodrome stage.

Other acts on the new bill will be the Three Ben Aldis, whirling dervishes; Biele and Girard, "the Yankee and the Swede," in a comedy skit; the De Popillas in smart ballroom dances; Scotty Butterworth, that clever cabaret chap, and some timely as well as startling motion pictures.

Burbank.

"The Dawn of a Tomorrow," the play of optimism, has been playing to capacity audiences at the Burbank Theater since its opening last Sunday afternoon, and is proving to be one of the most entertaining and successful plays presented in stock this year.

Now in rehearsal to follow "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" is the country-wide successful melodramatic farce, "Officer 666," a play that has been moving great audiences to laughter in every big city of the United States and which should prove one of the big fun offerings of the year at the Burbank.

Clune's Auditorium.

Rex Beach's great Alaskan romance, "The Spoilers," is holding thousands in thrill at the Auditorium this week. The great film in nine reels gives three acts and a prologue which includes every bit of action in the great novel which caused a cessation of the spoliation of Alaska by certain eastern interests.

It is the acting which makes the great film the success it is. There is scenic grandeur, to be sure, but above all one sees on the screen the characters of the northern gold belt so realistically that even the hardy and initiated is convinced that here at last is a production true to detail.

Kathlyn Williams, as Cherry Malotte, is all that the part calls for, and more. She gives a portrayal which gives the impression of study of detail and then she adds a sweet strength to this woman of the gambling houses which was not written in the book, though the author felt that it should be there.

Clune's Broadway.

With many laughs and an altogether happy programme, W. H. Clune has arranged a big programme for his popular Broadway theater. A special feature is the exclusive reel made at Clune's request of the semi-police inspection held at Exposition Park recently. Mayor Rose, Chief of Police Sebastian and other officials are shown reviewing the force.

"The Crowning Glory," a special two-reel Lubin drama, is the dramatic feature of the programme. The Edison detective story, "Mystery of the Amsterdam Diamonds," is filled with thrills and perilous situations.

Comedy as usual is popular with the Broadway home of film drama. "Sophie Starts Something" makes everybody happy. The famous Pathe educational pictures also have a place, showing both travels and commercial pictures featuring the making of steel. The Selig news service has the latest events.

Woodley Theater.

"The Cloister and the Hearth," one of the most celebrated of fiction classics, will be the big screen feature at the Woodley theater next week, making a fitting successor to "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the great rural drama which is drawing capacity audiences to the new Broadway picture house this week.

The new policy at the Woodley, whereby nothing but the biggest and best film features are thrown on the screen, has proved an epoch-making move on the part of Manager Woodley, and each week finds public patronage greater and more enthusiastic than ever.

C. Percival Garratt's music programmes, which have already doubled the fame of the mammoth pipe organ have taken on fresh interest through the introduction of the device which operates a grand piano from the organ keys.

Tally's Broadway.

Arnold Daly, one of the most eminent dramatic actors on the American stage, and universally famed as an exponent of the "intellectual" drama, will be seen for the first time in motion pictures at Tally's Broadway Theater next week in that popular novel of foreign intrigue and romantic adventure "The Port of Missing Men," by the famous novelist, Meredith Nicholson.

Miller's.

Miller's Theater offers for the balance of this week, including Sunday, the three-reel dramatization of Cyrus Townsend Brady's greatest novel "The Southerners." This splendid story of southern life is especially appropriate for holiday week. A great cast interpreted this master writer's romantic drama and is headed by Mable Trunnelle and Richard Tucker. An added attraction is a two-reel Vitagraph comedy entitled "Cutey's Wife," with a bunch of well-known comedy stars, including Lillian Walker and Wallie Van. This is a screamingly funny farce and will prove one long laugh. A Selig drama of unusual strength completes the offering.

David Kessler.

David Kessler, foremost of the Yiddish-speaking actors, will present at the Mason Operahouse on June 2, 3, 4 and 5, two of the most talked-of plays of today, George H. Broadhurst's great American play, "Bought and Paid For," and "Style," (in English called "Today," now running in New York City.)

This will more than likely be Mr. Kessler's only appearance in this city as at the end of his short American tour of only the largest cities he starts at once for his annual European tour for the summer.

THE SHARP LINE OF THE CHIN.

IT TAKES years of patient effort to acquire a double chin. Surprising, isn't it, that anyone should put forth effort to acquire something they don't want? You can't acquire one, however, without years of effort. You have to stand ungracefully, rest ungracefully and walk ungracefully to acquire a double chin.

If you haven't a double chin, avoid doing anything that will cause one, for you won't be happy after you have acquired it.

If you have a double chin, try a daily massage. Throw your head back so that the muscles of your throat are drawn quite tight. Then massage upward along the bone, using just enough cream to make the massage easy. The strokes must be vigorous, but always upward.

The best thing to use for this massage is an astringent, which is made from one ounce of pure gum benzoin dissolved in a half-pint of pure alcohol. This is a bleach as well as an astringent. Dip your fingers into it from time to time as you massage, using it the same as a cream.

Be sure when you finish a massage to dash cold water on the skin to close the pores and harden the flesh.

The next step to remove a double chin is to remove the cause. Learn to walk with your shoulders back and your chin up. Sit with the spine straight, not curved. And in resting always rest with your head thrown back. You will soon find this to be actually more restful than with the head drooping.

Avoid high or tight collars. These, of course, are fast fading out of use, and for this reason the next generation will probably not be afflicted with double chins.

It will take some little time to rid yourself of your double chin but the improvement in your appearance will repay you for any amount of effort.

No one can look young with an excessively heavy jaw or a double chin.

And remember this: When you massage, whether it be for a double chin or wrinkles, massage upward always. The trouble you are trying to correct is sagging muscles and they must be lifted.

A double chin

"I never attended a meeting more pregnant with promise," said Senator Gates. "The State of California is the smile of the U.S.A. The finest element of that smile is the Los Angeles spirit. Make courage catching. Cause the citizen to come out into the sunlight and meet the smile that comes from the sun."

Superintendent of Schools Francis said: "Prosperity is a state of mind. So long as the people have something to eat, something to wear and a house to live in, the rest is up to them. There are three powerful enemies of society—fear, hesitation and doubt, and the greatest of these is fear, for it paralyzes more human souls and is the cause of retarding more human progress than any other one thing. The three great friends of society are hope, purpose and opportunity. If it could be brought to the attention of the boys and girls what they could do on vacant lots toward supporting their families, what a wonderful start that would be toward the ultimate prosperity! I pin my faith in the boys and girls of California."

Roger M. Andrews, president of the Rotary Club, suggested that to bring prosperity here at home the hard luck story be discouraged and the citizens be induced to buy only home-made products, while Traffic Manager D. W. Pontius of the Pacific Electric told what his company is doing to help continue prosperity in the Southwest.

Supt. W. H. Whalen of the Southern Pacific said that one of the chief reasons for lack of confidence is the fact that the railroads have been subjected to an epidemic of over-regulation.

MORE THAN A SNORE.

"There is more religion in a smile than in a snore," said Dr. Lincomb Brougher. "And there is no such thing as sheet music in a church. The uplifted chin and the broad smile will bring good times, and the churches will do all they can to help."

Actually, there were three hours of discussion and planning in a general way, founded upon the smile. First the sales managers' organization to movement will take a wider scope at a meeting at the Hotel Clark tomorrow night at 6:15 o'clock, when representatives of all lines will gather to co-operate in prosperity work. The seed of optimism planted only a few days ago already has sprung into a healthy, robust tree.

C. E. Rosenberg, president of the Los Angeles division, was toastmaster last night. Among other speakers were Joseph Scott, who said that Los Angeles was put on the map by optimism, and Vice-President Rundel, who favored pushing the dollar along. I. Bernstein and W. J. Lucas spoke of putting the kibosh on the "movies."

The Banquet Committee was composed of Fred E. Golding, chairman; Frank Cox, T. W. Kanouse, D. J. Howell, T. M. Dennison and H. A. Wheney.

EDDIE PULLEN NOT ON LISTS.

Grand Prize Winner Isn't Fast Enough.

Two Pugeot Cars Make the Fastest Time.

Teddy Tetzlaff Close Up to the Foreigners.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—After three days of the fastest automobile racing ever seen on the Indianapolis motor speedway, the thirty drivers who will start in the annual 500-mile race here next Saturday were selected tonight.

Georges Boillot, the French driver, who today set a new United States record on the two and one-half-mile track, circling it in 1:30:13, led the list of successful drivers. Boillot drove his car around the course at a rate of a fraction less than 100 miles an hour.

Jules Goux, team-mate of Boillot, was second, having sent his French car around the track in 1:31.71, and Teddy Tetzlaff, in an American car, was third.

Ralph de Palma, known as the "hard-luck" driver, and who had been unable to get the required speed out of his machine, qualified on his third and last trial lap. He was twentieth in the list and required 1:42.13 to go the two and one-half miles.

Boillot, who today traveled at a speed faster than ever seen in this country, is the winner of three Grand Prix races in France. Goux won the race here last year, and this team is favored in the betting as winner of this year's contest.

Fifteen of the drivers who had entered cars in the race either withdrew or failed in the elimination runs.

The track will be used tomorrow for final practice, and on Friday it will be closed so that it may be cleaned and the oil washed off.

The field of starters in Saturday's race has been reduced to the following cars, which shows order in which they qualified:

DATE SET FOR FLY AROUND WORLD.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The date of the international aviation meet and start of the around-the-world aerial race has been fixed for May 8 to 18, 1915, it was announced today by the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

"I'M A BOOB," IS RITCHIE'S EXCUSE.

MILWAUKEE, May 27.—"I was the biggest boob in the world. I fought the most amateurish fight I could have fought. Think of a champion carrying the fight to a contender. Yes, I admit I was outgeneraled, outgussied and about everything else."

That is the way Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world, felt tonight concerning himself, concerning his scrap with White last night and concerning his general behavior previous, during and after the match.

Ritchie was a very penitent boxer when interviewed in the Turkish baths parlors. Willie sat on his cot sorry-eyed with a muchly-battered countenance, a sadder, but very much wiser boxer.

"Well, the trap was there," he said, "and I fell in. I started my right and left, my jaw unprotected, and then, bing, over came that left. That same left Thiry and everybody had warned me against. After fighting Wolgast and the rest, I thought that left pretty soft stuff, but I was mistaken. He caught me right and I went against the ropes. I wobbled about, and if White had been any kind of a champion, as he claims he is, he could have finished me then. He had his chance and missed it. Well, I got through the round, and after that I did not have very much trouble, although I was dazed for six rounds."

KILBANE AFTER CHARLEY WHITE.

DENVER, Johnny Kilbane today issued a challenge to Charley White, who defeated Willie Ritchie last night in Milwaukee. The challenge is considered unusual because Kilbane is a featherweight and White is in the lightweight class. Three cities—Denver, Milwaukee and San Francisco—are bidding for the bout already. Kilbane, who fights Benny Chaves here Friday night, wired the challenge to White today. It is considered certain that the latter will accept it.

GE BAUER ADDS ONE.

Ge Bauer made fifty points to Pierce's forty-nine in the Brunswick three-cushion billiard tournament last evening, with high run of three made by both men.

TWENTY INNING BATTLE ENDED BY GUS HETLING.

Buffalo Bill Malarkey and Ed Klepfer Engage in Red-Hot Duel but Oak Heaver Manages to Stick With It a Little Better Than the Tiger—Nearly Two Hundred Fielding Chances in Game.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

IT STARTED out as a ball game, settled down into a pitching duel and wound up as an endurance contest.

Endurance contest is right.

Old man Malarkey and the more youthful Ed Klepfer went the full twenty innings without once pausing for gasoline or to change tires.

Twenty innings is right. More than two games of baseball all for the price of one.

Also four hours and two minutes of baseball, which is too much for the money.

Many a pot roast had grown cold; many a warm soda biscuit had become discouraged, when Augustus Hetling crept to the plate in the twentieth inning, likewise in the gloaming, and solidly smote a Klepfer "spitter" on the nozzle for three bases with two down, scoring a couple of lowdown fellows by the name of Middleton and Zacher.

MELOAN ANXIOUS.

Hetling's celebrated blow, which was to right field, and which became a triple instead of a single because of the anxiety of Mr. Meloan to snatch it on the fly, shattered a tie which had stubbornly existed since the eighth inning, firmly established Bill Malarkey as the grandest old man in baseball, and put Oakland on the winning side of a 4 to 2 score. The Tigers were held safe in the last half.

Klepfer had made a game fight, and was cheered as he left the field. From the eighth inning, the contest was so close that it seemed that the weight of an apothecary's struggle would turn the scale.

From the seventeenth inning, both teams groped in semi-darkness. The pitchers would throw the ball and mutter a prayer. The batters would swing and trust to luck.

There were two errors by each side. But after the eighth inning, when Oakland came from behind and evened the count, the players settled down, and fielded as men inspired, and there was not the semblance of a slip.

Time and again, Hope raised her head only to be felled by the gauntleted glove of some low-browed fielder.

NOT A RECORD.

While the game will go down as one of the heroics of baseball, it is neither a record for the league nor for the local grounds.

There have been two twenty-four inning games in this circuit, while three years ago, Sacramento and Los Angeles battled twenty-one innings to a 4 to 4 draw at Washington Park.

There were but two shifts made in the line-ups that started the game, and both of these were by Venice. In the twelfth, Hogan sent Kane in to run for Elliott, and Bliss finished the game. Borton pinch-batted for Klepfer in the twentieth.

Both clubs had two men on bases in the eighteenth, but were turned back. In the nineteenth, Malarkey and Klepfer summoned every ounce of their latent energy, and their opponents were one-two-threed.

CROWD WANTS MORE.

Either club would have been glad to call it a day's work, but the umpires motioned them to continue. The crowd half-savagely bellowed its approval. It was drawing toward 7 o'clock, and almost too dark for those in the stands to follow the ball, as the clubs swung into the twentieth. The news of the great battle had spread to the downtown districts, and men, who had quit their dinner tables to see the finish of a great contest, were elbowing the way through the crowd which had moved toward

Glenn Morris Says:

HANDICAP TENNIS TOURNEY SHOULD PROVIDE THRILLS.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

ENTRIES ranging in age from grammar school kiddies to proud fathers and in fame from a national champion to novices, are found on the lists for the handicap tennis tournament of the Southern California Tennis Association, which is to start tomorrow.

Included among the greats and near-greats is found the name of one J. Monroe Grant, the proud possessor of the championship of Saskatchewan, wherever that may be. He has been staying at the Hotel Virginia for several days and is stopping over specially for the tourney.

It will be the first local appearance of Tom Bundy since his great match against Willis Davis in the finals of the Long Beach tourney of last year when he captured the title of Southern California champion just before going East to defend his national title with Maurice McLoughlin.

Last year Bundy started in on the first of August to get in shape. This year he is found in active competition before the first of June. He hopes to get some red-hot practice out of the tourney and he is very liable to, as his mark will either be scratch or owe 15, which is some handicap.

Among those who will attempt to wrest Bundy's laurels from him are E. R. McCormick, last year's winner; Allyn Barber, his partner in the State doubles championship for High Schools; Kenny Newell, the erratic, pink-haired gentleman who nearly beat Bundy at Long Beach last year; Gerald Young, Simpson Sinsabaugh, Hal Gorham, Horace Donnell and a number of other luminaries whose names and pedigrees are too numerous to mention.

The entries will be received up until nightfall tonight and Glenn Morris, one of our best-known optimists, promises that in numbers, class, good looks and speed the tournament will far eclipse anything of its kind ever held in the Southland.

STANFORD NETTERS BEAT HARVARD.

BOSTON, May 27.—Leland Stanford University tennis experts defeated Harvard players in two singles matches and lost a doubles event on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club today.

Summary:

R. Lindley Murray (Leland Stanford,) defeated E. H. Whitney (Harvard,) 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Herbert L. Hahn (Leland Stanford,) defeated W. M. Washburn (Harvard,) 6-0, 8-6.

Washburn and J. J. Armstrong (Harvard,) defeated Murray and Hahn (Leland Stanford,) 6-2, 6-4.

ELECTRICS TO MAKE TOUR TO RIVERSIDE.

A dozen or more Beardsleys electrics are expected to take part in the most unique stunt in the annals of the electric motor car history when a two-day tour to Riverside and return will be pulled off.

The new Beardsleys will meet at the West Seventh-street headquarters at 9 o'clock and proceed out via Eastlake Park, and the Valley boulevard. The night will be spent at the Glenwood, where Frank A. Miller is making special arrangements for the comfort of the party and the return on Sunday will be via the Foothill boulevard.

WIFEY'S APPEALS DON'T MAKE LEARD GET A HIT.

THERE was a job for a "sob sister" at the twenty-inning baseball game yesterday.

In one of the boxes back of the catcher sat the wives of five baseball players, among them Mrs. Bill Leard, Mrs. Paul Meloan, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. "Cack" Henley, all of the Venice team.

They almost went crazy over the game. Whenever the husband of one of the women made a hit, the others beamed upon her and patted her hand and when friend husband made an error, the others were inclined to be very sniffy about it and the wife of the guilty party became haughty and very still and stared moodily out over the diamond.

The crisis came in the seventh inning when, with a man on first base, Bill Leard came to bat. Everything depended on Bill.

Mrs. Leard, who is a strikingly pretty woman, rose to the occasion. She was sitting in one corner of the box. When Bill came to bat, she snatched off her hat and leaned far over the edge of the box.

All the color had left her face and her teeth were set on her under lip.

Bill shifted his quid over to the other side of his face; spat on the end of the bat, and glared at the pitcher. The ball came and he took a swing at it. One strike.

Over in the box, his young wife stretched out both her hands to him as though he could hear the appeal and cried: "Good heavens, Bill; why don't you hit the ball?"

Bill looked snorty out in the direction of the pitcher and a couple of balls sailed by him which he scorned to swing at.

The tension was too much.

Mrs. Leard sank back in the box and covered her eyes with both hands to shut out the sight. "Tell me," she whispered to the others, tell me what he does. I can't look."

But when the umpire bellowed out, "Wump bbuorp," she could not resist the temptation to peep out between her fingers. She saw Bill still standing there at the plate. Lest the temptation should overcome her again, she shrank back into the box, sliding clean out of sight behind the woodwork of the box, her hands still before her eyes, crouched down on the floor beside her chair.

Someone leaned down and whispered to her, and Mrs. Leard got unsteadily to her feet, very white and shaky. Her survey showed Bill on first base, but Carlisle, whom he had forced, was walking disconsolately back to the bench from second base.

A wan smile crossed her face.

Anyhow, Bill had hit the ball.

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) May 27.—The cinder path and jumping pits in the stadium were well pounded today by the athletes of the University of California, who have come to take part in the intercollegiate games Friday and Saturday.

The Pacific Coast men were all in fine shape, with the exception of J. H. McFie, the high jumper, who turned his ankle slightly in practice yesterday. The ankle was much improved today and McFie expects to be in the elimination competitions on Friday. He is among the few jumpers who have cleared six feet this year.

EHMKE MAKES IT SEVEN STRAIGHT

Kid Heaver Is Pretty Lucky to Win Game.

Pinch Hitter Meek Starts a Batting Rally.

Two Angel Runs in Ninth Win the Game.

[BY DERBY WIRE—SPECIAL SERVICE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 27.—Harry Krause, who stopped "Rub" Pernoll after he had won eight straight games, was given a chance to perform a similar task today when he was pitted against Ehmke, Dillon's schoolboy, who had won his six starts. But Ehmke won his seventh, and at that the Beavers practically had the game won.

The score was 6 to 5.

Portland started the ball rolling in the second, when Ryan singled down the first-base line and Rodgers sacrificed, Boles to Abstein. Lober beat out a hit to Page, Ryan taking third. Fisher put the ball over the fence, but it was foul, and then he filed to Ellis, Ryan scoring and Lober taking second after the catch. Krause singled to left, scoring Lober, and went to second on the throw to the plate, and to third when Boles threw badly to second. Bancroft grounded out to Abstein. Two runs and three hits were chalked up against the Los Angeles phenom, but he was going fine.

MORE RUNS.

In the third Portland took another as Derrick singled to left and Doane walked, Kores sacrificed, Boles to Page, Ryan hit to Page, who threw to Boles, and Derrick scored when the latter dropped the ball. Not knowing that Boles had dropped the ball, Umpire Phyle at first called Derrick out, but later reversed his decision.

The Angeles awakened in the fourth and put three across, like this: Page struck out, but Maggert followed and beat out a hit to Bancroft. Abstein walked and Ellis walked, filling the bases. Moore, batting for Johnson, singled to left, scoring Maggert and Abstein. Ellis taking third and Moore second on the throw to third. Metzger filed to Ryan, Ellis scoring and Moore taking third after the catch. Boles walked, Ehmke filed to Rodgers. Three runs and two hits made things look dangerous for the home laddies.

DOANE'S HOMER.

There was nothing doing now till the seventh, and Portland took two more. Bancroft went out, Ehmke to Abstein. Derrick singled through short. Doane put the ball over the right field fence for a home run, scoring Derrick ahead of him. Kores went out, Metzger to Abstein, and Fisher filed to Maggert. In the eighth the Angels came back with one, as Maggert doubled to left. Abstein fouled out to Kores. Ellis singled over second, Maggert taking third. Maggert was afraid to take a chance on Spesa's arm. Moore filed to Spesa, Maggert scoring and Ellis taking second after the catch. Harper, batting for Metzger, struck out.

In the ninth it was two more and the game. Brooks led off and fouled out to Lober. Meek, batting for Ehmke, singled through short. Hughes ran for Meek. Wolter forced Hughes at second, Kores to Rodgers. Page singled to right, Wolter taking third. Maggert doubled to left, scoring Wolter and Page, Abstein went out, Higginbotham to Derrick. It was enough.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

ROW IN FED GAME AT BALTIMORE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BALTIMORE, May 27.—A windstorm caused a suspension of today's Federal League game between Baltimore and St. Louis, while Baltimore was at bat in the sixth inning. After waiting twenty minutes Umpire Mannassau called the game, with the score 4 to 3 in Baltimore's favor.

St. Louis players protested that it had become light enough to play, and during the argument Right Fielder Kommers kicked Mannassau in the side. Kommers was hurried out of the grounds by his team-mates.

Manager Brown of St. Louis said he would protest the game.

TITLE HOLDER OUT IN ORANGE GOLF

ORANGE (N. J.) May 27.—The elimination of the title holder, Marion Hollins, of Westbrook, L. I., from the women's metropolitan golf tournament today, by Georgiana Bishop, was the result of the play of the championship matches at the Essex Country Club.

Lillian B. Hyde of South Shore, L. I., who won the metropolitan trophy twice, and had the medal winning card last Monday, won her match against Mrs. Lawrence Swift of Knollwood, N. J., by 5 up and 3.

The other two matches in the second round, Mrs. W. J. Faith of Wykagyl, N. Y., beat Miss Bertha Stratton, Cranford, N. J., 1 up, and Mrs. M. H. Frayne, Dunwoodie, N. Y., won by the same margin from Mrs. L. F. Wanner of Essex county.

EXTRA-INNING... PLAYED ...

Three Longer Than Tha... isco Beat Oakland in Tw... land and Sacramento Go S... Cats Play Angels Twenty-...

BY HARRY ...

YESTERDAY'S bargain-counter attraction at Washington Park, having given rise to considerable talking regarding extra-inning games of the past, a delve into the "dope" is proper.

There have been three games played in the Coast League from one to four innings longer than that of yesterday.

June 6, 1909, San Francisco and Oakland battled twenty-four innings, the Seals winning, 1 to 0. In the twenty-fourth inning Zeider doubled, and was sent third on Duffy Lewis's bad throw. Tennant attempted to squeeze home, and Rollie was run down. Lewis going clear around to third. Then Williams singled, scoring Tennant. Wiggs and Henley were the pitchers, and each went the full route.

Then on September 10, 1911, Sacramento and Portland went twenty-four innings to a 1-to-1 draw in Sacramento. Portland scored in the seventh inning, and Sacramento tied it up in the sixth. After that neither side got near the plate. Koestner and Arnold pitched the full two dozen innings, the former allowing twelve hits and the latter ten. Game called on account of darkness.

That was a great year for extra-inning games. A week after Sacramento and Portland had their famous affair, Sacramento came south and trimmed Los Angeles to a 4-to-4 standoff in twenty-one innings. "Spider" Baum, now with San Francisco, and Ping Bodie, since retired, were the batting heroes. Neither asked for relief. Both were still going strong when the game went down.

Here is an assortment of extra-inning games of which any visiting young fan may justly feel proud. Twenty-four innings is the best that the major leagues have to offer. The Cubs and Red Sox were the opposing teams, Philadelphia winning.

The longest professional game of baseball there is any authentic record of was a twenty-six-inning affair between Decatur and Bloomington of the Three-I League in 1909, Decatur winning, 2 to 1.

Monday's Critical Play.

The deliberate walking of Zacher Monday naturally will cause a lot of comment, followed as it was by Hetling's winning triple.

Although this move resulted disastrously, it seems to have been dictated by good judgment. Hetling is batting .341 for the season, Zacher .241. Gus had made two hits earlier in the game, but they were both singles. For twelve innings he hasn't been able to get in a safe lick. In the meantime Zacher had been hitting the ball solidly, but hitting for the most part in hard luck. As late as the sixteenth inning he had smashed a clean single to center. In the seventeenth he looked the more dangerous of the two. However, with Middleton on second,

SOME BASEBALL ... "TIMES" CA...

ONE of the prides of the progressive little town of Fullerton is their boys' ball team. This team has beaten every juvenile team for miles around and to round out the season has decided to visit the Times Mission Camp for vacation. Any good young ball club visiting the camp while these champions of the kiddies are there will be met with a challenge for a game on a series of games.

If three or more teams can arrange to be at the camp at the same time, the camp manager will put up a prize of four days' extra stay for the winning series of games.

Last year Fullerton was The Times champions in the subscription-getting line. However, they are going to have their hands full winning honors this season. The camp has just received the following cal...

It was a critical situation. The walking of Zacher looked like choosing the lesser of two evils. But for this, he, instead of Hetling, might have "busted" up the game. It is easy to figure things as they should be in baseball, but they don't always work out in practice. Every man's hindsight is much brighter than his headlight. Anyway, there is no disgrace in losing a game like that.

Devlin Declines to Play.

Devlin is one man who knows when he has had enough.

He was asked why he didn't get into the line-up and bolster up the Oakland infield.

"I doubt whether I would strengthen the club any," he said. "My legs are not what they used to be, and last season I found that I couldn't hit a lick. For me to get back in my old playing form, were it possible, it would mean a long, hard road, with uncertain results. Guess I'll let the youngsters do the work."

Some admission from a man who for eight years ruled as one of the greatest third basemen in the business.

Elliott Disrespects Beavers.

"Outside of the pitching staff, Portland has a better club than last season." (Cigar stand speech by "Rowdy" Elliott.)

"But believe yours truly, the Beavers are missing Hagerman, James and Krapp. The loss of these cat an awful hole in Mac's pitching staff. Personally, I am satisfied that they are all right elsewhere. If McCredie had all of his heavers of last year there is no telling what he wouldn't do. At that, I look for the Beavers to make a lot of trouble.

"Portland also misses Chadbourne, to my way of thinking one of the most useful outfielders that ever prospected the sun for a fly ball. However, Buddy Ryan, his successor, is playing wonderful ball. It was the loss of those three pitchers which hit Mac where it hurts."

On Slugging the Sphere.

Mr. Elliott was asked for a few remarks on the art of fence-busting—to explain how it is possible for a man with only two hands to hit beyond .400

"W-a-a-ll," said "Rowdy," pausing to fill his left cheek with a large chew of horseplug, "it's jes' this way." (Prior to this we hadn't suspected even a subtle relation between art and chewing tobacco.) "I jes' go up there rememberin' that the law entitles me to 'three healthies,' an' I make the most of 'em. If a feller keeps swingin', he's sure to hit 'em safe now and then."

Almost as simple as the late Ed Delehanty's formula. Ed, on being asked to write a newspaper article on successful batting, told the story in five words: "Hit 'em where they ain't." Sounds simple, doesn't it.

Twenty Innings.

the exit an hour before, expecting each inning to be the last.

It was Malarkey's turn to lead off in the twentieth. The old boy scorned the services of a pinch-hitter. He would stick it out to the end, win or lose.

Out in the box, Klepfer for the first time was showing a trace of weariness. His shoulders sagged suspiciously, and he seemed to force his delivery. Malarkey had been up seven times before without getting a safe lick. This time he singled cleanly to center. The break had come. But even now it seemed that the inevitable might be forestalled. Litschi, who had been fielding like a king, speared Middleton's grounder, and threw to McArdle, forcing the legweary Oakland pitcher.

STRATEGY.

Quinlan sacrificed Middleton to second, with a bunt to McDonnell. Like back to the wall, Klepfer was now fighting with his head as well as with his arm. There was a cryptic consultation with Bliss. He walked Zacher purposely. This paved the way for a possible forceout at third or second. Several times before this, both pitchers had resorted to the strategy of walking a man, and it had worked. This time it proved the wrong guess.

Hetling, who hadn't hit the ball safely for twelve innings, shot a low fly into right center. Half the fans could not follow it. Meloan seemed to sense it in the half-darkness, darted forward and dove for the sphere. It struck sod in front of him and shot by to the fence. Middleton and Zacher scored. Had Meloan cut the drive down to a single it would have made no difference in the result, as Oakland needed but one run, and Quinlan figured to score from second on a single to the outfield. Leard strangled Ness's grounder and downed him at first for the third out. This was Leard's sixteenth difficult chance without a slip. McArdle had handled the same number.

DIDN'T QUIT.

The Tigers were beaten, but didn't quit. It had rolled around for Klepfer to lead off in the twentieth. But now all the good pitching in the world couldn't save the battle. It was batting they needed—their sole hope lay in one final assault. Borton was sent in to bat for Klepfer. It was now almost impossible to locate the ball, and "Babe" grounded to Guest. Malarkey cut down Carlisle at the plate. Leard managed to find the ball and it shot between Cook and Hetling for a single. It was the last shot of a depleted arsenal. Meloan flied out for the final curtain, Quinlan making the catch over where the stand was about to come up. A wonderful entertainment for two bits.

It was an evenly-balanced contest over most of the route. Malarkey fanned twelve to nine for Klepfer, and walked four as against Ed's five. Several of these passes were deliberate. Each side made two errors. Not a bad average, considering that there were a total of 191 chances in the field, 91 for Oakland and 100 for Venice. Imagine only two boots out of an even hundred chances!

Oakland made fifteen hits against thirteen for Venice. Quite some hitting in a way, but not so much when you reflect that Oakland was at bat sixty times and Venice sixty-seven. Ness, up nine times without getting a safe lick, was the worst sufferer. Guest stole the batting honors with four hits out of eight times up for a percentage of .500. Hetling and McArdle were hot seconds, with three hits apiece.

TIGER TALLIES.

Bayless scored the first run of the game in the fourth on his own triple and a single by McArdle. Singles by Litschi, McArdle and Elliott were bracketed with an error by Hetling for a second Tiger tally in the sixth.

Oakland began pulling up in the seventh, scratch singles by Hetling and Guest, sandwiching a clean clout by Cook, giving Devlin's men a run. Elliott's overthrow of first, Zacher's walk and Hetling's drive, which caromed off Klepfer's glove for a single tied the score in the eighth.

Up to this point there had been considerable fussy baseball, and there were no symptoms that it soon would swing into a classic.

In the eighth Zacher and Quinlan got their signals crossed, with the result that Bayless's fly dropped between them for a double. A wild pitch placed Dick on second, and he loomed up like the deciding run. Great work by Hetling and Ness retired Litschi. McDonnell fouled out and McArdle fanned. Miltze singled in the ninth, but didn't get beyond first. But three Tigers faced Malarkey in that round, and the game took on an unmistakable extra-inning aspect.

NEAR TROUBLE.

The game was then hitless until the eleventh, when Guest singled. He was forced at second by Miltze. Elliott singled through Cook in the twelfth. Kane was put in to run for him. Malarkey fanned Klepfer and Carlisle and Kane was flagged stealing.

But six Oaks were up in the next two innings. McDonnell landed the next Venice blow, a double just inside third, in the fourteenth, with one out. McArdle popped to Ness. Bliss was passed purposely. Klepfer fanned for the third out. There was nothing doing in the fifteenth, not a runner reaching first. Zacher opened the sixteenth with a clean single to center, but was shot down by Bliss stealing.

Cook, the first man up in the seventeenth, walked. Guest singled infield to Leard, and the whole place became downcast. Miltze flied to right. Malarkey raked a hard drive over Klepfer. Ed's glove deflected it just right for Leard to get it into a fast double, McArdle to McDonnell.

NEAR THE END.

Carlisle gave what seemed to be good cause for cheering when he ripped open the eighteenth with a single to right. Leard forced him. Bill took second on Meloan's out. Malarkey showed his baseball acumen by walking Bayless. Litschi flicked off a fly to Hetling.

After these exciting events, everything was perfectly tranquil until the fatal twentieth.

FOUL TIPS.

Harry McArdle, the husky Tiger shortstop, is the man responsible for the twenty-inning game yesterday. But for Mac's remarkable fielding, the game would have been tucked away by the Oaks as far back as the eleventh inning. Half a dozen times he tore across the field after Texas leaguers and never missed one. Ten times he flashed in front of ground drives and came up with the ball every time for a perfect peg and an out at first base. Sixteen chances were handled by Mac and handled in a way that saved the game more than once.

Bill Leard was all over the field for sixteen chances and worked with McArdle as star lifesaver of wobbling ball games. The pair put up a powerful defense that could not be penetrated by the rifle shots off the Oakland bats.

Both Malarkey and Klepfer pitched grand ball and both became better as the game went on. Malarkey had everything in the line of a curve ball that a pitcher can have. He fed the Tigers hooks until a straight one surprised them so they would let it go by for a called strike. The support accorded the two twirlers was pitiful up to the eighth inning, when an electrical change swept over the field and it became almost impossible for a ball to be hit through the defense of either team.

"Speed" McDonnell covered first base yesterday in a way that would cause Hal Chase to gaze with envy and make big league scouts send telegrams to headquarters. Speed had thirty-four chances and he never made a semblance of an error. Some of the pegs that came his way would have caused Daubert, Chase, et al., to blink, but Mac gathered them in with a smile of confidence that made it look easy. His stop of McArdle's throw in the seventeenth inning saved the game for a time, at least. The throw was high and Speed had to reach full length and keep his foot on the bag to complete the double play and cut off the run.

"Molly" Meloan's rifle-shot pegs from right field to third base kept the runners nailed to second base all afternoon. Twice, with men on first and second, the batters hit long flies to Molly and each time he shot the ball to third on a line, keeping the runners from advancing to third.

Hetling had a wild time corralling ground hit balls in the first eight innings of the game. Every ball hit in his direction took a bad hop and Gus was wild. After the eighth the luck changed and he fielded beautifully, and to top it off, smashed out the hit that broke up the game.

Malarkey walked Bayless on purpose in the eighteenth to get a crack at Litschi, who had not been doing much damage all afternoon. Litschi was an easy out and the fans all said Bill had a good head. Klepfer walked Zacher, a dangerous hitter, to get Hetling in the first of the twentieth, and Hetling singled to right, winning the game. The fans said Klepfer was crazy and lost his own game. Can you beat it?

The Oaks are coming fast now, and it takes regular ball playing to beat them. They always put up a terrific scrap against the Tigers and the battles are worth going miles to see. The game yesterday was worth a trip across the continent.

RANK OUTSIDERS CAPTURE DERBY.

EPSOM (Eng.) May 27.—The Derby, best known of the English classic horse races, was won today by an American horse, Herman B. Duryea's Durbar II.

The winner's recent form in France had been considered so poor that he was regarded here as a rank outsider and odds of 25 to 1 were freely laid against him in the clubs last night. Today he had no trouble in disposing of a field of thirty horses, the largest that has turned out for the race since 1862. He won in a canter by three lengths from two other outsiders, Hapsburg and Peter the Hermit.

The betting just before the start of the race was 20 to 1 against Durbar II; 33 to 1 against Hapsburg, and 100 to 1 against Peter the Hermit.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Joe Bayley was lucky to get a draw with Joe Azevedo tonight before the Oakland Wheelmen's Club.

The Sacramento boy had a lead on points in the various rounds, and it probably was due to the fact that Bayley came strong in the ninth and tenth rounds that gave him an even break in the opinion of Referee Tobey Irwin. Certainly a draw was the best Bayley could have been given under the circumstances. A tab of the rounds credits Azevedo having the better of six. Three should be awarded Bayley, and the remaining one was even.

Neither man did particularly effective work, and the mill was lacking sensational features. There were no knockdowns or anything that looked like one. Azevedo showed the better punch of the two boys, though he looked to be tired in the ninth frame, during which Bayley did effective work with his left.

The bout was marred by constant clinching, and Referee Irwin was compelled to force them apart many times. Both boys were at fault, although it was Bayley who did most of the holding on.

Twenty-Inning Ball Game Upsets Players.

Never could understand why it is that the Irish don't rule the world, for if ever a man stood up for his nationality it is the wearer of the green, and presumably the orangeman, too.

For instance, Tom MacLarnie whispers in my ear to be careful and call Bill Colvin an Irishman, not an Englishman, saying Bill is sensitive on the point.

And Beatrice Nichols nails me in front of the Burbank and in a roundabout way pins a shamrock on MacLarnie, with a subtle mention that "so many think Tom's Scotch, you know, because he spells his name that way."

All coming about through discussion of the cockney dialect used in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," now running at the Main-street playhouse.

Even Peggy O'Neill kicked in, in advance, by sending us green calendars at Christmas, or maybe it was New Year's, with "top o' the mornin'" on them.

She was in town yesterday, by the way, with others of her company, and quite a bunch of the regulars went over to Pasadena to see the show.

Heavens, think of the staid old Orpheum, coming to the front with the statement that one of its headline acts "will be fully and amply clad during each number."

The statement refers to Roshanara, who does Hindu dances, and who comes next week. It won't seem like the Orpheum at all, if it proves true.

Just the same, nowadays that word "amply" uncovers a multitude of—well, its elastic anyhow.

And speaking of elastic, did you notice the ragged playing at certain theaters last night? Many a dulcet voice was harsh and hoarse.

But what can you expect after a twenty-inning ball game. Nowadays Washington Park is the theater folks' Mecca except on matinee days.

In fact, it was quite exciting until it developed that Harry Gilfoil uses prune juice when he takes that famous drink as Baron Sands.

"It's a bear," cried little Gabriel when he heard the news, and it was just at that precise moment that an express wagon drew up at the stage door with a real bear, which some one up in Vancouver had presented the tiny comedian.

Gabriel tells me he is going to train Bruin and use him in the act.

A New Japanese Island.

[Indianapolis News:] A new volcanic island has appeared in the Bonin group, three miles east by south of Iwojima Island. It is five miles in circumference and attains a height of 2000 feet. The appearance of this island is especially interesting for the reason that the other Bonin Islands, although of volcanic origin, are believed to date back to eocene times. They contain no hot springs, and are not subject to earthquakes.

France and England between them offer this year $500,000 in prizes to aviators of the world. The largest prize, for $100,000, is offered by the French League for Safety in the Air, for the craft which will best confer security on its pilot and passengers.

TUESDAY RESULTS BOOST DIME'S TRAINING METHOD.

Old-Timers' Trio of Fistic Lights Have Won Local Bouts by Knockout Route—Chip Admits Hitting Petroskey Low but Denies Intent to Foul—Where Does Ritchie Stand?

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

BOTH George Chip and Joe Chip were round town yesterday afternoon, with their manager and trainer, Jimmy Dime, and their side partner, big Tom McMahon, looking as fresh and clean as they did before entering the ring Tuesday night.

Neither had much to say about their contests, but it goes without saying that they were greatly pleased with the showing they made. George Chip is particularly sorry that any one would think he fouled Petroskey intentionally, although his manager, Dime, admitted that George hit a low blow, and said to him as he came back to his corner after the round was over:

"Be careful, George, you hit Petroskey low; do not lose the contest on a foul."

"I did hit him low, but it was surely unintentional, and I know that it was not low enough to hurt his chances of beating me, if it is in him to do so," said Chip.

Chip is noted for his fairness in the ring, and no fair-minded man could accuse him of trying to commit a foul, especially when he was having things his own way.

It leaked out today that Joe Chip had two broken ribs before he left the East to meet Kid Carter, and they were in bad condition during his training and the contest.

Sailor Petroskey admitted that he had a hard time in making the weight, as The Times predicted several days ago, and judging from his showing Tuesday night, compared with that he made against Jimmie Clabby, it should be conclusive proof that we were correct.

But the Sailor has only made the same mistake that many other fighters have made. They seem to have a mania for reducing themselves to a weakened condition, always believing they have something on the other fellow, when, as a matter of fact, they are injuring themselves.

Petroskey, from this time on, belongs to the Jack Dillon class and should never again try to make the middleweight limit.

Bob McAllister, the clever 'Frisco boy, has made this same mistake several times.

What have our Los Angeles trainers to say now about that old-timer, Jimmie Dime's, method of training?

Dime introduced a system that was quite new here, but he produced the results. Just stop and think. He came to the Coast comparatively unknown, except to a few of the old-timers, with three boxers, and all three won by the knockout route.

He was severely criticised by many of our so-called trainers, who said that his system was not only no good, but that he worked his boys too much.

Still this old-timer smashed all their systems to pieces.

We will have to hand it to Jimmie Dime. We have had so many tiring and long-winded twenty-round contests, that a knockout before the limit is reached makes Dime's method quite refreshing, as well as worth copying.

Now that Willie Ritchie has been beaten in a ten-round go by Charlie White, what will become of Bob Vernon's offer of a $35,000 purse for Willie to meet Freddy Welsh in England next month?

While he does not lose his championship, he should first meet White in a twenty-round contest before he meets Welsh.

White was several pounds lighter in weight, yet turned the trick.

Ritchie is a welterweight, and it is safe to say that if he ever does consent to meet White again, Charlie will be compelled to give a few more pounds for the chance.

CHICAGO'S DIVORCE RECORD.

Five Times as Many Families Separated than in the Great City of London in the Same Time.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] Chicago in 1912, according to reports just published, had nearly 5000 divorces. London in 1912 had 920 divorces. The population of Chicago is 2,185,283. The population of Greater London is 7,251,358.

The Chicago divorces, which are discussed by Judge Petit in his first report to the new bureau of divorce and marriage statistics, of the total number 2082 were granted by the circuit court chancellors and about an equal number in the superior courts. The 1913 total for the city does not set a new record. The 1913 figures for London were so large that they were discussed in the daily papers as showing moral breakdown.

In the London divorces the number of children affected was small; in Chicago it was large. Of the London divorces 444 were granted, in cases where there were no children, 847 where there was only one, 192 where there were only two and only 100 where the number of children was more than two and less than six, making about 1371 children affected in the year. In Chicago for the same length of time the homes of 2500 children were broken up.

In the fourteen years since the Juvenile Court was opened 50,353 petitions for the care of dependent, delinquent, truant children have been considered, 32,750 of these being in families where there had been divorce, or where one or the other parent was guilty of conduct which would have entitled the other to a decree.

In London for a similar period the number was much less than 19,000. The total number of children in Chicago under 14 years of age, according to the latest figures, the 1912 school census, is 620,238.

When this number is compared with the 50,353 who have been through the Juvenile Court the importance of the divorce evil to Chicago childhood, as pointed out by Chief Justice Petit, is apparent. The chief justice is asking that where there are minor children divorces be not granted unless there is some guarantee that the children will be provided for after the separation.

Of the total number of divorces granted in London from 1902 to 1912, which was 9728, 2345, or 39.52 per cent., were childless.

Of the Chicago decrees granted about 3000 were to women. In London 506 cases were brought by husbands and only 414 by wives. In Chicago it is the women who fly to court; in London it is the men.

Red Spring Caused a Fire.

[Electrical World:] A fire which might have been accompanied by disastrous results was recently caused in a curious way by wire bed springs short-circuiting a storage battery, which had been temporarily placed beneath the bed. The occupant of the bedroom in sitting on the bed caused the spring to sag, short-circuit the battery terminals and fuse, thereby burning a hole in the mattress and setting fire to the bedding. The battery had been removed from an automobile, and was being stored for the rest of the winter beneath the bed, where it would be out of the way and not freeze.

HUESTON DOWNS LEE AND BAYNE.

BILLIARD EXPERT OPENS CONTESTS AT MORLEY'S.

Ex-Holder of Two Championships Commences Series at Three-Cushion and Pocket Games—Challenger of All-Comers, He Proves Himself Equal to All Emergencies.

Tom Hueston inaugurated his billiard exhibitions yesterday at Morley's by defeating Leonard Lee in the afternoon on scores of 50 points to 30, in seventy-three innings; and pulling out ahead of Jack Bayne at night by 50 to 42, after eighty-four innings, both games being at three-cushions.

The ex-champion "started off terrible," to use his own expression, in the afternoon session, getting but three points in twenty turns, and permitting Lee to lead him through forty-two innings, when he had acquired seventeen.

After feeling out the table, Hueston showed his caliber, and ran 31 in the last twenty-six innings, for an average of 1.19, with high run of 5 in the sixtieth.

Morley explains the expert's slow beginning with the statement that Los Angeles cushions are a little too classy for instant assimilation by a San Franciscan, and that further practice with first-class equipment will enable the world challenger to show his true form. This effect is scheduled for today.

Good as Hueston unquestionably is, Jack Bayne, with his customary dash, led him for fifty-six innings, holding him tied at 70, with 40 points, and making high run of the game with 9 points in the second turn.

The game was as interesting throughout as could be wished, the first ten innings giving Bayne 15 points, and Hueston 10. Ties at 24, 36, 37 and 40 followed, Hueston making his best mark of 5 in going out. Masterly play was shown frequently, several shots being new to experienced observers.

Toward the end, the opponents used such care in playing for safe leaves that the game materially slowed in averages, though holding its tension to the last.

Hueston has an individual style of action, with foot and knee positions much resembling those of Loyd Jevne. He uses a twenty-two-ounce cue, wrapped at intervals over the whole length of ebony.

Gould is to meet Hueston this afternoon, and tonight Frederic Lee is to essay 150 balls at pocket billiards as his opponent. Tomorrow evening Hueston and Morley meet at three cushion, with Henry Berry officiating as referee.

The International Horse Show will be held at the London Olympia beginning on June 4. Close to $70,000 will be offered in prize money, cups and plate.

American Football.

L.A.A.C., COACHED BY JACK D'AULE, TO PLAY OLD GAME

THE return of U.S.C. to the American game of football appears to be on the point of starting a regular landslide in favor of the rejuvenated form of footer.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club is the latest to enter the lists against the big southern colleges, all of whom are again to play the old game, and if the L.A.A.C. aggregation measures up to the reputation of its individual members and coach, it will make the machines of Pipal, Stanton and Glaze move with considerable speed to win.

Jack D'Aule, a man who has become famous in Los Angeles for his interest in and knowledge of the old game, has been chosen to lead the clubmen in the capacity of coach while Owen Bird will handle the financial end and do the managing.

The club squad will be composed of twenty-five men, no more and no less, and will play a schedule of probably nine games, with the varsity and freshman elevens of U.S.C., Occidental and Pomona, and also with Whittier and Redlands varsities and San Diego High School.

D'Aule says that he already has a team lined up calculated to worry any team in the country. He names as a few of his men Mason, last year's Whittier quarter; Brownell, Whittier half-back; Munn, All-Rocky Mountain end in 1913; Ed Durbin, All-Rocky Mountain guard; Ramey, a half-back who became famous at Oregon; Fred Thompson, Bull Finch of Whittier and a whole flock of other cracks.

In order to prepare for the season D'Aule will start east very soon to brush up on some of the fine points learned by the eastern teams, and will be here to start training in the middle of August.

LAST TOURNEY STARTS TODAY.

LINK LIGHTS GATHER AT VIRGINIA COUNTRY CLUB.

Norman Macbeth Captured Invitation Event Last Year—San Gabrielites Hold Medal Play as Will Annandale—Tennis Matches Also on Programme for Holiday.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The last large tournament of the seasons opens at the Virginia Country Club this morning, an invitation affair, open to members of all clubs in the association. It commences with an eighteen-hole qualifying round at 9 a.m.

There was a record entry for this event when the Virginia made its debut as a member of the association last year—over 100 entries. And this one promises to be just as happy a success. Everyone likes to be in at the farewell—and leave a good impression behind.

Norman Macbeth of the Los Angeles Country Club won this tournament on the last occasion, with the late Martin Chase runner-up. Roger D. Lapham won the qualifying score with a 71, that only just missed being a 69, owing to one bad hole.

Match play will commence this afternoon, and the second round and semi-final matches will be played tomorrow. There are prizes for each flight and each defeated eight, besides the runner-up of the first flight and the qualifying round.

A. M. Goodhue, president and champion of the club, is chairman of an amiable committee of hosts whose duty it will be to see that everybody has a good time.

San Gabriel Country Club.

Besides the large tennis tournament arranged for next Saturday, the golfers will hold the first of their monthly medal play events. Next Saturday, May 30, being a holiday, it seemed an amiable opportunity to hold the June contest. San Gabriel is so progressive.

These monthly affairs have been planned for the express purpose of raising the standard of golf at the valley club and to bring members up to a higher state of efficiency in tournament competitions. How to score is a lesson that is to be impressed, and one pictures the lordly green committee holding classes in golf deportment and etiquette. Very right and proper. Manners maketh the golfer.

They will also have a medal play handicap out at the Annandale Country Club on Saturday—eighteen holes, full handicap. But the Los Angeles and Midwick Clubs have arranged no special events, amiably concluding that most of their members will be at Long Beach.

OUIMET PLAYS IN TITLE FINALS.

VERSAILLES (France) May 27.—Francis Ouimet, the American open champion, and Henry J. Topping, Greenwich Country Club, Connecticut, will meet in the final round tomorrow for the French amateur golf championship.

Each of the American players showed excellent form today, Ouimet defeating Apperley, the Australian player in the semi-final round by 4 up and 3 to play, and Topping eliminating the American amateur champion, Jerome D. Travers. In the previous round Ouimet disposed of Lord Charles Hope, the holder of the title, by 1 up.

An Aerial Bridge.

[Wide World Magazine:] To cross the Athabasca River, in the Jasper National Park, situated in the Rockies, in Alberta, Can., one must use a wire rope. The river is very wide and fast-flowing, and this crossing by wire is not without an element of danger, seeing that on a recent occasion the center-pin of the pulley wheel fell out just as one man got to shore. Had the accident occurred a little earlier the voyager would have been precipitated into the river and promptly swept away to his death. As the stream is too dangerous for boats, and too deep and rapid to ford, this wire rope affords practically the only means of getting from one side to the other. The crossing, however, is sufficiently nerve-trying to ordinary folk without the added excitement of faulty pulleys.

COUPLE MORE SKY-PEEPERS.

Two Auxiliary Telescopes for Mt. Wilson Observatory.

Six Satellites for Great Hundred-Incher.

Veterans Arrange Services for Memorial Day.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, May 28.—Two more telescopes are to be installed at the Carnegie observatory on Mt. Wilson. Work has already been begun on the domes and by next fall there will be six telescopes there, making the observatory, in point of equipment, beyond question the largest in the world.

This is exclusive of the giant 100-inch telescope, the dome of which is now being put together on the peak. It will be the only one in the world over sixty inches in diameter, and, it is expected, will bring into view thousands of stars that have never been seen.

The two new telescopes that are to be done by fall are a ten-inch and a six-inch. The larger will be used for rapid photographic work where it is desired to include on the plate a large area of the sky. The smaller one will be designed for visual work and will be used for observations of the sun. None of the other telescopes on the mountain lend themselves readily to visual sun work. The sixty-inch telescope, which is now one of the two largest in existence, cannot be used for this work, as the heat is too great.

The ten-inch telescope is being made at Cleveland and will soon be shipped. Work on the dome for it is now in progress. The other will partly be made here. The mounting will be constructed at the observatory shops in Pasadena and the lens will come from England. Work on the dome for that also has been begun.

Over half of the material for the middle portion of the 100-inch telescope dome has arrived in Pasadena and half of this has been taken up the mountain on trucks over the toll road. There will be about eleven carloads of it in all and it will probably be fall before it is all set in place on the concrete foundation, which was constructed last summer. All of the finer mechanism for the big telescope is to be made at the Pasadena shops, where the priceless reflecting lens was ground and is now being polished.

PLANS ARE MADE.

Chairman Metcalf of the City Commission yesterday issued a proclamation suggesting all business be suspended on Memorial Day. Plans were made yesterday for the celebration of the day, under the auspices of John F. Godfrey Post, No. 92, Grand Army of the Republic. G. M. Burlingame, who is to be marshal of the parade, extended an invitation to all fraternal organizations of the city to join the veterans in the procession, which will form at the G.A.R. headquarters on North Broadway at 9 o'clock in the morning and proceed directly to Library Park, where the exercises will be held under a flagstaff that the veterans recently erected there. The school children also will join in the parade.

CITY BRIEFS.

A conference yesterday between the City Commissioners and a committee of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association was unproductive of any definite results, but it is probable that the Commission will soon offer to take the portion of the park still owned by the association and assume the mortgage on it, besides making projected improvements.

The Twilight Club has presented a resolution to the City Commission asking that provision be made in the budget for the coming year for at least one public playground, to be centrally located.

WATER SYSTEM PAYS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OXNARD, May 27.—After eight months' operation the new municipal water system here proves itself self-sustaining. T. E. Walker, superintendent, states that the daily per capita consumption is 160 gallons. The city took over the water-distributing plant of the Ventura County Power Company September 1, 1913, and operated it as a municipal water supply pending the completion of the new plant. The old plant has since been abandoned as a water supply and portions of the machinery sold. In purchasing the old system the amount paid was more for a clear field and desire to deal fairly with the power company than value of the plant, which has been almost wholly replaced by new machinery and piping. No payments on the principal of the bond issue voted for the water system are due for ten years, by which time it is believed the income from the department will be more than sufficient to care for the payments. In this manner the city has the water system with its increased facilities at no added cost. Water pressure for fire protection has been greatly increased.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, May 27.—Elaborate plans have just been completed for the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner-stone for the elegant new Venice Union Polytechnic High School on Friday afternoon, following a luncheon. The Venetians and visitors will be taken in automobiles to the location of the new school, where the Venice band will play. E. R. Snyder, State Commissioner of Vocational Education, will deliver an address, as will County Superintendent of Schools Keppel. Other talks will be given by Gov. Barry of the Soldiers' Home and Principal C. T. Work of the High School.

CUTTING DOWN GIRL EXPENSES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, May 27.—Declaring that the expenses of High School students are extravagant and the special assessments levied for class rings, pins, sweaters, caps and other insignia are overburdensome to many of the senior pupils and their families, the local Board of Education has taken a decided stand against all unnecessary expense.

It is suggested that the Parent-Teachers' Association take up the question of simplicity. President Evans of the board denounces expensive gowns and believes that $5 should be the limit of cost.

LIQUOR FIGHT FOAMS AFRESH.

MAYOR VETOES COUNCILMANIC REPEAL OF ZONE.

Ministers Suggest Recall of Four Solons Because They Would Permit Establishment of Saloon in Any Section of City—Ministerial Union Hold Indignation Meeting.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, May 27.—San Diego is again in the midst of a "wet-and-dry" fight. It was occasioned this time by the passage by four of the Councilmen of an ordinance repealing the old ordinance establishing a liquor zone. Today Mayor O'Neall vetoed the repealing ordinance, but it will in all probability be repassed by the four Councilmen over his veto.

By its repeal a saloon may be located in any part of the city so long as but fifty-five licenses are issued. Councilman Adams opposed the bill, basing his stand on the fact that it was passed as an emergency ordinance, and that he failed to see the urgency of the case. The Mayor's veto is based on the same reason.

Mass meetings were held today and yesterday by the Ministerial Union and laymen, and quick action against such a measure was pledged by those present. A committee, composed of Rev. W. H. Gelstwelt, Rev. W. B. Crabtree and Rev. E. F. Hallenback, is planning legal action against the bill if passed. The Councilmen voting for the repeal are Councilmen Fay, Benbough, Schmidt and Admiral Manney. Their recall was suggested by Rev. W. B. Thorp.

CALLING FOR BIDS ON SEWER WORK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, May 27.—The second important step in securing a modern sewer system was taken last night when the Board of City Trustees issued a call for bids for the construction of the remaining half of the main lines, the bids to be opened June 13.

The first half of the system, which was awarded to R. N. Nicevich of Los Angeles, the lowest bidder, for $51,476.08, is well under way, and a large part of it will have been completed by the time the second contract is let. A large part of the sewer has been laid on Diamond avenue. On Huntington drive the mains have been laid from Alhambra road to Oneonta Station, and on Fair Oaks avenue from Columbia street to Mission, and from Oneonta Station to Monterey road. The dredge is now working west on Monterey road, and that street will soon be completed.

Contractor Andrew Holloway now has a gang of men at work on Fair Oaks avenue preparing that street for the laying of pavement. Ground has been broken from Columbia street to Hope street, the first work consisting of the tearing up of the heavy concrete gutter along the Raymond Hotel property.

It is expected that after the pavement is completed to Mission street, concluding a continuous paved street from Los Angeles to Pasadena through the business section of South Pasadena, the work of paving Huntington drive will be taken up; then the gap on Fair Oaks avenue between Huntington drive and Mission street, after which Monterey road will be paved. That will then leave only Huntington drive from Fair Oaks to Garfield avenue to be paved, making South Pasadena one of the best paved streets in Los Angeles county. The pavement of the approach to the Arroyo Seco bridge near the Ostrich Farm is well under way.

AGED RANCHMAN LOSES HIS HANDS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, May 27.—W. C. H. Walker, an aged ranchman of La Habra Valley, met with a serious accident yesterday while assisting James Warne, an Anaheim contractor, in pulling the casing from a well on the Walker place. A rope on the windlass broke and 1000 pounds of pipe descended upon Walker's hands, its sharp edges cutting them in a dreadful manner. At the hospital doctors found it necessary to amputate both hands, one at the wrist, the other leaving only a thumb.

Walker is 78 years old and his recovery from the shock is doubtful. His wife, who has been an invalid for several years, is prostrated. Their daughter, Mrs. Laura English, with her son, had just arrived from the East for a visit to the family when the accident occurred, and a hearty handshake in greeting to his grandson was the last act of the old gentleman previous to the accident.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Olinda Parent-Teacher Association has elected the following officers: President, Mrs. William Travers; first vice-president, Mrs. Welin; second vice-president, Mrs. Will Annin; secretary, Mrs. J. J. Gale; treasurer, Mrs. Merritt Smith; historian, Mrs. F. M. McBride.

The Los Alamitos sugar factory is just now a hive of industry, where eighty men are hastening to put the plant in proper shape to handle what is more than likely to be the largest crop of beets in its history.

The bid of Torrance-Marshall Company of Los Angeles for the city fire bonds at par has been accepted by the City Trustees for an issue of these bonds in the sum of $5000.

HELLO HIDDEN IN THE DESERT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, May 27.—Commissioner Gordon of the State Railroad Commission conducted a hearing in this city today on an application to sell a telephone system of whose existence the commission was ignorant until the application was filed with that body.

It developed during the hearing that Mrs. Rosa L. Burcham, who owns the system which serves the town of Randsburg and vicinity, has been making a good margin of profit on the business. It was intimated that the purchasers, the Interstate Telephone Company, would be expected to file a schedule of rates.

BODY FLOATS BACK TO LAND.

Suspicious Wounds Require Attention of Coroner.

Deposed Police Chief Denies Rights of Inquiry.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, May 27.—Much lacerated either from contact with the barnacle encrusted Pine-avenue pier or from attack by sharks, the body of Mrs. Mary M. Marshall, aged 68 years, who disappeared Sunday evening, was found under the Campbell-pier platform at 6:07 o'clock this evening by E. B. Fitzgerald, a former Chicago policeman. With difficulty it was disengaged from the piling. The Coroner was notified after deep lacerations upon face, head and body were discovered.

Mrs. Marshall lived with her sister, Mrs. Isabella Colwell, No. 344 Atlantic avenue, since her husband died twenty-eight years ago. Mrs. Colwell feared her sister's mind was unbalanced because of continual dwelling upon the idea that her dead husband was calling her. Mrs. Marshall was wont to talk to the flowers in the garden at the Colwell home, telling them that she intended to join her dead husband. When part of her clothing was found at the foot of Alamitos avenue Sunday evening, it was feared she had committed suicide and a search was instituted.

DENIES JURISDICTION.

Attorney Spicer, for A. B. Austin, suspended Chief of Police, advances the contention that the Mayor and other members of the Police Commission who have filed charges of inefficiency and official misconduct against him can not legally try him on these charges. Spicer questions whether Austin was ever placed under civil service rules when he was given the post as head of the police.

The Mayor, who has started a clean-up in the police department and means to go through with it, holds the view that Austin is amenable to the civil service regulations and, unless he resigns before Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, he will be confronted by a dozen or more alleged witnesses.

Chief Austin firmly states that he will not resign under fire, and characterizes the "hearing" conducted by the Mayor and his commissioners as unjust and unfair. He says the Mayor and members of the commission act as accusers, judges and jury, and pronounce the sentence also. Although he is confronted with great odds, Austin says he will stay by the ship.

It was stated tonight that an emissary of the Mayor had approached Austin with a proposition to reinstate him if he would agree to certain conditions and that Austin refused. The former Chief would neither affirm nor deny this rumor and the Mayor flatly denied it.

Acting Chief Browne continued to revolutionize police department conditions today. He rewarded Patrolmen Denney and Remelt, chief among the informers against Austin and O'Rourke, by placing them in higher positions. Remelt he placed in charge of the station at night and assigned Denny to detective duty. Browne abolished the offices of captain of detectives and lieutenant of police and intends to ask for more patrolmen.

BURNED IN AN AUTO.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FRESNO, May 27.—Harry Weakley, a rancher of Fresno and Madera counties, aged 45 years, was burned almost to a crisp about midnight last night when an automobile which he was driving turned turtle, pinning him underneath. The automobile caught fire and was totally destroyed. Walter Robinson, 25, of Friant, who was riding with Weakley, was thrown clear and badly injured. The accident occurred in Madera county, a few miles north of the Fresno county line. The machine carried an ordinary stable lantern in place of lamps. Evidently the autoists were going at a fast clip, for the wreck occurred on a wide, level highway. Robinson was found by a passing automobilist this morning. Weakley's body was at the same time found under the remains of the car.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE, ANGELENOS INJURED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, May 24.—Attorney O. W. Davenport and his sister, Miss Davenport, were severely injured in an accident this afternoon while driving in an automobile from Los Angeles.

When near the Villa tract, a short distance from the beach, Davenport attempted to pass a horse and buggy that was standing in a narrow turn of the road. In doing so he threw the hind wheels of his car off the road, upsetting the machine.

The car was wrecked and both occupants were injured. They were brought to the Redondo Beach Hospital.

Davenport was badly bruised over the body and had his left hip severely strained. Miss Davenport received only a few bruises and small cuts about the head.

They were both removed in an ambulance this evening to their home at No. 2002 West Forty-first street, Los Angeles.

Davenport came west to Los Angeles four weeks ago from the East, purchasing the property where he now resides.

SEAL BEACH, May 27.—With A. M. Simmington as president, C. A. Little as vice-president, Judge J. C. Ord as chief booster and Miss May McIntyre as secretary, the Seal Beach Chamber of Commerce was organized here today. It is the intention to ultimately incorporate the municipality as a city of the sixth class.

"Does a girl make a good booster? Of course she does," declared Miss McIntyre today, as the officers of the new organization were making a tour of inspection of the resort in preparation for mapping out their campaign. "There is considerable opposition to my election as secretary, because of the fact that I was a girl, and I am certainly going to show them that a girl can be as good a booster as the best."

SAN BERNARDINO, May 27.—For the purpose of gaining first-hand information in regard to the contemplated rebuilding of the old through line from Temecula to Fallbrook to open up an inland route to San Diego, officials of the Santa Fe Railroad, including General Manager Wells, General Superintendent Hibbard and Superintendent Hitchcock left today in a special train for the Riverside "back country." The line in question was abandoned twenty years ago when severe washouts took away about twelve miles of the old line through the Temecula Canyon.

Residents of Fallbrook, Temecula and other towns along the line have sent repeated petitions to the Santa Fe officials asking the rehabilitation of the branch, the rich agricultural sections of Riverside and San Diego county wishing a short route to tidewater for their produce.

New Plant Makes Fertilizer of Refuse Fish.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, May 27.—As the result of dumping numerous cargoes into Southern California by northern mills the price of lumber has taken another drop and consequent cargoes have been sold as low as $10 flat. Even cutting orders have been filled at $12.

The enormous consumption of lumber in Southern California has made this the dumping ground for northern mills and the poor demand elsewhere has resulted in bed-rock prices. The heavy shipment of clear lumber ashore at high prices leaves the mills with great quantities of the cheaper grades that must be sold at any price in the domestic market as it will not stand the high freight rates for export.

The result is that building material is cheaper in Los Angeles today than for years. Although building permits in Los Angeles keep up well, the yards are well stocked and unusually heavy shipments this month have resulted in considerable unsold lumber accumulating on the docks. About a year ago the mills sent unusual quantities of unsold lumber into Southern California that resulted in a glutted market. rough piling on the wharves here was cleaned up in a few months.

FERTILIZER PLANT.

Articles of incorporation have been filed for the San Pedro Reduction Company, with an authorized capitalization of $50,000, to take over the business of the San Pedro Packing Company. The plant at Ostend on the Salt Lake Railroad will be enlarged and new methods introduced to improve the product.

Fertilizer is made from the refuse of the various fish canneries around the harbor. The directors of the new company are C. D. Crouch, who has the contract to care for the garbage in Los Angeles; V. E. Crouch, L. J. Parsons, Olga Burt and A. C. Gross.

FAST LOADING.

News has been received from Astoria that the steamer Francis H. Leggett, due here tomorrow, broke all records in loading her cargo of lumber at the Biagen mill. She loaded last Saturday afternoon and between actly eighteen and one-half hours loaded her cargo of 1,491,644 feet of lumber.

FEARS FEDERALS

The British steamer Catrine proceeded down the Coast to Ancon tonight after loading 1100 tons of coal for the German cruiser Nuernberg. As Acapulco is in the hands of the Constitutionalists, Captain Forrister does not anticipate any trouble, but believes that on account of his experience at Manzanillo getting refugees aboard on his trip, the Federals would shoot him on sight.

AGRICULTURAL COURSE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ANAHEIM, May 27.—To introduce an agricultural course into the next year of the Anaheim High School is long been the desire of Prof. F. Hauck, principal of that institution. Under this head will come the study of various methods of irrigation for different soils; budding and grafting of citrus and deciduous trees and the extermination of injurious pests. Realizing that such a course would for special inducements to many students who would not otherwise be able to take the High School course, Prof. Hauck presented the matter full before the Anaheim Board of Commerce and was assured of the hearty co-operation. Situated in the heart of the agricultural district surrounded alike by fine grown and rich soils, the Anaheim students will be equipped to till the ground in a scientific manner, causing it to yield better crops, and keep high the standard already made by this city.

ORT EXPLAINS HIS POSITION.

He Is Not Candidate for the Governorship.

There Are Other More Available Men.

by His Guns as a Faithful Republican.

RENO, May 27.—Referring to published reports in this morning's paper that he might be persuaded to become a candidate for Governor, Hon. E. Short said:

"It is true that I have received letters and personal solicitations from almost every part of the State trying to persuade me that I ought to become a candidate for Governor. And this has been especially true from Los Angeles and the southern portion of the State. Since I have not felt justified in becoming a candidate, I have tried to avoid publicity in the matter as much as possible. Naturally a man feels complimented in connection with the wide assumption that he is suitable and an available candidate for Governor. As to whether I would be a suitable candidate or not I have not felt justified in considering that. But as to my being at this time especially available candidate I have been inclined to disagree with [illegible] to most of the modern so-called Progressive movements, including the initiative, referendum and recall, I have been so firmly convinced that they would be unworkable, hurtful and erroneous and that they were inconsistent with Republican institutions and permanent self-government, that I preferred openly and vigorously to oppose them, even though I knew that my position was for the time being unpopular. In other words, [illegible] years ago I deliberately made up my mind to put behind me the question of office or popularity, preferring the privilege of favoring what I thought was right and opposing what I thought was wrong in public life, whether popular or unpopular. I cannot now make myself believe that in a general sense, while invariably unpopularity I have achieved pop[illegible]

I appreciate the confidence and good opinion of the public and [illegible] and believe that the things which I opposed are not as popular as they used to be, and opposition to them is not as unpopular. Nevertheless, I cannot agree that as the most conspicuous of things that have been seriously popular in this State, would be the most available can[illegible]

I have no particular desire or ambition for the office of Governor, and I certainly to achieve that office or any other office I would not change any of my public views or yield on any point for which I have fought and contended. And I am willing to say that such an attitude would not be altogether consistent with aspiring for office. At least, no political events would not be active in this direction.

However, I have great confidence in the return of sounder policies and the restoration of things fundamental to success. This State is now suffering enough from Progressive fads and frenzies, and is definitely inclined to lower its good standards.

Finally, I think the thoughtful people of this State are determined to get away from old machine methods, boss control, and the control of corporations in politics. Such conditions are bad for the people and bad for business conditions. What we ought to have is not corporate control, nor boss control, nor one kind or the other of class control, but frank and full recognition of all classes of people by the government without the effort to subordinate the one or the [illegible]

With reference to the disparaging remarks as to how it came about that the Republican County Committee of Los Angeles county unanimously requested Hon. Hiram W. Johnson and not Short to run for Governor, the answer is very simple. Short was not at the request of the committee. I wrote the telegram myself, and naturally it was addressed to Johnson and not to myself. I was gratified that a number of prominent and substantial citizens had indicated their willingness to accept the Republican nomination and believed that there will be a number of candidates in the field, and we will have a real contest of primary choice instead of the selection of a candidate by a self-elect band of leaders who look upon the party very much like the old manorial lords.

It is evident that any thoroughly representative Republicans nominated at the primaries and satisfactory to the majority of that party will receive substantial support from representative Democratic voters and will be elected beyond reasonable doubt be elected. Personally I think I have a right to say that I have contributed somewhat to a restoration of that condition and to me there is more satisfaction in the rendering of such a service than there would be in holding the office of Governor at the expense of having sacrificed or misrepresented my views and opinions on [illegible] questions."

STOCKS FOLLOW LONDON'S LEAD.

SUBSTANTIAL GAINS SHOWN BY MOST SECURITIES.

Advices That the Mexican Situation Is Well Under Way Toward Peaceful Settlement Help Bulls—Canadian Pacific, the Harrimans, Reading, Steel and Copper Extra Active.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Mexico was once more a factor of importance in the stock market today. Official advices were quite generally accepted as tending in the direction of a settlement of that unhappy situation. The local list followed London's lead, that market recording a majority of substantial gains for our securities. Canadian Pacific showed an early gain of 2 points, which it soon extended to over 3, while the Harrimans, Reading, United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper were more than ordinarily active at gains of a point or thereabouts. Specialties were again well to the front, General Motors adding more than 2 points to its recent sensational rise on reports of a resumption of dividends, while Studebaker increased its recent gains substantially in the regular list. Mercantile Marine 4½'s becoming weak, while some minor issues recently under pressure advanced. Total sales of 2,000,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

NEW YORK LETTER.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The New York Evening Post in its financial review today says:

"The most remarkable activity on the stock exchange today, which followed yesterday's abnormally small business, was accompanied by a general rise in prices. The answer to the question at any rate one of the queries prevalent yesterday as to whether the market had gone dead because prices would go no lower or because they could not be advanced, is evidently the accepted theory today was that the market had scraped bottom and that nothing would not increase unless on a recovery. Monday's advance though admittedly nearly all stocks on the list was only deliberate and gradual and except for one or two stocks seemed to have special influences behind them, the gain in prices was not great.

"Wall street saw fit to explain the market's strength by the dispatches reporting Huerta's flight from Mexico. This may be doubtful have believed the incident is pretty much out of the question. Even today's later dispatches which did not confirm the news that the dictator had fled, treated their denial in a largely diplomatic confirmation. Flight may possibly have been delayed. The equal question of interest, both political and financial, will arise when, Huerta having actually gone, it will be seen what attitude the Niagara conference on the one hand and the insurgent Mexicans on the other will take regarding a provisional government. It shall know how the wind is blowing in that quarter then.

"No more gold was engaged today for export and the discount rate declined ¼ over the first downward reaction since last week Tuesday, with which time the rise of more than ¼ cent to yesterday's extraordinary figure occurred. Today's decline still leaves the market well above the normal gold-export level. London bought stocks on balance and in fact there was visible cheerfulness on London's own account, this partly on the successful arrangement of another short-term loan, but more largely on the fact that this week's Transvaal gold arrivals were sent mostly into the Bank of England. This will help the market street; indeed, the prevalent explanation for the absence of gold shipments from here to London has been that London has agreed to refrain from efforts to get our gold if Paris will keep its hands off the Bout-Africain consignments.

"Among other incidents of the day was the Union Pacific April earning's statement which like the Atchison's and those of several other railways which have already reported, showed a substantial gain in net over 1913.

"The Iron Age in its weekly review of steel trade conditions was perhaps less cheerful than in recent weeks, reserving a growing belief in an increased volume of business after the middle of the year, however. This expectation appears to be based on the outlook for crops."

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Market Shows Some Improvement, but Still Is Quiet—Dividends Declared by Three Regular Disbursers.

While the market on the stock exchange yesterday showed some improvement over the previous day, it still was decidedly lacking in activity. Los Angeles Investment, Union and National Pacific principally were traded in. Union closed a shade easier than the previous day, as far as final quotations were concerned. "Investment" sold steadily at 76 cents. National Pacific was firmer. Mariposa Northern was a shade better in tone. Pacific Provident sold at $1.87½. Consolidated Mines was at 4 cents. Regular monthly dividends have been declared by the Amalgamated, West Coast and Carbon oil companies—the disbursement of the first, payable June 24, to stock of record June 19; of the last two, June 15, to stock of record June 10. A petition to amend the bylaws of the exchange so that only one session, in the morning, may be held during the a day for a period of three months, is being circulated. It will require a two-thirds majority vote of the exchange members to effect the proposed change.

Industrial Progress: Shipping and Grain—Copper Market.

Imperial Valley.

WATERMELONS COMING WEST.

HAS RIPE FRUIT NOW FOR TABLE.

Trains to Bring High Grade Elsewhere—Cantaloupes Absent to Reach Market Many Men Are Employed—Ripe in Ten Days.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, May 27.—The first carload of watermelons to be shipped from here during the season left this morning and the indications are that it will have to be followed closely to the present time. The carload of melons will be shipped by Arbellian Brothers & Co., and they shipped the first carload of cantaloupes from Calexico when they shipped one ton of watermelons to Los Angeles, receiving $100 therefor. They have already made sales of cantaloupes to points in Colorado points, and Oregon and Washington States. The cantaloupe and watermelon crop is in full swing this firm and about twenty-five carloads of melons from here daily to all parts of the country and as New York and Boston will ship from its fields more than 300 carloads of melons and 500 carloads of cantaloupes during the season.

Everything, according to big growers, will have shipped practically the big crop of cantaloupes from 5000 acres before the Southern California begins. This means that the cantaloupes grown in this valley will bring a much higher price than those grown in other districts when they come to maturity a little later than here.

The cantaloupe and watermelon crop is in full swing here and there is at work in the fields here and a large force at the packing sheds, but everything is moving along so smoothly and seeming to learn the large business transacted. But the large cantaloupe shipping here resembles that of a rush hour in a large office. With the big cars leaving every few hours and at least 150 cars all the time, and destined to distant markets, the shipping manager has to systematize. He keeps track of every car, perhaps a car that left from the point of destination and days will be suddenly changed and sent to a market where prices are bringing the highest profit of the large shipping manager depends largely upon the higher price for the fruit.

Melons to be ripe in about ten days earlier than in other districts. Contrary to the opinion that canabas cantaloupes have a disadvantage, Imperial valley melons will all be shipped to their destination by top prices. Only a few cantaloupes have casabas shipped any distance to market. The Imperial Valley crop is similar to that of Arizona, Southern part of the San Joaquin Valley, but matures later, being also in Northern California and Oregon.

The Oil Industry.

FIVE MILLION IN DIVIDENDS.

BONUSES FOR SIX MONTHS TO PILE UP GOOD TOTAD.

Quarter of Million Paid Out Monthly by Regular Disbursers. Standard's Quarterly Distributions Help Greatly, as Do Other Occasional Ones.

Over $5,000,000 will have been paid out in dividends by California oil companies at the close of the first half of this year. Disbursements for the first five months total nearly $4,000,000, and during the month of June the large quarterly payment of $1,125,000 will be made by the Standard Oil Company.

Besides the quarterly dividend of the big company, there will also be paid out during the month of June about $250,000 by the companies disbursing regular monthly dividends. Announcements of three of these regular dividends were made yesterday as follows: Amalgamated, $1.25, payable June 24 to stock of record June 19; West Coast, $1.50, payable June 15, to stock of record June 10; Caribou, 2 cents per share, payable June 15 to stock of record June 10. The Standard declared its regular quarterly dividend of $2.50 per share some time ago. It is payable June 15 to stock of record May 20.

The regular monthly dividends thus far this year have aggregated $250,000 each month, the following concerns included among those paying: American Petroleum, Western Union, Section Twenty-five, Montebello, San Francisco and McKittrick, Pinal Dome, Mount Diablo, State Consolidated, Mascot, Rice Ranch, Amalgamated, West Coast, Caribou, Coalinga Mohawk, Kern River, North American Oil Consolidated, Pacific Crude and Sauer Dough. Besides these, the Fullerton Oil Company, the Producers' Transportation and the Columbia Oil Producing Company, which pay every quarter, have each made two disbursements. The Associated Oil Company has paid a dividend and the Sterling one or two since the first of the year.

Associated	600,000
Amalgamated	875,000
American Petroleum	900,000
Producers' Transportation	210,000
Fullerton (including extra)	150,000
Carlson	97,000
West Coast	90,000
Western Union	60,000
Section Twenty-five	60,000
Montebello	60,000
Santa Francisco and McKittrick	60,000
Kern River	60,000
Columbia	60,000

The monthly dividend aggregate has been greatly lessened since last summer, owing to the fact that the Union is no longer making its disbursements, and while the showing thus far this year is not as good as for the same period in 1913, the amount distributed will increase as the year progresses. The Union will make a disbursement in July, while the Palmer Annex, a $2,000,000 corporation, is also likely to enter the dividend-paying class soon.

No Gushers Now.

The California Petroleum Corporation now has no large wells producing in the Maricopa Flat gusher district. The corporation's large producer, No. 3, which came in early in the year, is off production, on account of a collapsed casing, and is being redrilled. No. 2 well, which produced some 10,000 barrels recently, is still drilling. The sand from which the oil came was not the prolific one for which the company is looking. No. 3 will probably soon be finished.

AN EVEN EXCHANGE.

A hat and an ax was the exchange made early yesterday morning by a burglar in the home of S. A. Barrett, No. 5062 Rosewood street, for a pair of Barrett's trousers. Nothing else was taken from the home. The loss was discovered by Barrett when he arose yesterday morning, to find his trousers gone and the ax and hat in their place.

New York Curb Stocks.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Oil stocks were strong in the early trading but lost ground at the close today. In the mining list Goldfield Consolidated was in demand at 1½; Midway and North Star sold off fractionally; the rest were quiet and unchanged. Maxwell Motors was weaker, while Willys sold at new high prices. There was little or no specific news from the Boston market, although the tone shows considerable strength. There was little trading and price changes were unimportant.

CORN WEAKENS WITH ADVENT OF NEEDED SHOWERS.

Wheat, However, Is Bolstered by Decrease in the World's Available Supply and Closes Firm After an Average of Higher Quotations. Oats Rule Easy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 27.—Wheat averaged higher today, helped by a big decrease in the world's available supply. The market closed firm at the same as last night to 1 cent advance. In corn the outcome varied from 1 decline to 1⅛ gain. Oats finished 1-8@¼ to 5-8 down and provisions with a rise of 5 to 12½c. Rains over western States and a few showers in the territory nearer Chicago tended to make wheat prices dip at the outset. Corn weakened on account of needed showers in various parts of the domestic belt. Oats ruled easier because of the drought being somewhat relieved and owing to signs of additional moisture at hand. Shorts in provisions took the buying side.

New York Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Considerable activity and new high levels in prices marked today's trading. News was plentiful but mostly of a bullish tenor. Continued rains in Texas and drought in the eastern States, along with many private advices of damage being beyond repair, brought to the attention of the trade in general the fact that prices must necessarily go to a point that will adjust the now almost certain deficit that will exist between the supply and requirements of the coming year. Spot cotton is keeping up with the advances in futures and the only thing that prevents a large business being done in the actual, is that workable cotton is not available, the stock in the South being composed of a product not suited for ginning up.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Utilities yesterday approved plans for rerouting yellow car lines, and also discussed the old project of a car line loop around the Plaza, as a means of relieving traffic congestion in the business district.

The voters southeast of the city will have the opportunity for the fourth time to vote on the question of annexation to the city. If they come inside this will bring the city limits to Huntington Park, which wants to consolidate with Los Angeles.

Various Councilmen yesterday criticised the Park Commission for its action in seeking to prevent the newly-appointed Greek Theater Commission from proceeding with its proposed duties.

A $5000 property sold for $4.04 delinquent assessment passed through several hands before the owner discovered she had lost it. She brought suit to quiet title, and an interesting legal question has arisen which may cost one of the defendants $1200 he loaned on a mortgage covering the land.

REVIVE PLAZA LOOP PROJECT.

CAR-REROUTING PLAN REVIVES OLD DISCUSSION.

Commissioner Declares Property Owners Around Temple Block Should Get Relief from Traffic Congestion and Franchise Should Be Given for Circling Park.

Renewed attention was given by the Board of Utilities yesterday to the plan that has been propounded from time to time for the past dozen years of sending street cars around a loop at the old Plaza, and thus relieving congestion at the Temple block.

This subject arose in connection with the action of the commission in approving the plans of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation for rerouting lines as announced in The Times yesterday, turning them around the Temple block. Commissioner Wyscha-ling insisted that the property owners around the Temple block are entitled to relief from traffic congestion, and that it would be proper to again take up the oft-discussed project of looping the Plaza with the yellow car service.

Wirsching stated that officials of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation had tacitly agreed to construct and operate the loop if the city would give it a franchise and that he would have various property owners of the north end of the business district appear before the commission to present the alleged advantages of such a project.

In the discussion that ensued, Railroad Engineer Mehler proposed a project for keeping many yellow cars off of Main street, south of First street, by routing them from the Plaza south on Main to First, thence east on First to Wilmington street, where a short block of new trackage would connect with the San Pedro-street line. He also urged the advantage of placing a three-rail line on Los Angeles street, as a relief to general traffic congestion in the business district and said that he considered this would be a most practicable move for such relief, as it would handle at least 20 per cent. of the traffic now on Main street.

At yesterday's meeting it was decided to approve the plan of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, effective June 7, of routing the Pico Heights cars to run by way of Broadway to First and Spring streets cross-over, where part of the Grand-avenue cars are now turned back, but which will be taken off of this cross-over by the new rerouting plans. Provision is also made for Sunday service to Eastlake Park so as to run all Grand-avenue and Pico Heights cars by way of Broadway through to the park.

WILL TRY AGAIN.
WANT TO COME INSIDE.

For the fourth time voters of the territory lying southeast of the city, including Bell Precinct and a portion of Laguna Precinct No. 2, will have the opportunity to vote on the question of annexing to Los Angeles. Strong pleas were made by property owners of the district before the City Council yesterday for the calling of an election, and the Council has ordered the City Clerk to canvass the petitions and certify as to whether these are sufficient.

It was declared by the speakers that the boundary lines have been so arranged as to leave out an element that has previously opposed annexation and that it is now practically certain that the vote will be in favor of joining the city. This will bring the city limits to Huntington Park, which is anxious to consolidate with Los Angeles.

CRITICISE BOARD.
MUDDLE OVER GREEK THEATER.

Various members of the City Council yesterday condemned the attitude of the Park Commission in undertaking to prevent, through court action, the recently appointed committee composed of Col. Griffith J. Griffith, Maj. John T. Jones and W. C. Mushet, from carrying out their mission of erecting a Greek theater and an observatory in Griffith Park, by use of funds which Col. Griffith has provided for this purpose.

Members of the Council declared their belief that the city should avail itself of Col. Griffith's generous offer at once and that the Park Commission is standing in the way of the city getting quick benefit from the proposed gift. Some of them declared that should the Mayor remove the Park Commission he would be upheld by the Council. The Mayor said yesterday that he will not remove the commission, and that if there are legal points that the commission wants settled the best method is to take the subject into the courts.

PROPOSE FLAT RATE.
FEES FOR LIQUOR LICENSES.

The special committee appointed weeks ago to work out a plan for increasing the city's revenues from liquor licenses held another meeting yesterday afternoon and abandoned the previously-agreed-upon project of basing the license tax upon the monthly receipts of each liquor business. This method was strenuously opposed by various liquor dealers, but they admitted that the business should pay the city an increased revenue. They urged that a flat rate be adopted, but this plan has not received the committee's approval.

The subject is before the Council as a committee of the whole. It will hold a meeting next Monday afternoon to receive and consider the report of the special committee. It is probable that the committee will recommend a flat rate of $175 a month for saloons, and a proportionate increase on other forms of liquor licenses.

DOUBTFUL PROSPECT.
UNIVERSAL TRANSFERS.

A petition headed by C. L. Edmondson, and signed by 400 people of the southwestern part of the city, was before the Public Utilities Commission yesterday, asking for universal transfers without the payment of double fares.

The commission has submitted the legal phases of the subject to the City Attorney for advice, and has asked the railway companies for suggestions on the subject. In the face of the court records, however, the prospect for action such as is desired by the petitioners is not promising. In the case of Reynolds vs. the Pacific Electric Railway, Cal., 146-561, which was on this line, the decision of the State Supreme Court was to the effect that one railroad could not be compelled to accept the transfers of another company.

MUNICIPAL POINTERS.

The Council yesterday denied the protest against the paving of Bunker Hill avenue from First to Fourth street. This improvement was declared a public necessity.

Chief Engineer Mulholland yesterday notified the Board of Public Works that in the construction of the Arroyo de la Brea storm drain along Tenth street, from Normandie avenue to Catalina street, it will be necessary to remove and relay the six-inch water main for a distance of 1582 feet, at a cost of $950. This must be provided for by the Board of Public Works.

This city has joined the ranks of the sanitary legion. No roller towels in city offices after the beginning of the next fiscal year is the order, and the store department has provided a supply of paper towels for washrooms.

The Board of Public Utilities met yesterday, but Commissioner Bekins remained absent. He has attended only one meeting since April 1. That was last week, when he returned to his official duties simply long enough to save his official head, as the time limit of sixty days' absence was about to expire.

The Harbor Committee of the Council this morning at 10 o'clock will hear protests on the wharfage and handling rates at the harbor.

The Finance Committee conferred yesterday with members of the Public Service Commission and the City Attorney on the subject of disposal of the power bonds. It was decided to ask the City Attorney to prepare the necessary ordinance providing for the engraving of the bonds for $1,250,000 of the $6,500,000 issue, this portion being that needed for the completion of the power plant.

Members of the Council made a personal inspection of the territory within the proposed Virgil-avenue storm drain district yesterday. This is preliminary to a public hearing on the subject of starting proceedings for this project, the cost of which will be close to half a million dollars.

At the Courthouse.

LEGAL QUESTION IN LAND TANGLE.

WOMAN SEEKS PROPERTY SOLD FOR DELINQUENCY.

Man Who Lent Money Upon It May Lose All He Put Into the Deal—Notice of Tax Sale Not Served Upon Owner and Deed May Therefore Be Void.

Nancy E. Nevin owned a lot valued at $5000, which was sold for delinquent assessment for the widening of Vermont avenue from Fortieth to Forty-second streets. The land was bought in at the sale by Julia P. Warden for $4.04, the amount of the delinquent assessment. Mrs. Warden sold the property to E. A. Keach, who mortgaged it to L. L. McGreal, the latter obtaining from James M. Lotto $1200, taking the mortgage as security.

This was the ground work when Mrs. Nevin, who had not been served with notice of the tax sale, brought suit against Mrs. Warden, Keach, Lotto and George W. Brink to quiet title. The action was tried by Judge Shenk yesterday, who found that the deed was void because no diligence had been shown in serving notice upon the owner of the property before the deed was procured from the Board of Public Works.

Attorneys Watkins, Anderson, Finkelstein and Young will submit authorities on the proposition that when a plaintiff comes into a court in equity to quiet title she is required to refund any sums paid out in taxes or assessments by the defendant or predecessors in interest.

The question which the court will have to decide is whether that rule will apply to a man situated as Lotto is, who, relying upon the deed given by the Board of Public Works, and the regularity of the proceedings, loaned money in good faith.

If the court decides that Mrs. Nevin is not required to refund, Lotto loses the $1200 he advanced. As a matter of fact, he was the only person who made a defense. McGreal and C. P. Warden were both sent to San Quentin for alleged questionable land deals.

SECRET PROFITS.
BIG OIL CASE CLOSES.

The suit of Vida B. Baer for herself and in behalf of other stockholders of the Edmonds Midway Oil Company, which has been on trial before Judge Myers for several weeks and involving the return of alleged secret profits of Dr. James H. Edmonds, the promoter of the company, closed yesterday.

The testimony showed that Dr. Edmonds sold the corporation forty acres in the oil fields for $120,000, taking 597,000 shares of stock in the corporation, the latter assuming $110,000, the amount unpaid. Dr. Edmonds had paid $10,000 on the land to William Maguire, the owner.

Later Dr. Edmonds sold 350,000 shares of the stock at $1 a share. Meantime, he was obligated to pay Maguire the balance on the purchase price. It was also shown that he had advanced about $60,000 to the corporation to keep it going, but it was also shown that the money had been repaid him by the concern.

The court found that the market value of the land was not more than $100,000. He also found that Edmonds had not concealed what he paid for the land or what the corporation had paid him, except in the sense that he did not disclose these facts to all of the prospective stockholders who could have discovered them by an inspection of the books of the concern.

One of the questions raised was if the transaction had been closed and the land paid for before any other stockholders came in, whether or not they had cause to complain of Dr. Edmonds's acts.

Another question on which briefs will be filed by Attorneys Lawler and Crump is whether the incorporation is entitled to attack the transaction.

NON-ELECTION WINS.
ENTITLED TO SALARY.

Judge Finlayson in a twenty-two-page opinion handed down yesterday holds that Frank E. Doty, "claiming," as the court puts it, to be chief examiner for the County Civil Service Commission, is entitled to his salary for February, amounting to $333.33, which was held up by County Treasurer Hunt, although as the court states he was not an elector of the county at the date of his appointment.

The chief examiner for the Civil Service Commission, the court finds, is not an officer created by or known to any general law of the State, and for that reason is eligible, even though he was not an elector when he was appointed. The court also holds under the Constitution that it is not essential that the charter should fix Doty's compensation. It is sufficient if the charter provide for the compensation of the incumbent of an office created under the authority of a section of the Constitution. The court holds that the charter so provides.

REMITTITUR ARRIVES.
TO SIGN JUDGMENT.

Judge Myers will sign the judgment in the famous tideland suits brought by the People of the State against the Banning Company, the Kerckhoff-Cuzner Mill and Lumber Company and others, so far as it relates to the lumber company. The remittitur of the Supreme Court reached Judge Myers yesterday.

The lumber company was allowed under the decision of the Supreme Court a few acres of swamp and overflow lands above the line of ordinary high tide on Boschke Island, stated Attorney James A. Anderson, one of the lawyers who handled the famous case wherein the city acquired possession of 350 acres in Wilmington Bay.

It appeared that the lumber company had been in possession of the acreage for twenty years, using it for lumber yards.

IN HAPPY MOOD.
WINS SECOND VICTORY.

Miss Adelaide Rene, who has had a tempestuous career in recent years, walked out of Judge Taft's courtroom yesterday in a happy mood. She notched up a second victory, for only recently she had obtained her release from the Convent of the Good Shepherd on a writ of habeas corpus, and yesterday the Court dismissed her on the charge of incorrigibility.

This charge was lodged against her by her mother, Mrs. Susan Rene Attorney Morgan, representing Miss Rene, had a number of witnesses who were ready to testify to the young woman's good character. Judge Taft told Mrs. Rene he saw no cause for pressing the charge against her daughter.

Meantime, the children will be in the custody of Mrs. Sarah E. Brown, mother-in-law of the unfortunate woman. H. H. Brown, the father of the children, and Mrs. C. P. Williams gave incidents of Mrs. Brown's strange behavior.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.
PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

SETS DATE FOR SENTENCE. Wilson E. Davis, convicted of the murder of William G. Wheeler in Sawtelle, on January 1, will be sentenced by Judge Gavin Craig June 3, unless new evidence is discovered which would induce the judge to grant a new trial. ALL TO WIDOW. The will of the late Councilman McKenzie was filed for probate yesterday. The estate, valued at $8200, was given to the widow, Mrs. Hattie A. McKenzie. No provision was made for the daughter, Ruth McKenzie, aged 15 years, because McKenzie stated he had the utmost confidence that his wife would properly care for her. McKenzie died March 30, last. The will was executed two weeks previously. The estate consists of notes given to the McKenzie-Ramey Company.

HEIR FILES SUIT. Twenty-five causes of action are listed in the suit of Oscar Werner against the Harris Copper Company, filed yesterday, involving the collection of a total of $66,445.18 and $7424.51 attorneys' fees. The notes as part of his estate were distributed to Henry and Fritz Werner, who assigned them to Oscar Werner.

STATUS OF BILL IS ENCOURAGING.

ADDITIONAL JUDGE IN LOCAL UNITED STATES DISTRICT MAY BE SECURED.

Advices from Washington yesterday, in regard to the status of the bill creating an additional judge in the local United States district, indicate that if Congressman Kettner, in whose charge the bill has been placed, has ordinary luck in getting it taken up from the "general consent" calendar of the House, there is a strong probability of its passage some time in June.

The success that Kettner meets with in impressing upon President Wilson the availability of his candidate, Hon. B. F. Bledsoe of San Bernardino, may also have something to do with the enthusiasm with which the San Diego statesman rises in his place in the House to ask for the consideration of the measure. If it is objected to by a single member, it goes over for a week, and if objection is then renewed, it drops to the general calendar. That means its defeat.

The retirement of Congressman Clayton of Alabama, who was chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House, and who has accepted the post of United States District Judge himself, is a distinct loss to the measure, as the Alabama man not only did all he could to accelerate the bill before his committee, but interested himself with Chairman Flood of Arkansas, chairman of the subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, in securing a unanimous report in favor of the passage of the bill.

Congressman Kettner has the bill and has promised to act promptly, having abandoned his project to amend the measure so that San Diego might have a court in its new government building. In the closing hours of Congress, a matter of this sort is valuable for trading purposes, and the San Diego man can be depended on to overlook nothing along that line. Kettner recognizes the fact that he is booked as a "yearling" in the Congressional sweepstakes; that he will be succeeded by a Republican, and might as well get everything in sight when the getting is good.

The friendship of Kettner for Judge Bledsoe, in the opinion of many, means that United States District Attorney Schoonover is allied on that side, as he owes his appointment to Kettner, but the only open activity about the office of the United States District Attorney, is some quiet hustling being done for Bledsoe, by Assistant District Attorney Stone.

The Los Angeles candidates for the high honor, including Lynn Helm, Milton K. Young, Mattison B. Jones and other unidentified patriots, are doing a lot of "watchful waiting."

HYPNOTIC SPELL LOSES ITS POWER.

INVESTIGATION OF DEATH OF BOY MAY BE TAKEN UP BY AUTHORITIES.

Expressing deep contrition for having eloped with Mrs. McPherson, the wife of an Oregon ranchman, while she was under an alleged hypnotic spell, A. B. Rice, alias J. W. Ward, who was arrested early yesterday morning on a technical charge of forgery preferred by the injured husband, was later in the day arraigned before Police Judge White, who immediately postponed the preliminary examination until this morning.

The prisoner admitted that he had exerted an uncanny psychological influence over the wife of his former employer, and that while she was under the strange influence shey decided to elope.

The woman's two children accompanied Rice and his alleged paramour, and a year later the eldest boy died after displaying symptoms of poisoning. An investigation was started at the time, but later was dropped for lack of evidence.

Rice's actions when questioned by the detectives led the officers to believe that a full investigation of the boy's death was necessary in the interest of justice.

When informed that the detectives intended to unearth the facts, Rice, who had been bragging of his hypnotic ability, suddenly became silent and asked to be removed to his cell.

Arrangements have been made to bring McPherson and his wife together, as the husband persists in his belief that his recreant spouse was not morally responsible at the time she left their Oregon home in company with Rice.

Mrs. McPherson declares that she is conscience-stricken and almost ill on account of the notoriety caused by the arrest of the hypnotist at his apartments, No. 508 Ruth avenue.

The charge of forgery, which was based on the allegation that Rice signed McPherson's name to an express receipt, probably will be changed in court today.

CHILDREN GIVEN LIBERTY.

Arraigned in Police Court and Discharged—Not Responsible for Acts of Mother.

Without the knowledge of either the City Prosecutor or the arresting officers, Jennie Robletti, 13 years old, and her sister, Catherine, 17, who were caught in a raid on an alleged blind pig run by their mother, Mrs. Jennie Robletti, at No. 217 Sotello street, were arraigned before Judge Taft yesterday morning and were discharged. The court also refused to hold the two men who were discovered in company with the girls.

At the time of the raid Mrs. Robletti escaped through a rear window and Policemen Edwards and Hickey of the East Side station asked that the children be held until the mother could be located, as they feared she would leave the city if the children were allowed their liberty.

Mrs. Robletti already has been convicted of running a blind pig and the officers assert that the children were delinquents within the meaning of the statutes.

Judge Taft, however, decided that the children could not be held accountable for the actions of their mother and they were allowed to go to the homes of friends.

WOMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED.

Knocked Down by Speeding Motorcycle as She Attempts to Get on Street Car.

While trying to get on a car at Third and Main streets last night Mrs. Maggie Mantz, 70 years old, living at No. 121 West Fifty-seventh street, was knocked down and probably fatally injured by a motorcycle driven by Frank Engstrom of No. 637 West Seventy-ninth street.

The victim was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found that she had received a fracture of the skull and the bones of the left shoulder. Engstrom was arrested by Patrolman Hodges on a charge of reckless driving.

Should Mrs. Mantz die, as now seems probable, the charge against the prisoner will be changed to embrace a more serious offense.
